SOME FISH DISHES

Any kind of fish in the market may be used with little variation for these recipes. When one can purchase a thick slice or fillet of rich fish there is little waste. A pound goes a long way. Any that is left may be used in salad, souffles or creamed and served on toast.

Baked Fillet.—Wash the fish and wipe dry. Melt a tablespoonful of butter and brush over the fish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and rub gently with a tablespoonful of flour. Put on the rack of a roaster, cover and bake forty minutes in a rather hot oven. The flour and butter will make a nice crust over the fish. Serve with wedges of lemon and garnish with parsley.

Green Onions Creamed.—Take small onions, cut into half-inch lengths, stems and all, and cook until tender; serve with a butter sauce or a rich cream sauce. This dish is especially good with fish.

Broiled Fillet of Haddock.—The household will be healthier if the broiler is used more and the frying pan less. When one has a stove with a good broiler there is no reason to use a frying pan. It is the simplest thing in the world to broil your breakfast bacon, chops and steak on a broiler. It must be carefully watched, of course, but the results are worth while. Have the broiler hot, grease the rack lightly and lay on the fillet of fish—not too close to scorch it, turn and cook on both sides until well done. As soon as it is placed on a hot platter pour over the fish two tablespoonfuls of melted butter and two of lemon juice. Dust with pepper and serve with a tartar sauce.

Molded Ramekin of White Fish.—Combine five tablespoonfuls of tapioca with one cupful of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt, dash of cayenne, one-half tablespoonful of minced parsley and two and one-fourth cupfuls of finely flaked fish. Let stand five minutes then turn into greased custard cups or ramekins and bake in a moderate oven until well cooked. Unmold and garnish the top of each with a sprig of parsley. Serve with caper sauce.
