MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Plover, Iowa.—"From a small child my 13 year old daughter had female weakness. I spoke to three doctors about it and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound according to directions on the bottle and she is cured of this trouble. She was all run down when she started taking the Compound and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy."—Mrs. MARTIN HELVIG, Plover, Iowa.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

GOES THROUGH THE MOTIONS

But Smokers Will Wonder How That Tobaccoless Pipe Must Taste to Him.

M. Maeterlinck is among those who have freed themselves from the bondage of tobacco by means of a curious artifice. According to his biographer, M. Gerard Harry, "without the help of tobacco he seemed incapable of receiving inspiration or crystallizing it in words. If he has not overcome the need, he has outflanked it. Smoking, he noticed, had lost its virtue as a stimulant, and instead of rousing the brain to activity, as at first, had come to disturb its functions; so now, in lieu of ordinary tobacco, he fills his bowl with a denicotinized preparation, tasteless indeed, but harmless. His pipe is still always alight when the pen is busy, but it is hardly more now than a mere subterfuge intended to cheat and so satisfy an irresistible mechanical craving."—London Chronicle.

NO DOUBT THAT RESINOL DOES STOP ITCHING

It is a fact that the moment resinol ointment touches itching skins, the itching stops and healing begins. With the aid of resinol soap, it almost always clears away all trace of eczema, Summer rashes, pimples, or similar tormenting, unsightly eruption quickly, leaving the skin clear and healthy.

And the best of it is you need never hesitate to use resinol soap and resinol ointment. Resinol is a doctor's prescription which for twenty years has been used by careful physicians for many kinds of skin affections. They know that its soothing, healing action is brought about by medication so bland and gentle as to be suited to the most delicate or irritated skin. Resinol ointment and resinol soap are sold by all druggists.—Adv.

PUTS THE INTELLECT FIRST

Educator Asserts That Its Training is of More Importance Than Is That of the Body.

Commenting on the theory, now so popular, that educators should concentrate on the training of hands rather than the training of minds, if the young persons of our land are to grow into useful men and women, Mary Leal Harkness, writing in the Atlantic, gives it as her opinion that "It is a tremendous fallacy that the possessor of only the trained hand can hope with any well-founded confidence to be included in that desirable company which is both interesting and interested.

"If you could persuade every woman to sweep a floor properly, I doubt much if she could still be guaranteed an agreeable companion for a rainy Sunday," continues the writer. "If you could teach every 'white wing' in any city to remove the dirt of the streets in the most dustless and sanitary manner known to science, I still question whether you would wish him to come to your library for an evening of uplifting conversation. And he would be equally lacking in resources for self-entertainment in his unemployed hours.

"If there is anything beneath the stars more pitiable than the elderly man or woman with no intellectual resources from which to draw occupation and interest, I have not yet seen it. On the other hand, there is nothing which so effectively robs the prospect of old age of its terrors as the sight of the scholarly wearer of whitened hair which crowns a head still vigorous and young through the happy preservative agency of a trained and much-used intellect.

"No mechanical process can guarantee to us an interesting life, or insure us against boredom. But just because it is something more than a mechanical process a college education of the right sort comes nearer doing this than any other agency we know—certainly nearer than any drill in cow-milking or scientific cooking. Its value to us and to the future of our country is beyond estimation. If the time ever comes when 'vital' is taken to be synonymous with 'lucrative'; when the life of the mind and the training of the mind are set below those of the body; when intelligence, as a means to a full and satisfying life, is superseded by prophylaxis and hygiene—then we may well wish that we had listened to a wiser teacher."

Charge Rampage, Okla., Resented.

"This is quite a picturesque spot," said the tourist from the East, who doubtless desired to be complimentary. "Spot!" in fine scorn snorted the landlord of the Atlantic and Pacific hotel at Rampage, Okla. "Say, looky yur! We've got seven hundred souls and four hundred real estate agents in this burg, in addition to a charming society lady that has already got four men shot, a promising infant with two heads, a woman that comes of a fine old family and whipped two United States deputy marshals at one time, a preacher that can git off the movin'est sermon you ever heard when he's drunk, and a politician that is called 'Honest John' and actually is honest! Spot—the devil!"—Kansas City Star.

Costa Rican Industry.

The decline of the banana industry in Costa Rica for several years past has become very noticeable and its effects are strongly felt in the business life of the country, for Costa Rica formerly led in the production of bananas. Plantations have become affected by an incurable disease, and as a result the largest growing and shipping company has found it more profitable to cultivate new plantations in other countries, building new wharves and constructing new railways, than to attempt to stamp out the disease.

GAY COLORS BANNED

UNIFORMS OF SOLDIERS ARE NO LONGER CONSPICUOUS.

Elaborate Costumes That Were Worn by Combatants of the Last Two Centuries Are No Longer Seen on the Battlefield.

The soldier's dress has been simplified to bare necessities. It was otherwise in the old times. The military regulations of the eighteenth and the greater part of the nineteenth centuries furnish one long record of alterations of costume, of solemn injunctions as to laces, loops, frogs, buttons, facings, epaulets, "wings," and what not.

The dressing of the soldier's hair was a special object of concern. Until the end of the eighteenth century the hair was an elaborate arrangement of grease and powder. Three shillings per man was the allowance in 1794 for these two toilet adjuncts, and the cost to the country four shillings four pence for pipe-clay and whitening with which to furnish up his white breeches and leather appurtenances. To make up for this outlay he was expected to make shift with the renewal of only half of his waistcoat—the fore part—the hind part having to be made out of that of the preceding year! So ran the regulations of 1783.

In 1795 powder was discontinued by the non-coms and the rank and file, but it was still the regulation for officers. When the Twenty-ninth—now the Worcestershire—one of the trimmest regiments in the army, was stationed at Weymouth in 1797 an order was issued directing that the hair was to be dressed "with one curl on each side; the toupee turned and not too long; the club to be tied high and to be more broad at the top than at the bottom; the rosette to be all ribband and not more than eight inches in diameter, the ribband and rosette to be perfectly black and put on after powdering."

The Grenadiers and Light Infantry officers were to have their hair dressed "the same as the men, excepting their side locks, which may come down so as to cover the open part of the ear, but never lower, and must be frizzed so as not to blow about." Queues were worn until 1808.

The soldier's hat has been the subject of continual experiment and change, from the picturesque hat of 1686, with its broad brim turned up on one side and ornamented with white ribbon, to the mean looking Broderick cap. In 1751 the three-cornered cocked hat was in favor; then came the imposing miter cap, converting the wearer into a sort of miniature pope; and this was followed by a bearskin of a similar shape. In 1778 light infantry wore leather caps almost as small as skull caps, with a large round peak. The officer's hat of 1798 was a most elaborate and expensive affair, ornamented with the finest black ostrich feathers, with a standup feather of red and black.

The shako, the most hideous hat ever contrived, commenced its long reign in 1800, when it supplanted the cocked hat. Originally it was of lacquered felt, with a peak, a large brass plate in front and a red and black tuft on the crown rising from a small black cockade; and after many variations it disappeared in 1878, when the cork helmet became the regulation hat, in its turn to be superseded by the khaki cap, which, all things considered, is about the best headgear yet devised.—London Globe.
