Mr. Hadley attended the meeting of Umatilla county principals which was held in the county superintendent's office in Pendleton last Saturday, the county declaratory contests and the county tract meet were the chief topics of discussion. It was thought best to separate the grade contest from the high school contests. A committee composed of the sectional directors will have charge of classifying all the selections which are to be used in the contests. Mr. Yeager called the attention of the principals to the fact that the county tract meet was not paying expense. After some discussion Superintendent Inlow and Principal Landreth, speaking for the Pendleton schools, offered to sponsor the meet and if there should be any profit at any time this will be divided among the schools of the county this offer was accepted by the principals. It was decided that instead of classifying the track meet entrants according to weight as heretofore, that they should be classified according to age, grade height, weight, the exact system to be worked out by the county board of control composed of Superintendents H. E. Inlow, E. F. Goodwin and Principal Howard James.

Ears That Tell Ages

To ascertain the age of a horse, if not too old, it is usual to examine its teeth. To tell the age of a fish, regardless of age, you look into its ear.

In the internal ear of a fish there is a little bony pocket. In this pocket is a tiny stone called an otolith, which rolls about as the fish tips this way and that, and so helps it to know if it is right side up. As the fish grows older, says a writer in English Mechanics, the otolith grows larger, and the age of the fish may be determined from its size.

The Devil's Cargo

A powerful story of California Gold Rush Days

—of an innocent girl and one good man swept out to sea in a flimsy river craft with a human cargo that is literally "the scum of the earth." How they fight their way out and change the characters of their scoundrelly shipmates is worked out in a picture of intense appeal: In this, Wallace Beery, of "Robin Hood" and "Sea Hawk" fame, has the greatest role of his career. Of the many exciting stories that have been written about California of 1850, "The Devil's Cargo" is the most thrill-filled. Victor Fleming, producer of "Code of the Sea," "Empty Hands" and other big melodramatic hits, produced the story by Charles Whittaker, originally published under the title of "The River Boat." The story is one of Sacramento, at that time the worst town on the face of the earth—a town where shooting was no crime and the inhabitants went around at high pitch, keyed up by bad liquor and constant gun-play—a town cut off from the rest of the world and glad of it, as were the law-abiding citizens of neighboring San Francisco.
