A READER'S OPINION.

The following verse was given us as a reader's opinion of our efforts. This reader is so modest as to wish her name withheld, but Beaverton people will probably be able to recognize the author by the merit of the verse:

Lives there a man with soul so dead,
That has not to his neighbor said,
"Have you seen the resurrected, reconstructed Beaverton Times?"
Then with him join that bustling throng
And to the office haste along.
And lay your big, round dollars down
And help the paper boost the town.

RECEIPTS AT STOCK YARDS BELOW NORMAL.

Conditions Steady, Cattle Better Quality, Hogs Are Strong and Sheep Bring Top Prices.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 8.
General conditions in the Union Stock Yards are steady with some indications of advances, but no weak spots. The receipts are a little below normal for the week's opening, carrying 1900 cattle, 1500 hogs and 1600 sheep.

Cattle.—The string of cattle entering the yards for the week's opening shows a better per cent of quality stuff than the previous week. Some choice steers for their class, being grass-fed, were found in the market this week and changed hands at 9.00. Some signs of strength were shown in the cattle department over the close of last week and more particularly in the high-grade classes of stock. Some fairly good cows were sold on the market Monday morning at 7.10 to 7.25. Disregarding the fact that cattle sold some stronger than at the close of the week, we are carrying a steady quotation which we believe to be low on the basis of the sales: Best Steers $9.00—$9.50; Good Steers, $7.00—$9.00; Good Cows, $6.00—$7.00; Ordinary, $4.00—$5.00; Heifers $6.50—$7.50; Calves, $7.00—$9.50; Bulls, $4.50 to $6.75; Stks and Fils, $4.00 to $7.25.

Hogs.—A substantial strength was shown in the hog market this week opening when the general belief was expressed that the low water mark had been passed and that the preservation of the industry requires a profit making basis for the hog producer. The general range of prices on the Portland market for the current season has been such as to guarantee a fair profit and encouragement to hog raisers. Today's quotation is: Prime Light, $16.00 to $16.25; Prime Heavy, $15.85 to $16.00; Bulk, $16.00—$16.25.

THE BANK OF BEAVERTON
Beaverton, Oregon

Pigs, $14.00—$14.50.
Sheep—Conditions continue steady in the sheep department with fair shipments and ready transactions. Most of the lambs offered crossed the scales at the top of the quotations in their class and all of the wethers changed hands at the top of the quotations which we believe indicates a healthy tone to the sheep market in general. The shipment of breeding ewes continues strong with a correspondingly strong demand. The following quotations obtain: Yearlings, $12.50—$13.00; Wethers, $12.00—$13.00; Ewes, $8.50—$10.50; Western Lambs, $14.00—$14.50; Valley Lambs, $13.50—$14.00; Breeding Ewes, $12.00—$13.00 per head.

Red Cross Meeting.

of the administration in the smallest detail. He was given hearty applause.

Mrs. Gillingham's address was very brief but is was worthy of the high place she has won as a Red Cross worker. In substance she told of the supplies needed, outlined the different Red Cross memberships, told of the magazine and of the money needed for fighting death through the Red Cross and of the supplies that can be secured only through the co-operation of the patriotic women of America. Then she spoke of the Christmas packages for the boys in the trenches, told how the Portland district is now short 500 boxes in its quota and how the strenuous effort was necessary to reach the quota assigned of 5500 boxes.

Mrs. Dunbar outlined her work of the Red Cross in the fight against tuberculosis. From the sale of seals 10 per cent goes to the Red Cross and 90 per cent stays in the state for the fight here. She told how 150,000 men have been taken from the front-line trenches in France because of tuberculosis and how there are 300,000 cases of the dread disease in France alone. Then coming nearer home she told how six doctors in Portland are giving half of their time to the work in Vancouver Barracks and although the number of cases there is the lowest in America, it claims 2 per cent of the men who come to the army. Oregon has a local problem and only by strenuous efforts to combat it can we prevent the conditions that prevail in France from becoming true here. Both speakers were loudly cheered.

Mr. Gordon told how 32 per cent of the wounded died from want of care and gradually told how he was in France when the war broke out, how he had seen the French people prepare for the struggle, how the Red Cross cared for the wounded French and German soldiers, side by side, in the same hospital without favor or preference. Slowly he led his hearers to the picture of the suffering that war brings home and pictured before them the awful scenes which, as an army aviator in the Lafayette Escadrille, he had seen with his own eyes. A rapt audience gave him breathless attention until the close, when subdued but prolonged applause gave evidence of the seriousness with which Beaverton people had come to see the horrors of war.

TAGLIAMENTO RIVER
CROSSED BY TEUTONS

Increased Pressure Against Northern Wing of Italian Army.

Berlin, via London.—Austro-German troops have crossed the middle Tagliamento river in northeastern Italy and taken 6000 prisoners, the war office reports. They are advancing toward the west.

The Italians have evacuated the entire line along the river to the Adriatic coast.
Conflagrations, the German statement adds, indicate that the route being taken by the retreating Italians is between the mountains and the sea through the upper Italian plain.
The official statement says that from the Felka valley to the Colbricon, north of the Sugana valley, the Italians are retreating. (This region includes the front along the Dolomites and the Carnic Alps.)

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy.—Crossing of the Tagliamento at Pinzano by a considerable force of the enemy should not be a surprise as this has been foreseen from the heavy pressure the Austro-Germans were concentrating on the Italian left wing. The river Tagliamento is only one of a series of defenses. Its main purpose was to retard the enemy advance and to gain time for the Italians in which to rehabilitate and concentrate.

The Tagliamento has served that useful purpose and the enemy now is faced by another main line of defense and other water courses. What line the Italians have chosen for their final stand cannot be indicated.

GERMANS RETREAT FROM AISNE FRONT

Paris.—France won a great and bloodless victory in a sweeping advance following a German retirement from all of the Chemin des Dames line between the Oise and Aisne canal on the west.

The captures of the French soldiers since September 23, it was officially announced, have totaled 200 heavy guns, 220 trench mortars and 720 machine guns. In 10 days, from October 21 to 30, 23 German airplanes were brought down and 23 forced to descend badly damaged.

The German retirement and the resultant French advance brings the envelopment of Laon, key city in the Hindenburg Siegfried line, very close. The city is now less than seven miles distant from the new French lines—within range of heavy guns.

The ridges of the Chemin des Dames have cost the German crown prince almost as many men as did his assaults against Verdun and as with the French citadel, have gained him nothing. His present retirement was a foregone conclusion when the French broke in the corner at the extreme westward end of the Chemin des Dames, threatening his flank.

GERMAN WARSHIPS SUNK

Auxiliary Cruiser, Commerce Raider and Ten Patrol Boats Destroyed.

London.—The German auxiliary cruiser, Marie of Flensburg, a commerce raider, the Crocodile, and 10 armed patrol craft were sunk by British destroyers operating in the Baltic, an arm of the North Sea, between Sweden and Denmark.

The Marie, a 5000-ton vessel, equipped with six-inch guns, met the British destroyers 12 miles north of Kullen. She immediately opened fire, which was answered by the destroyers. In 10 minutes the Marie was ablaze. Of the 81 members of her crew, the dispatch says, 20 were killed and the others took to the boats.

It is understood the Marie was accompanying a number of patrol-boats, including the Crocodile, which sank after an explosion. No British losses have been reported.

Wisconsin Teachers Deplore Course.

Milwaukee.—Resolutions deploring Senator La Follette's course in the war crisis and emphatically declaring confidence in President Wilson were adopted by the Wisconsin Teachers' association convention at the closing session of the annual meeting.

Shaniko is a claimant for liberty loan laurels. Without wishing to underrate the performance of Powers which averaged subscriptions of $10 for each man, woman and child, and was accorded highest rank in the United States, Shaniko calls attention to the fact that with less than 300 population it contributed $52,200 or $174 for each inhabitant of the community.

In the belief that the grade of the old Oregon-Washington railroad may be used as the basis for a water-level road from Pendleton to Echo, a number of Pendleton business men and farmers have started a move to have the state highway commission locate the state road between these two towns so that it will pass over the right of way, down the Umatilla river instead of over the hill where the present road lies.

That the Horsefly Irrigation project which originally was created to irrigate 16,000 acres of rich land in Lanell and Yonah valleys, about 20 miles east of Klamath Falls, by the installation of a dam at the head of Miller creek in Horsefly valley, will now be divided into about three separate units, and each unit proceed on its own private enterprise, was practically decided at a meeting of the members of the district held at Bonanza.

To correct an error made when he attempted to appoint members of the state board of vocational education before the law authorizing such board was effective, Governor Withycombe has reappointed the board members with one change. He appointed C. F. Adams of Portland to serve in place of W. R. Ayer, food administrator.

Other members are Mrs. George McMath and E. J. Stack of Portland, Mrs. Charles H. Castner of Hood River, and J. A. Churchill, superintendent of public instruction.

The big reservoir of the Tumalo irrigation project in central Oregon is pronounced a failure in a report made to the state desert land board by a commission of engineers appointed to investigate the project. The engineers recommended that water be procured from the Deschutes river to irrigate the lands in the project. This would involve a cost of $340,000, they estimate. Leakage, due to bad breaks, and slow percolation make the present Tumalo reservoir useless for storage purposes, the report claims.

EFFORTS OF CITIZENS CENTER ON CORN SHOW

Different Organizations Work for Big Exhibition.

Now the efforts of the Lane county pomona grange, the Chamber of Commerce and the Eugene business men are centered on one of the largest corn shows to be held in the northwest, to be staged at Eugene, December 11, 12 and 13.

At a recent meeting of the committee from the Chamber of Commerce and the grange, it was decided that this year is the logical time for holding a big corn show. The reasons advanced by the committee were that a great deal of interest had been created in the show held in Eugene last year, and it would be a mistake not to hold a show this year to further these interests, also that people were looking more favorably on corn as a crop because it has come through this year with flying colors over late seeded crops, demonstrating its value as a crop for feed in Western Oregon.

So much corn has been planted in Western Oregon, and so much interest has been shown in corn, says J. H. Kake, of the Chamber of Commerce committee, that he cannot help but believe that a corn show will do a great deal of good in directing interests along right channels in improving seed, varieties, etc., besides giving this section of Oregon a good start in making a name for itself as a corn growing center of the Northwest.

A corn show is a powerful factor in the movement for more and better corn, and everybody can afford to get behind the movement, says C. D. Rorer, president of the show, and he hopes a great many will assist by bringing in samples and help make this a big event of the year.

Rules and regulations will be announced later, says Mr. Rorer, and just now every grower should be making an effort to select the best ear, ten ear and bushel sample.

ORDNANCE STUDENTS WILL JOIN COLORS BY NOV. 12

Prof. C. C. Jeremiah is so notified by War Department.—New Class November 19.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Nov. 5.—Students in the ordnance class who are now completing their course of instruction in the school of commerce will be on their way to the government arsenal at San Antonio, Texas, by November 12. This positive assurance has just been received by Prof. C. C. Jeremiah, director of the ordnance stores course, in a telegram from the war department at Washington.

Prof. Jeremiah is authorized to enlist the men individually as fast as they complete their work, as each man will entrain for San Antonio immediately following his enlistment. The war department considers it inadvisable to enlist the men in a body.

This means that as soon as the class returns to the campus from its visit to the industrial plants at Portland on November 5, 6, and 7, the members will take their final examinations and be mustered into the federal service. Prof. Jeremiah believes that the details of examinations and mustering in can be completed by Saturday, November 10, so that the entire class of 50 men who have been recruited from various parts of the Pacific coast will become a unit of the national defense service at the earliest moment.

Meanwhile, arrangements are being completed for the organization of the second ordnance class in the school of commerce. More than 150 applications were received from volunteers in all the states west of the Rocky mountains, but the war department insisted that the class be limited to 50 men, the same as the first class. Prof. Jeremiah has selected 50 of the applicants for membership in the class and as soon as their replies to his notifications are received the men will be called to Eugene to begin their work. Selections were made on a basis of previous experience in accounting work and on educational qualifications. It is planned to begin the instruction courses for the second class on Monday, November 19.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Nov. 5.—A new educational exhibit enclosed in five velvet-lined, steel trunks has been sent out by the extension division of the University to the towns on the southern circuit. The exhibit forms a part of the visual instruction series organized this year by the extension division and available to any school in the state.

Each of the five trunks contains two cases, one of which shows the products in various stages of growth or completion, and the other illustrates and explains the subject by means of a series of hinged panels.

For this week and next week the cases are distributed as follows: 1. Extracts, Cottage Grove; 2. Parts of the Electric Perculator and Flat Iron, Drain; 3. The Manufacture of Yeast, Oakland; 4. and 5. Insurance, Roseburg. At the end of next week the exhibit will be forwarded to Grants Pass, Central Point, Ashland, and Jacksonville, thus completing the southern circuit. Upon its return to the University it will be transferred immediately to one of the other five circuits of the state.
