"Over The Hill"

Cordis Reynolds of the Yakima Morning Herald is spending the week end with Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Kees. The young man is a brother of Sam Reynolds, former Westoniaite.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gould, accompanied by Mrs. Sidney Tucker and son Keith, motored to Walla Walla Monday on a combined business and pleasure trip.

Miss Frances Compton returned Monday from a two weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Portland and Salem.

September has brought to this region an unwonted number of hot, dry and dusty days. Some spicy weather, with a tang in the air, would make everyone feel livelier and give zest for daily occupations.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes and daughter May of Hantville, Wash., were guests last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ross.

Miss Clara Starmer, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Starmer of La Grande, is visiting with Mrs. W. E. Driskell and plans to remain in town for several weeks.

Ralph Read of the collection department of the Northwestern National Bank of Portland, and Truman (Jimnie) Read, mechanical draftsman with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., motored up from the metropolis this week on a vacation trip and were cordially greeted by

Dr. Mellenthin

SPECIALIST
in Internal Medicine for the past eleven years.
DOES NOT OPERATE
Will be at

St. George Hotel Wednesday
& Thursday, October 4th &
5th.

Office Hours: 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Two Days Only
No Charge for Consultation

Dr. Mellenthin is a regular graduate in medicine and surgery and is licensed by the state of Oregon. He visits professionally the more important towns and cities and offers to all who call on this trip free consultation, except the expense of treatment when desired.

According to his method of treatment he does not operate for chronic appendicitis, gall stones, ulcers of stomach, tonsils or adenoids.

He has to his credit wonderful results in diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels, blood, skin, wetting, catarrh, weak lungs, rheumatism, sciatica, leg ulcers and rectal ailments.

If you have been ailing for any length of time and do not get any better, do not fail to call, as improper measures rather than disease are very often the cause of your long standing trouble.

Remember above date, that consultation on this trip will be free and that his treatment is different.

Married women must be accompanied by their husbands.

friends of their boyhood at Weston. They were among this town's most popular urchins in their younger days, and everybody is glad that they are making good and doing the old burg credit in Oregon's big city. They will remain in the county until after the Round Up.

Levi O'Harra left Monday for a sojourn at Bingham Springs. Levi's health shows considerable improvement since he began taking treatment for an internal growth from a Seattle radiologist who has installed an elaborate machine for this sort of practice. He makes regular trips to Seattle.

Mrs. L. I. O'Harra has been appointed by the city council as a member of the local library board. Last Saturday afternoon Mrs. O'Harra took charge of the desk work, assisted by Mrs. Marvin Fricke.

Vernie Clark, who is timekeeper with a state highway crew, was in town the first of the week for a visit with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Beaton, while on his way home to Durkee for a vacation. The young man is a son of John W. Clark, formerly of Weston.

Mayor Jones was in Portland during the first of the week on a business trip.

Fred Henderson, popular bachelor agriculturist of Weston mountain, is temporarily out of commission, with a dislocated shoulder and a damaged knee. Mr. Henderson quite casually stepped off the porch at the L. R. Van Winkle residence on south Water street, and was suddenly and disagreeably surprised at striking the ground with a dull thud. As he is no lightweight, it was some thud, although Mother Earth seemed to suffer no ill effects from the collision.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Payne were in Athena Monday on a business visit. H. A. Dowd motored over from Walla Walla Sunday and took Mr. and Mrs. Allen Richal home for a visit there.

The Saling barn on north Water street, a Weston landmark for more than half a century, was torn down this week and the timbers moved to the Elmer Tucker farm, where they will be used in the spring in the construction of his new house. The barn was found to be very substantially constructed, as was usually the case in old pioneer days, and Elmer will get some good material out of it.

Mountain growers are reported to be very busy this week roguing out wilt from their potato fields. The spuds are looking good, but if the wilt is not carefully eradicated they may not pass the second and final field inspection.

Mrs. Gertrude Evans of Seattle and Claude Carille of Portland are guests at the home of their sister, Mrs. L. R. Van Winkle. This is the first time the sisters and brother have been together for a dozen years or more, and they are deriving full enjoyment from the reunion.

Grandma Read, an elderly resident of Reed and Hawley mountain, is under Dr. McKinney's care at the home of her son, Alfred Read. She is reported to be in a very serious condition.

Dick Powers, who has long been a sufferer from ill health, was conveyed to Walla Walla Tuesday for treatment by Joe and Lowell Hyatt. His wife accompanied the patient.

Phil Beathe, former Westoniaite, is here from Seattle for a visit with his brother, W. H. Beathe, and his many Weston friends. He is accompanied by his daughters, Mrs.

Fred Benn and Mrs. Emma Margraff, and by Mr. Benn. Phil appears to be enjoying his visit, and there is every evidence also that his old-time tilliums are. He admits that Weston's new paved streets are a big asset, but suggests in private conversation an improvement that he thinks would help considerably.

M. J. McDaniel, an early-day resident of Weston, was here this week from his home at Portland.

Newton and Herman O'Harra have begun harvesting their bean crop in the Pea Ridge district. The weather this season has been very favorable for beans and the O'Harra fields are looking good. The variety is Red Mexican and the yield promises to reach as much as 800 pounds to the acre from 30 acres. A bean cutter and a bean thresher are used in the harvesting operations.

J. E. McDaniel, local realty operator, reports a brisk demand for lands to rent in the Weston country. He could rent out scores of places if he had them, he says, to people who would like to live in this country and try out its farming advantages but are not prepared to buy. Inquiries from this class are received almost daily. He also has an occasional inquiry from a prospective purchaser.

Mr. and Mrs. William (Scotty) Keay and their three children were in Weston Tuesday for a visit with Mrs. Keay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wurzer, while on their return home to Gooding, Idaho, from a trip to Alberta. Mr. Keay is section foreman at Gooding on the Oregon Short Line.

The annual conference of the United Brethren church is in session at Walla Walla this week, beginning Wednesday and continuing over Sunday. Bishop Washington is the presiding officer. Pastor Church and others are attending from Weston. The delegates from this congregation are Geo. W. Staggs and F. C. Greer.

The Sperry Milling Co. has taken over the Pacific Coast Elevator Co. warehouses and the Portland Flouring Co.'s mills, creating what is said to be the largest grain concern west of the Mississippi. S. A. Barnes will continue at Weston as agent of the new concern.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF MILTON GARAGE MAN

Mystery still surrounds the disappearance of M. A. Harrah, Milton resident and owner of the Ingleside garage, who dropped out of sight while on his way from Milton to Walla Walla September 14.

No trace has since been found of the missing man and no answers have been received by the sheriff's office in response to telegrams to different police officers throughout the Northwest.

No reason can be assigned for Harrah's disappearance. He has no known enemies and was liked by his neighbors. Relatives say that he was subject to no mental illusions which would cause him to wander away.

It is known that Harrah deposited a large sum of money in a Milton bank the Wednesday before he disappeared. When he started for the fair at Walla Walla he is believed to have had approximately $10 on his person.

W. W. Harrah, a leading Pendleton farmer, is a brother of the lost Milton man, and is active in the search for him. He is at a loss to account for his brother's disappearance.

HOARDS INCREASED IN VALUE

Austrian Peasants Who Buried Coins Are Now Worth Enormous Sums, on Paper.

Thousands of central and eastern European peasants, following a time-honored custom, buried their silver coins against a rainy day. These silver coins, writes Joseph Szebeny in the Atlantic, naturally retained their formal value. But the hoarding was done on such an extensive scale that, as early as 1918, all silver coins had disappeared from circulation in Germany, Austria-Hungary, Jugo-Slavia, Roumania and Poland.

Today a peasant who buried 100 5-kroner pieces is a millionaire; he can exchange the 500 kronen in silver for 1,000,000 kronen in paper money.

In Austria-Hungary alone there had been in circulation something like 200,000,000 kronen worth of silver money before the war. It would take Austria the enormous sum of 200,000,000,000 kronen to buy up her half of this hoarded silver currency.

The fact of being a millionaire in those countries does not mean anything. Such a million is a million in figures, but not in value; and when such a million is converted into a sound currency, the shrinkage is fabulous. But the purchasing power of the depreciated currencies of central Europe has not gone down quite in proportion with the decrease of their exchange value. One million Austrian kronen, which were worth before the war almost $200,000, are worth today not quite $120; but their purchasing value in Austria is considerably more than that.

"YANKEE DOODLE" HIS CHOICE

Briton Decidedly of Opinion That It Should Have Been Selected as the National Anthem.

America has missed her chance in the way of national anthems. She, I understand, repudiates "Yankee Doodle" for "Hail Columbia" or "The Star-Spangled Banner"; she must be solemn about herself like all the rest of us; but what a lesson she would have taught us, what an artistic success she might have been in every allegorical parade of the nations, if she had stuck to "Yankee Doodle."

I do not know what the words mean; but they sound gay and they fit the tune, which is one of the best tunes of its kind in the world. I do not know who composed that tune, or when, or where, but it sounds as if it had grown to express the right spirit of a nation about itself and to make fun of all the other solemn tunes which express the wrong spirit. For how gay and funny and brave it is; and how it enjoys itself; how it sets the mind dancing so that the feet are almost forced to dance too.

A musician could do anything with it; orchestrate it with drums and trumpets and triangles, slow and quicken it, make variations on it, set it jumping and swaying and turning head-over heels and finally stop breathless with a crash, for the cheers that would certainly follow.—A. Clutton-Brock, in the New Republic.

SAD FATE OF HENRY JASON

Subject Condition of Henpecked Husband, Example of the Loss of Personal Property.

Henry Jason, the noted henpecked husband, is another example of what the loss of personal liberty can do to a man. When the fathers of our constitution passed the law relating to matrimony they forever put the shackles on Henry Jason, Henry's zero hour came when Portia Strong led him to the altar and the justice of the peace tied the fatal knot. He has tasted no nectars of liberty since, Bert Walker writes in the Topeka Capital. But Henry has not the strong and forceful character of Old Bill Shiftless, so he submits without a whimper. He tried whimpering once and it put him in a hospital for two weeks. One day when Portia was away attending a meeting of the Advanced Thought club, which was very busy emancipating woman, a long-haired leader left a pamphlet at the Jason kitchen door. Henry stopped long enough to read the front page. The first line read: "It is high time to administer a rebuke and to check the forces which are trying to overthrow our constitutional immunities and liberties." Just then Henry heard a step on the front porch. He thought it was Portia. He was at once stricken with palsy and fell in a dead faint. It was two hours before he came to and was able to burn the pamphlet. He was still shaking like an aspen leaf when Portia returned at midnight. Had Henry Jason not been deprived of his personal liberty when a young man his name would have gone down on the pages of history alongside those of John L. Sullivan and Jack Dempsey.

GOOD THINGS.

For those who enjoy a dainty gingerbread for an occasional tea or luncheon the following will be enjoyed:

Fairy Gingerbread.—Cream one cupful of butter, add two cupfuls of sugar and mix well; add gradually one cupful of milk in which three-fourths of a teaspoonful of soda is added, add four cupfuls of flour and one tablespoonful of ginger. Beat all together and spread very thinly on the bottom of a dropping pan. Bake quickly and, while hot, cut in squares; remove rapidly. It will crisp at once. One may add a sprinkling of nuts to the top before baking and cut in squares, rolling in the form of a cornucopia. Fill with cream, food or otherwise and have a home-made cream cone.

Oatmeal Cakes.—Cream one-half cupful of butter or butter and lard mixed with one-half cupful of sugar, add one-half cupful of milk in which one-fourth of a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved. Brown a light brown one cupful of oatmeal then grind it through the meat grinder, add one cupful of flour, grated orange peel or nutmeg for flavoring. Drop by small spoonfuls on a baking sheet. Nuts and raisins may be added if desired.

Indian Pudding.—Scald two cupfuls of milk, add one cupful of boiling water and stir in two tablespoonfuls of corn meal mixed with a little cold water, add three teaspoonfuls of tapioca, a pinch of salt, a half cupful of raisins and one-half cupful of molasses. Bake slowly and serve with a sirup made from prune juice. Prunes may be used instead of raisins in the pudding.

Endive as Greens.—Take a dozen heads of endive, wash and drain and cook until tender. Serve well buttered with a dash of lemon juice, or a little hot bacon fat with pieces of crisp bacon and a little onion juice and vinegar.

Voiced Carried 5,500 Miles.
By means of the transcontinental telephone line a connection was extended to San Francisco and thence south to Los Angeles, where, by means of a radio telephone connection, the circuit was extended to Catalina island, thirty miles distant in the Pacific. Satisfactory conversation was thus carried on between Catalina and Cuba, a distance of something over 5,500 miles. This is the greatest distance over which commercial telephone service has thus far been established.

The Cuba cables are the longest deep sea telephone cables in use, and embody in practical form a number of the recent scientific developments. To provide for the traffic expected three of these cables were successfully laid. Each cable is capable of carrying simultaneously one telephone conversation and eight telegraph messages.
