IS CRITICISM OF SENATOR LANE JUSTIFIED?

It is hard to publicly represent the minority. To fill such a position one must be steered to all the cuts of sarcasm and righteous condemnation that an abused and misrepresented majority may heap upon him. What a public officer wins that should he receive in full. Senator Lane has earned all that a humiliated and disgraced constituency is pouring out in the way of condemnation for failure to uphold the President in a time when our enemies are plotting against us.

Should he resign, be recalled, or spanked right good and hard and sent back to do the job over again? Are there any extenuating circumstances that would warrant leniency in this matter?

Sometimes a man receives clemency at the hands of a judge. In our mind there is no excuse for a republican performing as Senator Lane did and although seven of the twelve senators who filibustered the armed neutrality bill out of Congress are listed as republicans we believe they are anything but republicans.

Mr. Lane has been worshipping at the shrine of democracy. But supposing he had been taught that it was legitimate and honorable to tear the Stars and Stripes out of the breeze and trample it in the mud and that before our very eyes he should thus demean himself and desecrate our country's flag? Would there be any extenuating circumstances in that case and would the onlooking public be justified in meting out to him just and instant retribution?

For four years the senator has been attending a peace-at-any-price school and the trouble is that he has learned his lesson so well that he has come to believe it good doctrine. Is the teacher now justified in applying the tarter to the scholar for having mistaken the spirit of the lesson?

Poor deluded Senator Lane!

Evidently the armed neutrality bill traveled a stony Lane.

As long as Uncle Sam is in trouble we are not republicans, or democrats, but true loyal Americans, ready to do our part.

Where Wilson leads we follow from now until this little row is over or until the next election.

Don't forget that the state of Oregon will have some good roads in the near future and that the man with the automobile will build them provided he is told to do so June 4th.

BEAVERTON HIGH SCHOOL

The Sophomore class in English is preparing an interesting debate for Thursday on the subject of the Immigration bill. Those on the affirmative are Leonard Handel, Dora Fuhrer, Clarence Carlson, Eliza Fuhrer and Roy Emmons. The negative will be sustained by George Salder, Vivian O'Connor, Francis Livermore, Elnathan Sweet and Frank Kosmoski.

We welcome back to High School one of our worthy Sophomore athletes, Francis Livermore, who has recently recovered from an attack of the measles.

Elnathan Sweet, Lewis Lechner, Gene Goddard and Goldie Vincent are absent this week on account of sickness.

Mrs. Haynes, the Dom. Art teacher, was absent from her duty last Friday because of a bad cold, but the girls did all they could without her.

The B. H. S. girls and boys are going to play a very interesting game with the Vancouver Deaf and Dumb School next Friday evening, March 9, 1917, at 7:30 o'clock.

A large attendance at the basketball game Friday night would be greatly appreciated by all the H. S. students.

The students of the English II class are greatly enjoying Irving's Sketch Book.

Be at hand Friday night at 8 P. M. to see Beaverton High win a good game.

Vivian missed Roy's smiling face Monday, as he was not at school.

The Beaverton High School students are expecting a visit from the mutes of Vancouver Friday afternoon. A very noisy time is anticipated by all. Return basketball games will be played Friday night by both the girls and boys.

The regular monthly tests are now over and, as usual, with good results. The monthly fire drill was "pulled" off Monday with great alacrity.

The neighborhood seems to be infected with "mumps" and "chicken pox." Only two cases have been reported here.

How the mumps are turning out. After an absence of about three weeks Francis Livermore has returned.

Elnathan Sweet is having a vacation on account of the mumps. His return is expected in about three weeks.

BIG FIRE DRILL

Beaverton High School had its monthly fire drill at 1 P. M. Monday, March 5, 1917.

MR. LIVERMORE RETURNS

The students of Beaverton High School were all overjoyed Monday morning to see Francis Livermore in his old seat. Mr. Livermore has been absent for the last two weeks with mumps. He is one of the well known forwards on the basketball team. Many Beavertonians have seen his brilliant play.
