CLIFFORD'S FOES GIVEN MORE TIME

Charges Must Be Filed In Ten Days, State Board Plans Quiz.

A time extension of ten days in which to file their charges of negligence and mismanagement against Harold H. Clifford, state game warden, and E. H. Clark, assistant state game warden, was granted the Multnomah Anglers' and Hunters' club by the state game commission, this week, says the Oregonian.

The extension was made following the receipt of a letter signed by representatives of the Multnomah Anglers' and Hunters' club, the United Sportsmen's council and the Isaac Walton league of Portland.

The letter stated that the scope of the investigations now being conducted by the organizations had widened considerably and that more time would be needed before a detailed report of the charges could be filed with the commission.

Formal recognition of the charges will be made June 9, when the commission is scheduled to hold the regular meeting. At this time, it was stated, a date would be set for the hearing.

"We might as well get this thing cleaned up now," said Commissioner Corrigan, who made the motion, "because we can't have it dragged out for the remainder of the year."

"After these charges are filed we shall consider them. If they are deemed worthy of a formal hearing, a date will be set for that hearing."

The three organizations were not represented at the meeting and the letter was delivered while the commission was adjourned for lunch.

The proposal constitutional amendment providing for the closing of the Rogue river to commercial fishing on and after January 1, 1931, received a vote of unanimous approval from members of the commission.

Presentation of the proposed amendment was made by T. E. Daniels, Medford, who represented the Jackson County Game Protective association and the Isaac Walton league of Grants Pass, promoters of the move.

Value of commercial fishing in the Rogue is virtually negligible, commission officials pointed out, while the value of the stream as an attraction to sportsmen is incalculable.

Circulation of petitions for the closing will start May 17, Mr. Daniels told the commission.

Four Baker county lakes will open June 15 instead of July 1, it was ordered. The lakes are Crawford, Anthony, Mid lake and Grande Ronde. A patrol boat will be placed on Wallowa lake to effect a more thorough supervision of the territory. Mr. Clifford announced. The boat was purchased at the request of the game wardens assigned to the territory.

No eagles will be killed in the annual spring shoot of the Pilot Rock Rod and Gun club, a letter received Monday indicated. Mr. Clifford notified the club, whose prize list for trophies included a reward for eagles, that the shooting of the birds was illegal.

Having outlived its usefulness, the game commission's "fish Pullman" will be traded in on a new one, the members ordered. The present truck has traveled well over the 100,000-mile mark and a new truck is needed to handle the growing traffic throughout the state.

A request that the commission approve a transfer of title ownership between privately owned cut-over timber lands and an area of swamp land with the forest service in Coos county was not approved by the commission.

"The swamp land," said Mr. Clifford, "has been stocked by us with fish and at present is open to the public for hunting and fishing. It is owned by the forest service. Were it privately owned it would probably be exploited privately."

Predatory Animals Destroyed

During April, thirty-one hunters worked all or part time and took 647 coyotes, 27 bobcats and two predatory bears, a total of 676 predatory animals of which skin or scalp was saved. In addition, 53 unborn coyotes, two unborn bobcats were destroyed and 87 porcupines, 13 badgers and 6 skunks were taken in the course of the work. Not including unborn young, an average of 22 predatory animals per man per thirty days was taken.

McLoughlin High to Oppose Medford on Question of Cabinet Government

University of Oregon.—Champion high school debaters of eastern and western Oregon will fight it out for the state cup tomorrow at the University of Oregon when Medford high school meets McLoughlin Union high. With Medford upholding the negative and McLoughlin the affirmative, the question for debate is "Resolved, that Oregon should adopt the cabinet form of government proposed in senate joint resolution No. 16, passed by the 35th legislative assembly of Oregon."

The McLoughlin team, which has defeated high schools all over eastern Oregon during the past three months is composed of Marie Van Slyke and F. Clare Vause. William Dougherty Jr. and George Winne compose the Medford team, which is the winner over the western district of the state.

At the conclusion of the debate on Saturday the Barker cups will be presented to each of these teams in recognition of their victories in the two sections of the state. The cups are given each year by Burt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University of Oregon.

The "Oregon" cup, given by Elizabeth Fox and E. E. De Cou of the University of Oregon, will be awarded to the winner of this debate as a symbol of the state championship. Judges of the contest will be Dr. Ralph C. Hoerber and Professor Wayne L. Morse, both of the university faculty, and Robert Prescott, formerly of the faculty and now a resident of Eugene. During the evening music will be furnished by a trio composed of Miriam Stafford, Beulah Wynd and Ruth Wynd.

Hermiston high school was state champion last year, defeating Scappoose high in a debate on May 27 at the University of Oregon.

Fourteen stops in Oregon and one in Washington have been included in the itinerary just released. The stop in Washington is to be at White Salmon where the people of Hood River valley can join with those across the river in the meeting.

The nine-car special will start at Eugene the afternoon of June 3. Two meetings a day are then scheduled as follows: Albany and Salem, June 4; Donald and Wilsonville, June 5; Hillsboro and Forest Grove, June 6; Vernonia and Scappoose, June 7; Seaside and Astoria, June 9; Clatskanie and Rainier, June 10; White Salmon, June 11; and Redmond, June 12. The last stop will be made during the session of the Oregon State grange.

Neat Counterfeit Layout Credited To DeLong

Eugene.—Federal secret service agents said the confiscation here Saturday of a complete counterfeiting outfit cleared up a case which they said was one of the "cleverest jobs" ever nipped in the northwest.

Deputy Sheriff Lee Brown and an agent found the outfit in a rooming house. It consisted of press, paper, a number of unfinished bills, etching plates, inks, dyes and acids. They arrested Wilfred K. McPaul, who lived here under the name of F. A. DeLong, a logger.

Federal agents said DeLong had passed bills at Salem, Corvallis, Albany and in Washington.

DeLong was arrested at Arlington recently by Sheriff Bauman of Morrow county and returned to Pendleton for questioning following his passing counterfeit currency at a Pendleton book store and a hotel in Heppner. He left Pendleton last week in the custody of Deputy United States Marshal Vogelsang.

O. D. O. Club

Tuesday, May 6, was the tenth anniversary of the O. D. O. club. The anniversary was observed by the members when they gathered at Stephen's Luncheonette in Pendleton for a one o'clock luncheon. Covers were laid for fifteen and the daintily appointed tables were centered with masses of yellow tulips. Mrs. Beth Cunningham was a luncheon guest, following which the ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Cunningham and there spent a pleasant social afternoon.

Mrs. W. W. Sparks left for her home in Vancouver, Washington, after several weeks spent here visiting her aunt, Mrs. M. M. Johns, Mrs. F. N. Johns and two little daughters accompanied Mrs. Sparks home for an extended visit with relatives.

Monthly Report For April Given by Helen J. Samson

Helen J. Samson, County health nurse of Umatilla county gives the following report for the month of April:

Miss Henrietta Morris, health education director with the Oregon Tuberculosis Association, spent one entire week in Umatilla county during the past month. Twenty-five schools were visited during that time in order that Miss Morris might speak with the teachers on methods of teaching health and materials which are available for health teaching. Many teachers expressed surprise that such material was at their disposal and several put in orders on the spot for posters, booklets, etc.

Some time has been spent in organizing the early diagnosis tuberculosis campaign. Through Dr. Joseph P. Brennan, of Pendleton, arrangements have been made for a tuberculosis clinic which will be conducted by Dr. Marr Bisillon of Portland whose services are made available through the cooperation of the National Tuberculosis association and the Oregon Tuberculosis association. Tuberculosis contacts or suspects will be brought in for examination and diagnosis. The motion picture film "Delays are Dangerous" has been secured from the Oregon Tuberculosis association and will be shown around the county. Posters "Protect them from Tuberculosis" have been put up in all the cities of the county and several hundred stickers have been distributed to business firms to be affixed to the monthly bills.

One tonsillectomy was performed at the expense of the Umatilla county health association through the cooperation of the local physician at Hermiston.

More than the usual amount of time has been spent on office work as the nurses' car was in the repair shop for several days undergoing a thorough overhauling.

Because of the hundreds of cases of measles and whooping cough in the county, it has not seemed wise to attempt to hold any infant or pre-school clinic, but we hope we may safely do so later.

Supervisor at Molalla Says Fire Danger Has Increased

Molalla, Or.—John Ferguson, supervisor of forest fire patrol with headquarters on the north fork of the Molalla river, recently returned from a tour of inspection and reports possible fire conditions the most serious in his memory. Disastrous forest fires are bound to occur, he warns, unless there is complete co-operation with the people in exercising care.

The snow was gone from Sweet Springs and Lookout mountain. This condition should not prevail until late in June. At Butte Creek basin the old snow is all gone. Streams have the same volume they usually have late in June. This is at an elevation of 4000 feet.

Boy Lost In Woods Found In 16 Hours

Grants Pass.—Lost in the woods for 16 hours and the object of a search which started at dark, Saturday, Laddie Moulton, 3, was found at 10:30 Sunday morning two miles from his home and 12 miles from this city by legion searchers working under the direction of Sheriff Lister of Josephine county.

The child was discovered by Milton Akerill of Grants Pass on a little knoll not far from a brush road, when he heard the boy's sobbing from a distance of 100 yards. Akerill, who had been mining on the historic Althouse creek all winter and was well acquainted with woods lore, was a member of a legion party, composed of Dick Singleton, Jessie Johnston and Earle Voorhies, which had been called late and had only been searching the section ten minutes.

The boy was warmly dressed and apparently had remained awake most of the cold night, to go to sleep when warmed by the rising sun. Passage of automobiles along the rough side road had awakened him, crying, and brought about his discovery.

Mrs. Moulton, the boy's mother, who is living on the isolated farm with three of her four sons, said two of the boys had gone to Grants Pass in the car and apparently had been followed by the smaller boy on foot. She had noticed Laddie's absence at once, but had believed he had accompanied his brothers, and did not learn that he was lost until their return some time later. The search was started then. After neighbors with the sheriff's assistance had been unable to find the lad during the night, legionnaires and Boy Scouts were summoned. Between 50 and 75 men and boys had joined the hunt before the boy was found.

Milk Co-op Manager Is Made Market Specialist

More technical assistance for Oregon farmers in organizing and conducting cooperative marketing associations will be available beginning June 1 as the appointment of a second extension specialist in marketing is announced by Oregon State college.

John H. Tull, manager of a large cooperative milk marketing association of Memphis, Tenn., has been named to fill one of the two new positions authorized by the state board of higher education under terms of a recent emergency appropriation.

Mr. Tull is personally known to the present extension specialist, George O. Gatlin, who says he is probably the best qualified man as to training and business experience in the entire country for the work contemplated here in Oregon.

Their only attendants were Miss Doris Schubert, sister of the bride and Earl Tucker brother of the groom. Mrs. Tucker is the fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schubert, raised in Athena, and was graduated with the class of '28, Athena high school. She attended the Walla Walla business college the following year and since that time has been employed in Freewater. They will be at home to their friends in Westport where they will reside.

Henry W. Collins Returns to Portland After a Trip To the East

Portland.—Henry W. Collins, newly appointed regional representative of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, returned to his Portland office after a visit in the east during which he conferred with national officers of the grain corporation. Mr. Collins' appointment became effective yesterday, May 15, and he declared that most of his instructions are yet to be received.

Mr. Collins was accompanied from Seattle by Archie Ryer of Seattle, whom he has appointed Portland representative. Mr. Ryer is a well-known grain operator of Seattle.

As to policies, Mr. Collins had only one statement to make—so far as possible, the business of selling grain abroad and shipping it will be handled through existing agencies. He amplified the statement to the effect that the co-operative concern will operate through the companies that are in the business of grain exporting.

Little, if any of the present crop of wheat is likely to be exported by the grain corporation, Mr. Collins said. Contracts now are being made with farmers for the new crop by the North Pacific Grain Growers, Inc., which will turn the wheat over to the Farmers' National Grain corporation. This latter corporation will sell it.

Mr. Collins declared that no arrangements had been made by the grain corporation for terminal facilities, though proposals had been received from a number of terminals. When asked how much of the new crop would be handled through Portland, he replied: "Some of it has to come through Portland, of course. Some of it doesn't. It's too early to say any more than that."

White Hot Meteor Falls In the Conway District

Pendleton.—A flaming meteor, white hot at the head and about as "long as an airplane" fell just south of Conway on Meacham creek at 8:15 Sunday evening. At least T. F. Mills thinks it fell but a short distance away.

"The meteor came low over a ridge and seemed to travel at about the speed of a plane," says Mr. Mills. "The white part in front seemed about the size of an auto tire and the whole thing was about 50 feet long. The first impression was that it was a burning plane but it was easy to make out that it was not a plane. The meteor seemed to be about spent and I think it fell on the side of a canyon not far away. I could see the tops of trees about the meteor so it could not have gone far."

With Mr. Mills at the time were his two sons, Robert and Harold. They had been fishing during the day on Meacham creek and were waiting for the train. As it was then dark and the train nearly due, they made no effort to locate the meteor. Mr. Mills is with the Union Pacific freight department here.

Grain Men Have Grading School In Pendleton

Pendleton.—The Department of Agriculture, bureau of economics will conduct a grain grading school at the Pendleton high school today and tomorrow, May 16 and 17 with expert grain graders acting as instructors. This service is being rendered upon a number of requests from county operators and warehousemen in cooperation with the grain inspection department of the Oregon state extension service.

The school is limited to operators and warehouse managers and not more than twenty will be enrolled; there is no charge for the work. Schools have already been held in The Dalles, Moro and Arlington where it is reported that much interest was taken. Following the course here, schools will be held in LaGrande and Ontario.

Among features of the school program will be: Exhibition of grain grading film, demonstration of use of grain grading apparatus, grading samples and figuring discounts and market values, discussing leading and weighing problems affecting terminal inspection.

Freewater Grows

Freewater and Arlington made gains in their 1930 enumeration according to figures released late Saturday by A. C. McIntyre, district census supervisor at Pendleton. The 1930 population of Freewater is 708 as compared to 664 for 1920 while Arlington has 602 in 1930 compared to 529 for 1920, a gain of 73. Hermiston showed a slight decrease with 608 for 1930 compared with 665 for 1920.

Several members of Mignonette Rebekah lodge No. 86 accepted an invitation to Helix Thursday evening, attending Helix Rebekah lodge. The degree was given to several candidates and a profitable and good time was had by all who attended.

RIVER BILL'S FATE IN McNARY'S HANDS

Tells Committee Channel 35 Feet Deep and 500 Feet Wide Essential.

Washington, D. C.—The task of piloting safely through legislative shoals the $110,000,000 omnibus river and harbor bill, which cannot be passed at this session of congress unless compromise are reached upon one or two important controversial items, has fallen largely to Senator McNary of Oregon, who was chiefly responsible for the inclusion in the measure of the 35-foot channel authorization from Portland to the sea.

In the dual role of assistant republican leader of the senate and chief aide of Senator Hiram Johnson of California on the senate commerce committee, which is considering the omnibus bill, McNary is now negotiating with senators at odds over the Erie canal and Illinois river proposals in an effort to prevent a threatened filibuster and assure the measure of speedy passage.

Probably the action of the house rivers and harbors committee in reducing the authorized width of the proposed Columbia river channel from 500 to 400 feet, after the army engineers had recommended that former figure, is the least of the Oregon senator's worries. His first move when the bill came to the senate was to lay down the condition to members of the house committee that the 500-foot width should be approved in the final conference report on the measure. This was promptly agreed to, and the 500-foot figure will be restored by the senate.

The Erie canal provision is the weight now holding the bill back. Great lakes senators, long hopeful that the St. Lawrence waterway would eventually be built, see in the proposal that government take over of the water route across New York a rival for the international route which might further delay action on the latter. The same group are insisting that some definite limit be placed upon diversion from Lake Michigan in connection with the Illinois waterway proposal, which contemplates completion of a navigable route between the Great Lakes and the Mississippi river.

The prospect that compromises might be entered into in both items was brighter Tuesday than it has been for a week. Both Johnson and McNary, as chairmen and ranking members of the commerce committee, have served notice on the interested parties that unless they agree, the prospect for action on the bill is very poor.

Athena Loses Another Game, Mission Indians

With George and Lee Banister again in suit for Athena, the Athena baseball team turned in one of the best played games of the season. Although out hitting and out playing the Indians they lost, 6 to 3.

After spotting the Indians four runs in the first inning the home boys settled down to hold them until the first of the ninth when they tallied two more runs on as many hits. Athena came to life at the bat in the eighth inning and found Joe Beetles for four hits, two being three base smashes, and three runs. It looked as if Athena would tie the score in the ninth when G. Banister, Miller and Bowers got on bases with two down, but Miller was caught at second for the three out.

Banister worked very nicely after the first inning and retired nine men while Beetles was putting four away. This Sunday the two teams will clash on the Round-Up grounds and Athena is determined to turn tables for a victory.

The batteries were: Athena, Banister, Baker and Parr; Mission, Beetles and Hoskins.

Plans For Air School

Electing the only woman stockholder in the company, Mrs. Dora D. Skinner, president, members of the Triangle Airways, Inc., of Yakima launched plans for operating schools in Yakima, Walla Walla and Pendleton. The company also intends to provide passenger service in the towns where schools are operated and later to begin passenger service between Yakima and Spokane and Yakima and Portland.

Members of the Etude concert chorus were entertained at a one o'clock luncheon at the Chase Garfield home Tuesday afternoon when four members of the chorus, Mrs. C. Garfield, Mrs. C. M. Eager, Mrs. L. A. Finkerton and Mrs. Lloyd Michener, gave a dainty luncheon for sixteen, including Mrs. Clyde Lester of Walla Walla who directed the chorus the past season.
