

LOCAL NEWS

George Thyng attended the county fair at Vancouver last Friday.

T. W. Zimmerman made a business trip to Albany the first of the week.

Adolph Schaffner was a business visitor in Beaverton last Saturday.

Owing to lack of a quorum, the city council did not meet Monday evening.

James Titus, the Raleigh merchant, was a business visitor in Beaverton, Monday.

Miss Thelma Pegg went to Forest Grove Saturday, to visit over Sunday with friends.

Robert Hocken loaded a couple or three carloads of wood for shipment to Portland the latter part of the week.

M. P. Cady came up from Albany Saturday, visiting the H. G. Vincent family, returning to Portland in the evening.

H. G. Vincent attended the Clarke county fair at Vancouver last Friday. He reports a splendid fair and large crowds in attendance.

S. W. McIlvaine has the lumber on the ground for a new walk along the west side of his property, and he says that while he is about it he will order more material and build a walk along the north side.

A dozen or more Beaverton people attended the last day of the stampede at the Vancouver fair last Sunday. They report a very small crowd, and owing to the rain, not all the features of the Wild West exhibitions were given.

S. H. Griffith is just in receipt of a cable message from his daughter, Mrs. Kilton, who recently sailed from London with a grand opera company, in which she is billed as leading lady for the season. Mrs. Kilton's Beaverton friends will be pleased to hear of her success.

We note that W. E. Pegg and others are getting the lumber on the ground, preparatory to repairing their sidewalks on Watson street. The walks on this street, its entire length, are in bad condition, and it is hoped more of the residents will follow suit and repair their walks before the winter rains begin.

Harry Stage and Charles Essig experienced an exciting runaway last Thursday afternoon. They were returning from the country in L. B. Allen's meat delivery wagon. They came up to the steam roller on East Broadway, and just as they came alongside, the operator started up the engine, which frightened the team. A quick lurch to the side of the street threw both occupants of the rig into the ditch, the vehicle turning over. The team ran on up to the meat market, and onto the sidewalk when one of the horses fell and was caught by Mr. Allen. The team was scratched some, and the vehicle damaged to the extent of a few dollars. The boys were unhurt.
