So many folk are happy folk
The feathered folk and furred!
And many a kindly glance I've had
And many a brisk bright word
From squirrel and from gray field-mouse
From cardinal and blackbird.

OUTDOOR AND GYPSY DISHES

During the warm weather there is nothing more pleasant than to take one's family and friends out to a stream or lake, or in the beautiful woods, rest and listen to nature and feed the inner man with just such things as may be cooked out doors. Here are some really good gypsy dishes that every one will enjoy:

A heavy iron kettle with an iron cover is best, place it in the coals and when hot add some chopped meat; when tried out add chopped lamb's heart and liver, simmer for three minutes, add a sprig of fennel and six peeled potatoes. Cover and cook one hour. The fennel is important to give the stew that tantalizing flavor.

Steak.—Take willow sticks, green and strong, sharpen and string the steaks on them. Turn the steaks while cooking, then season with salt and pepper and plenty of butter on hot dishes.

Gather the flowers of wild mustard, dry them and rub between the hands. It is much more delicate than the ordinary kind. Serve this with all meats.

Baked Potatoes.—Wrap potatoes in yellow dock leaves and skewer with thorns. Roast in the hot ashes covered with coals.

Roasted eggs. Pierce each shell at the ends and wrap in wet leaves. For soft cooked eggs leave in the hot coals for six minutes—if wished hard leave twenty.

Sausages of various kinds are always enjoyed cooked out of doors. String them on willow sticks and hold over the heat. Toasting marshmallows for desert will make a menu, with some satisfying sandwiches, fit for any appetite. The coffee of course is an important item. Mix it with egg and a little cold water, add boiling water, boil up and stir down lightly three times, then add a little cold water to settle and it is ready to serve.
