22 Years Ago

July 29, 1904

W. R. Taylor has returned from his stock ranch in the John Day country. While on this trip to his ranch Mr. Taylor practically sold out his band of range horses, retaining only a few head for breeding purposes and work animals.

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Armfield were entertained at dinner yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. LaHue in the north part of town, the occasion being Mrs. LaHue's 59th birthday.

Clarence Ross was down from the mountain Wednesday and delivered three fat heaves to Athena butchers. Mr. Ross reports that he has a little daughter who is very ill at their home on the mountain.

Julius, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lum Pambrun, died yesterday morning of stomach trouble. The boy had been ill for some time and grew worse despite medical attendance and good nursing.

There is some wheat coming into Athena warehouses and so far it grades No. 1. A dealer said yesterday that this season's crop tests from 58 to 62 pounds to the bushel and if any grain grades under No. 1 standard it will be due to smut, of which there will be some.

George Rosenzweig and Pete Masterson have returned from a short fishing trip up the Umatilla. They report rather poor success.

Mrs. S. F. Sharp and Mrs. Ed Manasse spent the day Wednesday at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmitt west of town.

A young man named Kelley, employed in the Bell threshing crew had the misfortune to have his right eye seriously injured while working about the machine. He went to Pendleton, and writes H. P. Miller that he will probably lose his eye.

Thomas Mosley, who farms the Press Colburn place north of town, reports an exceptionally good yield of wheat. From 70 acres the returns amounted to 1315 sacks of A 1 grain.

Ed Purdy has gone to Prairie City country on a two weeks' recreation trip.

Bruce Wallace is working temporarily at the Pioneer Drug store in the capacity of pharmacist.

Mr. Helmick, who has been seriously ill with throat trouble at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sam Booher, is improving.

August 2, 1904

While harvesting is but virtually started in this section of the great wheat belt, reports show wheat will average better than 35 bushels per acre. The berry is full and plump and is of excellent quality, though in some instances smut has been found in more or less quantity, reports a wheat buyer.

Some sneak thief was stricken yesterday with a case of back-room filching and as a result Will M. Peterson and Joseph Gay are each minus a revolver.

The contract was let yesterday afternoon for the construction of the new I. O. O. F. and K. of P. hall. Dan May was the successful bidder for the brick work, and Norvell and Terhune, of this city, were awarded the contract for the wood work. Work on the building will commence at once.

While men were catching horses in the Boddy corral Saturday, one horse in attempting to jump the fence snagged itself in such a manner as to necessitate its being shot.

Fred Kershaw has resumed his old place in the W. & C. R. depot in this city and has moved his family here from Milton, where he resigns his position with the O. R. & N. Company.

Mrs. H. H. Curtis left the latter part of the week to join her husband on their farm in Crook county, where he has gone to harvest his grain. Mrs. Curtis was accompanied by Mrs. Barton and Miss Jessie Rose, who will visit her sister, Mrs. N. H. Pinkerton.

Charley Brown brought in a sample basket of peaches yesterday from his orchard south of town that for size and flavor beat all the irrigated product we have seen. In the spring Mrs. Brown exhibited at this office a branch of the fruit in blossoms, and now the ripe, luscious fruit shows evidence that not even the blighting frosts that blasted so many homes, could reach that favored locality.

That the seemingly most trustworthy equine is not to be trusted these days, was demonstrated the other day at the Koepke farm near town. Mrs. Koepke had just arrived home after driving the family horse into town when, after she had alighted, for some unaccountable reason the animal took it into his head to take a spin on his own account. Jerking the lady down he dragged her a few paces, then when free plunged through two or three barbed wire fences running some distance and demolishing the buggy. Mrs. Koepke, though some what bruised, was not seriously injured.

"PULLING LEATHER" IS A SUPREME COWBOY SIN

Pendleton, Oregon—To a real cowboy, that is a bukaroo, a rider of mean horses, the supreme sin is "pulling leather."

As pulling leather consists merely in grabbing the horn of the saddle it has no particular consequence in the eyes of the layman save as a possible means of keeping off the ground and avoiding injury.

A real bukaroo, with his heart in his work and taking pride in his technique, will be thrown rather than pull leather.

Last fall at the Round-Up, Nowater Slim, one of the best riders in the business, had just got piled rather hurriedly from the back of Cal Coolidge, a gaunt, gray demon with pronounced ability along sun-fishing lines.

Slim got up and dusted off his pants disgusted.

"Why didn't you pull leather, Slim?" asked a tall photographer who was taking in his first Round-Up.

Slim looked at him in his tired, quizzical way and then looked into the blue sky knowingly.

"Did yuh see any leather up there where I was at, stranger?" Slim queried sarcastically, "Gosh dinged ef I did!"

But hope springs eternal in the cowboy chest and Slim will be back at the Round-Up this year with visions of winning the bucking championship during the days of September 15, 16, 17 and 18. He has as good a chance as any, for there's many a winner who knows the taste of the arena's dust, and the best of them get piled at times.
