

It's a different Telephone today

The telephone instrument in your home may have been put there prior to 1920. It may be the same instrument today in looks, in feel, in weight, as it was on the day it was installed. But in usefulness to you, it has grown to almost twice the original.

This is because in conduits underground, in cables swung on poles, in lines of wiring that penetrate to new places, in homes and business houses here, there and everywhere, we have been implanting values and adding equipment that have directly benefited your instrument.

Almost twice as many telephones are now connectible with yours as in 1920. Meanwhile, the quality of service we render has been advancing. Transmission is clearer. Thru technical improvements, the making of connections has been speeded up. More long distance facilities have been provided. The telephone in your home is like a window, looking out on the world, that has gradually turned to plate glass.

The outlay for telephone construction in the Pacific System during the next 5 years will exceed an average of $63,000,000 a year. We are arranging now for voice - communications that you will wish to hold years hence, with people whom you do not yet know.

WASHINGTON WILL BAN WINE TONICS

Fluid Deemed Violation of State Prohibition Law—Druggists Aid.

Seattle.—Recent developments indicate that the sale of "wine tonics," which is believed to be in violation of the state bone-dry law and a deterrent in the enforcement of prohibition, will soon be stopped in Washington.

Within the last two weeks one of the largest wholesale drug houses and a firm operating a chain of retail drug stores in Seattle let it become known that they would quit handling wine tonics, and federal prohibition officials expect reputable druggists throughout the state to join the ban on wine tonics. The fight on wine tonics is being carried on similarly to the fight of two years ago.

Prohibition Director Lyle and his forces have been working cautiously because the sale of wine tonics is not barred by the Volstead act, the tonics, in fact, being manufactured under federal permits granted by district administrators. So far, going on the theory that such beverages are forms of intoxicants and violate the laws of Washington and Oregon, Mr. Lyle has refused permits for the manufacture of such drinks in his district—Washington, Oregon and Alaska. But such permits were granted in California, the result being that practically all of the wine tonics sold in Washington come from California.

But the federal prohibition office now takes the stand that it can oppose the sale of wine tonics on the grounds that it violates the state law and undermines enforcement of national prohibition. Therefore, Mr. Lyle is calling on all druggists who have licenses to handle alcohol to report their sales of wine tonics or other medicated liquids of high alcoholic content, the inference being that druggists featuring wine tonics will lose their licenses for handling alcohol. This attitude of the federal prohibition office is indicated by the fact that proceedings to revoke a federal permit already have been started against a Seattle druggist under arrest for selling wine tonics for beverage purposes.

The smoke filled air and cool evenings, remind us that fall is here—Fall, with its colored leaves and short days, brings the football season. The football season leads to that phrase "Be Boosters." Rarely, in the history of a successful team has there been a discordant tune played by its backers. Unity is the key of success. University of Washington, with its student meeting for the dismissal of the coach after a slow start, sets an example of wrong backing of the team. The coach is undoubtedly qualified for his job, and he is in a position to know his problem. The spectators and knockers know nothing of the players or system except hearsay. Which one is the best suited to run things? Often a fairly successful season is spoiled by an unbacked, misrepresented rumor. A team must have the backing of the right sort, not of the "all wrong" type. Few of the spectators are qualified or can be compared with the coach or even the players in knowledge of the technique of the game; but if they unite in a "do their best" attitude their help is valuable. The success of a team depends on a competent coach plus material plus loyal boosters.

5th and 6th Grades

Tillman Stone, of the sixth grade, has been absent from school on account of pneumonia.

Inez McCullough was absent from school two days.

Barbara Lee was absent from school on account of illness.

The grade boys are playing soccer instead of football and are enjoying it very much.

Personals

Goldie Miller spent Saturday in Walla Walla.

Mary Tompkins was in Walla Walla Wednesday.

3rd and 4th Grade

A pleasant time was enjoyed Wednesday afternoon at the home of Dale Jenkins, by the 3rd and 4th grades when Dale was given a party in honor of his ninth birthday.

Subject Classes

Grasshoppers and a black beetle were caught last week for the purpose of class dissecting in Mrs. Blatchford's biology class. Marjorie Douglas, Betty Eager, Esther Berlin, Goldie Miller and Arleen Myrick collected these insects for the class project.

Athletics

The game with Hermiston was quite exciting with the only touchdown of the game being made in the last quarter, when Hermiston fought to the 20 yard line and by a freak play carried the ball across for a touchdown. Although Hermiston had a more experienced team, they did not succeed in swamping the home team as they have done previously.

The line-up for Athena was as follows: Fred Singer, Center; Cecil Pambrun and Solista Pickett, guards; Stafford Hansell and John Kirk, tackles; Emery Rogers and Herbert Reeder, ends; Art Crowley, quarterback; Jack Moore and Lowell Jenkins, halfbacks; Eldon Myrick, fullback.

The substitutes were Leland Jenkins, Ralph Moore, Wayne Banister, Robert Campbell, Wendell Shigley, and Lester Town.

Faculty

"Pike" Miller, coach of Athena High school, went to Pendleton to the Round-Up Saturday.

Mr. E. E. Coad, principal of Athena High school, went to La Grande over the week-end to see his three sons before they left for the University of Oregon.

Mrs. Areta Gurney attended the Round-Up Saturday.
Miss Dorothy Brodie attended the Round-Up Saturday.
Miss Beulah Smith, member of the Athena High school faculty, attended the Round-Up over the week-end with her mother, Mrs. L. A. Smith and her sister, Mrs. Milo Blokland of La Grande.

Entertainment

The first assembly of the school year was called to order Friday, in the school auditorium by Mrs. Areta Gurney, the freshmen class advisor. The session was opened by an interesting talk by Principal E. E. Coad, on the Constitution. Esther Berlin favored the student body with a piano solo. John Kirk, student body president, read the American Creed. "Pike" Miller, the football coach, gave the students an idea of what he was expecting from his boys in the first football game of the season. Stafford Hansell also talked on football. The assembly was then turned over to the yell leader, Robert Lee, and some peppy yells brought the assembly to a close.

Last week Henry Dell made a trip into the country tributary to the north fork of the John Day in company with Tom Keller, timber cruiser. Mr. Dell filed on a timber claim. Much of the timber land in that section has been taken up, but there yet remains choice claims, which are isolated from the big tracts.

All is ready, spick and span, for the Umatilla-Morrow county fair, which opens at Pendleton Monday morning. All exhibit space has been taken and the live stock and agricultural departments are especially well represented. The people of the county generally, are taking deep interest in the success of the fair.

Leo Gholson, of Walla Walla, was a guest of his uncle in this city Sunday.

Clarence Burden and mother are down from Sprague, Wash., on a short visit.

Fay LeGrow and Sam Pambrun are hunting big game in the mountains south of town, this week.

R. J. Boddy has fitted up his office on Main street. He added a new desk and linoleum graces the floor.

Misses Irene Dudley and Edna Taylor will leave tomorrow or Sunday for Pendleton, where they will attend St. Joseph's Academy.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hiteman, of San Francisco, September 17, 1908, a daughter. Lee writes home that the little one has been given the name of Lucinda Ray Hiteman.

W. W. Jacobs has completed an up to date implement shed for A. J. Wagner 16 by 42 feet in size. The building is a commodious one and will house Mr. Wagner's farm machinery for the winter.

Sanford Stone is preparing for the exhibition of ten head of horses and colts from the A. B. McEwen farm, at the Pendleton district fair. He has winners and expects to bring home several prize trophies.

J. E. Froome, Chas. Booher and Zeph Lockwood returned from an outing on Meacham creek Wednesday evening. Grouse and fish were liberally contributed to the camp larder, but no large game was encountered.

Miss Etta Leach, who is interested in an art store in Walla Walla, was the guests of her cousin, Mrs. Fred Kershaw, for a short time Monday. Miss Leach had been on a visit to her parents on Weston mountain, where her sister Mrs. Wm. Krassig, of Portland, is also visiting.

John Brinkley, brother of Mrs. Fred Koontz, was in the city Wednesday from Portland. Mr. Brinkley was at one time in the employ of A. J. Bagley in this city. He is now traveling salesman for a Portland paint house.

Roll Miller and Bennie Gross left Sunday for Corvallis, where they will enter the O. A. C. Roll has been a student at the college for some time, but Bennie, who graduated from Athena high school '08, will matriculate there for the first time.
