APPEALING DISHES

As we have an abundance of fruits in our menus, the salad or dessert course seems to be the best place for their entry.

Blushing Apple Tapioca Pudding—Take one-half cupful of sugar, one and one-half cupfuls of water, two tablespoonfuls of red cinnamon drops, one lemon thinly sliced, two tablespoonfuls of quick cooking tapioca, four large apples cored and pared. Combine the sugar, lemon and cinnamon drops and cook until the candy is dissolved. Add the apples and cook, turning often until they are tender. Remove the apples and measure the sirup, adding enough water to make a cupful. Add the tapioca and cook in a double boiler for fifteen minutes, stirring and cooking until the tapioca is clear. Remove from the fire and add one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Fill the apples to overflowing with the tapioca. Chill and serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Burned Sugar Cake—Brown one-half cupful of sugar until it smokes, add one-half cupful of water, boil to make a sirup. Take three-fourths cupful of shortening, one and one-half cupful of sugar, one cupful of cold water, salt, one teaspoonful of soda, two well beaten eggs, vanilla and three cupfuls of flour. Cream the shortening, add the sugar, sift the soda with the flour and combine as usual.

Froeting—Take two-thirds of a cupful of cream, one-fourth pound of butter, two cupfuls of the sugar and add to the cream, butter and remaining sugar. Boll to the soft ball stage, cool and beat until thick.

Lemon Gelatin Salad—Take five new carrots, grate, add one full cupful of finely diced tender celery, a dash of lemon juice. Take a package of lemon gelatin, add the juice from the can of pineapple with enough boiling water to make a pint of liquid. Stir until slightly cool, then add the other ingredients. Fold and serve unmolded on lettuce with a nicely seasoned salad dressing.
