It Makes a Difference
Your success in life depends on your motive. There is an old fable about a dog that boasted of his ability as a runner. One day he gave chase to a rabbit but failed to catch it. The other dogs ridiculed him on account of his previous boasting. His reply was, "You must remember that the rabbit was running for his life, while I was only running for my dinner."

The incentive is all-important. If you are in the race merely for your dinner you will not put the same vim and energy into your running as you will if your ambition is deeper and more serious. Get the right motive and your chance of success will be much greater.—Boston Transcript.

Care of Umbrellas
A shabby umbrella will spoil an otherwise perfect outfit. A much-used umbrella soon shows signs of wear. When this happens, it is a good idea to open the umbrella and sponge it with strong sweetened tea. The tea freshens the color and the sugar imparts a slight stiffening to the fabric. An umbrella that has been dropped in the mud and cannot be cleaned by ordinary brushing is best treated in the following way: After greasing the inside wires to prevent them rusting, the cover of the umbrella should be scrubbed with warm, soapy water. It should be rinsed in clear, cold water and hung, still open, in the sun to dry.

The Warning One
On the plains of the West thousands of cattle may be seen grazing as one. They move slowly, feeding as they go, their heads pointing in the same direction. Occasionally among the hundreds there will be one individual that ignores the custom of the others and feeds where it will. The cattlemen have learned through experience to look to such an animal for the salvation of the rest in times of emergency. When wild creatures attack or sudden storms break, the solitary feeder is one to give warning or lead the herd to safety.—Cornelia James Cannon in the Atlantic Monthly.

Rugged Water

With

Lois Wilson, Warner Baxter, Phyllis Hav-er and Wallace Beery

It is a spectacular romance-drama of the life-saving service, the sort of actionful outdoor story that Irvin Willat does so well. It begins with a terrific storm in which two men stand out prominently in the New England coast life-saving service. One of them in temporary command of a station leads his crew in an heroic rescue and qualifies to become a permanent commander. The other, older and belonging to another crew, has to be rescued himself, but in such spectacular circumstances that he becomes a national hero and is given the command that the other expected and deserved.
