To Carry Ice to North Pole

The submarine, "Nautilus," by means of which Sir Hubert Wilkins hopes to make an undersea dash to North Pole. (Inset) Sir Hubert inspecting the boat's kitchen.

THE expedition of Sir Hubert Wilkins, the explorer, to the North Pole will be the most unusual in the history of the world—an attempt to explore the polar regions by means of a submarine. His undersea boat, christened the "Nautilus," after Jules Verne's famous vessel of fiction, will try to travel under the top of the earth and beneath the North Pole. But Sir Hubert has arranged that his crew of twenty will have all modern comforts possible. On the trip to the coldest section of the world, the submarine is equipped with an electric refrigerator and his men will have the advantages of sunlamps, as well as electric fans, radio, electric washing machines, vacuum cleaners, electric stove and electric heaters. The General Electric Company was called in to install the refrigerator and other appliances. While the submarine will travel under the ice, the temperature inside the boat will be such that foodstuffs would spoil without an electric refrigerator. Then, too, while the boat will travel to the North Pole—Land of the Midnight Sun—the crew would get little natural sunlight. That's the reason for the sunlamps.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pittman will leave by motor at noon today for Cottonwood, Idaho, where they will spend the week-end with Mrs. Pittman's brother, T. P. Mitchell. Leland Jenkins is working at the Athena Service Station during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Baker, who are attending the cowboys convention at Ukiah over the Fourth. "Bill" Richards, with a crew of hardworking haymakers has been hauling and stowing away hay for his string of ponies. A car with gayly painted trailer was used for the work. Dr. McKinney's office on Third street, near the Athena Press office, is to have a new concrete floor at the porch entrance to the building. Joe Crowley is doing the concrete work. Babe Montague and George Shane of Arlington visited at the Stanton and Montague homes Saturday. Mr. Montague is a nephew of Mr. Stanton and he is Ed Montague's cousin. Oral Michener has been entertaining two of his Camp Clatsop "buddies" who spent the week-end here. They are Fred Burgin, bugler, and Sergeant Tom Campbell of Pendleton. Athena high school boys have cinched harvest jobs with neighborhood farmers. Several will drive trucks from the bulk grain machines, while others have secured places on combines. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Rogers and daughter Helen, left by motor early yesterday morning for the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Rogers, near Creston, B. C. They expect to return home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dell returned home from Portland Tuesday night. They were accompanied by Mrs. James Cresswell who has spent the past month visiting at the home of her parents in Forest Grove. Mrs. F. P. Bruce and son Ralph and little grandson Gene Hodgson and daughter Mrs. Thelma Hodgson were in Athena Sunday en route to their ranch above Gibbon, after a ten days visit with relatives at Baker. Miss Virginia Taylor, daughter of Prof. L. R. Taylor, president of Linnfield College at McMinnville, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Zerba, west of Athena. Miss Taylor is a niece of Mr. Zerba. Bill Hoggard has returned from Troy, Montana, where he spent the winter months. Mr. Hoggard reports that the labor situation in Montana is so serious that men are glad to take jobs at 25 cents an hour. L. A. Cornell left Tuesday for Weiser, Idaho, on a business mission. Mr. Cornell made the trip by motor and was accompanied by George Eitman. Visits will also be made at Vale and Brogan en route home. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bateman and Misses Suzanne Hayes and Frances Bateman made a trip to Portland and Coos Bay over the week-end. Miss Hayes returned to her home in Powers after an extended visit in Athena. M. I. Miller is completing the painting of his residence on Adams street. "Pike" found the job turned out to be a long one and his right wrist has developed a twist such as would please a major baseball pitcher — curve pitcher if you please. The cooperative cannery at Hermiston is being patronized by a few people of the Athena community who have been canning peas there during the past few days. Later the cannery facilities may be used in canning string beans, corn, etc. Mrs. George Sheard honored her niece, Miss Eileen Anderson of Weston, at a birthday dinner Thursday evening, the occasion being her seventeenth anniversary. Additional guests were members of the Anderson and Sheard families. Mrs. Wayne Pittman expects to visit her husband at Klamath Falls, remaining there for a few days. Wayne is a truck driver for a railroad contractor, who is constructing a portion of the Great Northern road, south of Klamath Falls. Alfred McLouth who has been in Montana for some time has returned to Athena and vicinity for the harvest season and is employed at the Henry Barrett ranch near town. A number of years ago Mr. McLouth ran a delivery wagon here. Mrs. Fred Blinn was painfully injured Sunday when a car near which she was standing was accidentally backed against her, crushing her between it and another car. No bones were fractured but Mrs. Blinn suffered deep cuts and bruises. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burke were here from Portland a couple of days this week, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burke. Roy, who works in a Portland garage, last week suffered a couple of fractured ribs as the result of a shop accident. Cleo Green of Stanfield was a house guest of Dorris Jenkins last week. Sunday the Jenkins family motored to Stanfield to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Green. They were accompanied by their young visitor who remained in Stanfield. Four sisters and a brother met in Athena Tuesday for the first time in several years. At the home of Mrs. Margaret Banister there were her three sisters, Mrs. McArthur and Mrs. Perry of Portland, Mrs. Leonard of Waitsburg, and J. T. Lieualien of Portland.
