TWO NEW ENTERPRISES IN ATHENA

J. N. Scott Tells of Wheat Farming and Yields Around Athena.

Joseph Scott sends the Press the following interview which appeared in the Morning Oregonian of recent date.

"Although my residence has been in Pendleton since 1919 I still have a warm feeling for my old home town of Athena. My farm which includes my father's and my grandmother's homesteads, lies within four miles of Athena and I have spent the summer there personally assisting in harvesting the wheat crop. Athena with a population of 520 is one of the substantial communities of Oregon. Situated in the midst of some of the most productive farms in the Northwest, its wheat shipments for the 1929 and 1930 crops will amount to over one million bushels. The Farmers Elevator, a locally owned concern, this year received 450,000 bushels of wheat which at 1500 bushels per car would make 300 carloads. One day's deliveries from the harvesters to the elevator amounted to 23,500 bushels. The Preston-Shaffer Milling Co. operates a modern electrically driven mill of 550 barrels daily capacity. This mill receives directly from the farms more than 100,000 bushels of wheat annually, besides heavy rail shipments and during this year ending June 30, 1930 shipped out 650 carloads of flour and feed.

"The wheat crop is harvested by motor driven machinery and moves from farm to railroad in bulk in trucks over paved highway and gravelled market roads. The heaviest yield was reported by Sheldon Taylor, 129½ measured acres made 58 bushels per acre. Many fields ran from 40 to 50 bushels.

"The Eickhoff Products Corp. of Walla Walla raised this year 3000 acres of beans near Athena, and in their own cleaning plant in Athena will handle this crop as well as some 50 carloads grown in Walla Walla county. This concern has disbursed in Athena this season in wages and rents $20,000. The bean growing operations were under the management locally of M. W. Hansell, prominent Athena farmer and sportsman who three years ago in competition in Portland with expert shots from all over the Northwest won permanently the valuable Multnomah and Dayton trophies.

"The Washington-Idaho Seed Co. is installing a pea sorting and grading plant to handle the crop of peas grown in the Athena vicinity and rail shipments from the Palouse country and as far away as Bonners Ferry, Idaho. This plant it is said will give employment to 46 women and girls for several months.

"In a financial way Athena and the surrounding country is served by The First National Bank of Athena, a strong and conservatively managed institution with deposits of more than $700,000."

Road From McDougal to Tollgate To Be Finished

Graveling of the six-mile stretch of highway from Camp McDougal to Tollgate, a federal forest project, will be completed within a short time and another step finished in the development of a highway system across the Blue mountains to Elgin from Weston.

With the completion of this section of road efforts will be renewed to obtain construction of a portion of the highway outside the federal reserve and in Umatilla county. If this work is done a gravelled road will be opened to the top of the mountains and work can then be pushed down the eastern slope.

This highway, covering ground traveled by hundreds of early pioneers, would shorten the distance to Grande Ronde valley and the Walla Walla country and open that section to commerce with Walla Walla and Pendleton.

Hunter Is Killer

Molalla.—Deer hunting claimed its first victim of the season in this section of the state Monday when Victor John Kokei, 16, was accidentally shot and killed while hunting in the vicinity of Twin Buck camp about 30 miles south of here. He was in company of Barney Helvey and Dick Howland, who planned to be gone for several days. Word of the tragedy was telephoned from a lumber camp late Monday afternoon by Helvey who had to tramp five miles through the brush.

Bert Logsdon and P. B. Radtke will leave Sunday for a two weeks hunting trip in the Miram country. They with a guide will pack into the mountains and make camp and hunt in the surrounding country.

O. S. C. Entomologists Say Infestation Next Year Might Kill Trees

Oregon State College.—The apparent killing of the oak trees in the Willamette valley, which has been causing considerable comment and much concern is due, says the entomology department of this college, to the activities of the caterpillars of a moth as the oak looper.

The caterpillars consume all but the ribs of the oak leaves, completely defoliating the trees and causing large areas of them to turn brown and sear as if swept by fire. These pests have appeared off and on for several years, entomologists say, but never have any infestations reached the magnitude of the present one, and if they occur in large numbers next year it is unlikely that the trees will be able to withstand the attack, as two years' defoliation is usually fatal to broad-leaf trees.

In answer to inquiries from orchardists, the state college specialists say there is little danger that the insects will attack fruit trees, as they prefer their natural food, the oak leaves, although they have been found feeding on various wild shrubs along the roadsides after the oak leaves were gone.

Very little can be done in the way of control of these pests, it is believed, as the expense of spraying the trees would generally be too great except where ornamental or valuable shade oaks are being attacked. For such cases a spray consisting of three pounds of lead arsenate to 100 gallons of water has given good control where applied early, says the department.

In some situations, however, much can be done right now to reduce the caterpillars because of their habit of collecting in immense numbers at the top of fence posts, where they can easily be destroyed by spraying the masses with kerosene.

Annual Umatilla County Potato Show, Nov. 7 and 8

Friday and Saturday, November 7 and 8, were set as the dates of the eighth annual Umatilla County Potato show, to be held at Weston, at a meeting last week of the Weston Commercial association, reports the Leader.

Meritorious exhibits at the show will be taken to Spokane for the Pacific Northwest Potato show November 19, 20 and 21.

The following executive committee was appointed:

Robert G. Blomgren, chairman; Charles L. Pinkerton, secretary and treasurer; Frank Greer, A. F. Futler, W. P. Cable, James L. Smock, Will Hall, W. L. Rayborn, Arthur Gould, Joe Wurzer.

It was decided to appoint an auxiliary women's committee to handle exhibits that are better for the feminine touch. Those chosen were: Mrs. Will E. Van Winkle, Mrs. Will F. Gould, Mrs. Albert O'Hara.

Individual farm exhibits will again be featured this year, according to the discussion at the preliminary meeting. School exhibits will be encouraged.

The 4-H clubs in Weston vicinity plan to display their fancy livestock at this show, and arrangements to be made by the management to accommodate them.

Pepper Thrower Fined Companion Also Pays

The Dalles.—William McKain, 16, of Wasco, who confessed to having thrown a shaker of pepper into an automobile driven by Ralph Johnson of The Dalles, September 7, was fined $50 and costs this week by Justice of the Peace Meredith. The pepper was thrown when the cars passed on the highway east of The Dalles. Johnson and his family were temporarily blinded, and narrowly escaped going over a high embankment when the automobile got out of control.

Sammy Brock, 22, driver of the car in which McKain was riding, also was fined $50 and costs. He was said to have speeded up his automobile and escaped when he realized the seriousness of his companion's offense.

The arrests Wednesday terminated a search by Wasco and Sherman county officers that had extended since the incident occurred.

McKain denied malicious intent, declaring that he hurled the shaker, which had been taken as a "souvenir" from a local barbecue stand into the Johnson car on the impulse of the moment.

Fire Prevention Week

Governor Norblad Wednesday issued a proclamation setting aside the week, October 5 to 11, as fire prevention week. "I earnestly beseech the people of Oregon to observe fire prevention week," read the governor's proclamation. "Last year fire levied a toll of more than $473,000,000 in the United States and the economic wealth of the state of Oregon suffering to the extent of $6,800,000. Experience statistics reveal that fully 80 per cent of these losses were due to preventable causes."

Hunters From Athena Are Bringing In Deer

Deer hunting is the main topic of interest at present and Saturday and Sunday saw numerous parties of hunters making preparations and departures for the mountain fastnesses when these fleet footed and wary animals have been safe until the dawn of September 15th.

The Ukiah and John Day country are among the favorite hunting grounds and several deer have been brought out of that district.

Athena and vicinity have many representatives in the woods this season. Henry Miller and Charley Payne were successful in bringing out a deer apiece. They were accompanied by C. M. Jones and H. G. Hoffman. George Sheard also brought in a fine animal as did M. L. Watts who was accompanied by his brother H. I. Watts, F. S. LeGrow, Richard Thompson and Everett Rothrock were also successful.

Another party includes Frank Williams, Fred Beckner, Veltton Reed, Frank McCormick, Granville Cannon and Melvin Coppock. Coppock has killed a fine buck, but so far the others have not been lucky.

Laurence Pinkerton, D. A. Pinkerton, Lisle Gray and Lloyd Michener have not been heard from as yet. Another party still in the mountains includes Flint Johns and Ralph Grover.

"3 o' 4" Bridge Club

Picture In Magazine

In the September 14th issue of the Lookout, a magazine of Christian education, there appears a picture of Miss Arleen Myrick, local girl, who is noted as having attended Bible school every Sunday for the past two and a half years. She has also served as secretary-treasurer and chorister of the school.

Mac-Hi and Athena Hi Meet Here Tomorrow

Tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. Mac Hi and Athena meet in their first football game of the season. Athena is represented this year with the heaviest team in years. Coach Miller's proteges average 160 pounds to the man, and have a determination to win from the pruned pickers.

This year Milton is coached by Eddie Buck, former Whitman College athlete. Mac Hi has a very light team and the majority of her last year players was graduated. Athena has the advantage on this score because she is represented by all but three men from last year's squad.

Miller has been putting his men through setting-up exercises, blocking punting, passing and in fact everything it takes to make a strong team. Two nights of actual scrimmage, one with Adams, has put the boys at a high pitch, and they're 'rarin' to go.

The team this year consists of Hoffman, Shigley, Reeder, Kirk, ends; Hansell, Towne, Pickett, tackles; Miller, Weber, Banister, guards; Singer, R. Wilson, centers; Crowley, Jenkins, Pinkerton, Geissel, halves; J. Moore, quarter; McCullough, fullback. Bennie Marcus and Raymond Freeze will also be in suits. Emery Rogers has not yet entered school but it is hoped that he will be in suit before the next game.

Practically all of the business houses have pledged their support of the team and will close their doors until after the game.

Man Promises To Buy The Entire Idaho Potato Crop

Boise.—E. D. Gessner of New York telegraphed the Idaho state chamber of commerce he was coming to Boise to begin buying all of Idaho's potatoes and many carloads additional.

The message was the second addressed to L. F. Parsons, secretary of the state chamber. In the first one Gessner asked to purchase 35,000 carloads of potatoes in Idaho. He was advised the state produced normally only about 20,000 carloads, but was invited to come out to investigate.

In reply he asked the chamber to "notify all growers and shippers to hold all potatoes for me. Can increase the order. Will leave for Boise in a few days."

Secretary Parsons was in a quandary over the situation, but professed willingness to show him as many potatoes as possible.

Oregon Gains In Farms

Oregon, with a 1920 to 1930 gain of 10.1 per cent in the number of farms was second only to South Dakota which increased by 11.4 per cent in states thus far reported in the farm census. A census bureau announcement gave the Oregon state total as 55,259 farms as against 50,208 in 1920, a gain of 5,053 farms. The greatest gain in per cent was in Columbia county, which now has 1,667 farms as against 991 in 1920, a gain of 68.2 per cent. Josephine county which now has 1,167 farms gained by 60.5 per cent.

Major John D. Guthrie, assistant regional forester, said Tuesday that the danger of forest fires has decreased materially throughout the entire Pacific Northwest. ### Nineteen Firms Enjoined; Charged With Violating Sherman Anti-Trust Law

San Francisco.—Nineteen oil companies operating on the Pacific coast perpetually were enjoined Monday from fixing gasoline prices by agreement. The injunction was issued in United States district court by Federal Judge A. F. St. Sure with the consent of the defendant oil companies.

The decree was a result of a United States suit brought against the companies last February, charging them with conspiracy to monopolize and restrain interstate commerce by fixing the retail price of gasoline in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The decree specifically restrains the defendant companies from carrying out the conspiracy charged and from entering into similar agreements in the future. It restrains them from conducting their business pursuant to any agreement to eliminate competition. Further the companies are forbidden to refuse oil to retailers because the retailers refuse to sell it at prices approved by the companies.

A. C. Gage, Here

A. C. Gage, editor and publisher of the Angora Journal of Portland was a visitor here Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Gage recently gave a radio talk over KFEC, his subject being "Mohair." He describes mohair, the fleece of the Angora goat, as a fibre which is as old as the Bible, but which is as yet unknown to the average American householder. "Mohair is not camel's hair and it is not alpaca," Mr. Gage explains. "The value of mohair lies in its tendency to shed dust and the remarkable ease in laundering. Mohair in Arabian means 'clean' and 'select.'"

Receipts of National Forests Bring Large Sum

A gain of more than 7 per cent over the preceding year, receipts of the country's 149 national forests totaled $6,751,553 for the fiscal year ending June 30, according to the annual statement of receipts as announced by the U. S. Forest Service at Portland.

The major portion of the year's receipts came from timber sales, grazing permits, and special uses, such as rentals of summer home and resort sites. Although the bulk of the receipts came from national forests in the western states, largest comparative gains were made in the eastern and Lake States regions. Of the total revenue, 25 per cent will be allotted to the states within which the national forests lie. These allotments are paid annually to the states in lieu of local taxes, and become part of the counties' school and road funds. An additional 10 per cent of the total receipts is used by the U. S. Forest Service for road building in the national forests.

Sales of national forest timber increased as a whole last year, but revenue from Washington and Oregon decreased by $322,047 due to light demand for government timber and this region dropped to second place. Receipts for the California national forests amounted to $1,837,340, a 15 per cent gain, as against receipts of $1,371,596, a 19 per cent loss, in the North Pacific region. All timber sold on the national forests was cut under Forest Service supervision under management plans looking to future crops of timber on the same lands.

Court to Decide Whether Company Can Be Forced to Build Oregon Railroad

Whether the interstate commerce commission will be enjoined from enforcing its order to the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company to construct a 185-mile cross-state extension from Crane to Crescent will be argued before three federal judges in Portland beginning September 29, according to an order received in federal court from Frank S. Dietrich, federal circuit judge of San Francisco. Judge Dietrich will preside over the hearing, and it is expected that Federal District Judges Bean and McNary will sit with him.

The hearing will be one of the most important in the railroad and legal history of the nation, in that it will go far toward determining whether the interstate commerce commission has power to order a railroad to build additional trackage over the carrier's objections.

SHOEMAKER MADE NEW TRAFFIC HEAD

Hood River Man Named By Hoss To Succeed Rafferty, Deposed Chief.

Salem.—Kent Shoemaker of Hood River accepted the office of chief of the state traffic division to succeed T. A. Rafferty, and assumed his duties with the department Monday.

Shoemaker will be commissioned as a patrolman, but on October 1 will assume charge of headquarters here. He will be assisted by Max Flanery, present deputy chief.

Hoss declared that Shoemaker was not an applicant for the position as chief, and was the first and only person to whom it was offered.

"I have known Shoemaker for many years," said Hoss, "and consider him especially fitted for the work. As chief of the traffic division he will have absolute authority to handle the duties of the department, and as administrative head I expect to serve as a consultant and adviser and keep in touch with the operation of the division the same as I do in the numerous other departments under my jurisdiction."

Hoss said that Shoemaker would spend approximately two weeks in the field organizing the division. He will accompany Captain Saltzman and McMahon in their respective districts.

Shoemaker is 39 years of age. He was appointed deputy county clerk of Hood River county in July 15, 1911, a position which he held until January, 1915, when he became county clerk. He was the youngest man in Oregon to serve in this office. Shoemaker served as county clerk for 12 years.

He is past council commander of the Woodmen of the World, past commander of the Hood River American Legion, secretary of the Hood River chamber of commerce, secretary of the Hood River Masonic lodge, secretary of the mid-Columbia chamber of commerce, manager of the Hood River Credit association and manager of the Hood River branch of the Oregon State Motor association.

Something of interest to fans is the announcement by Carl A. Lodell, general manager here, that he expects to have the back and sides of the main or west grand stand completely boarded up so that no chill night winds will interfere with the pleasure of those attending the games at Corvallis this year. Carpenters have been working on this improvement for the past week.
