WASHINGTON COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

Public School News.

The new Victrola has arrived and is doing its share in dispensing good cheer.

The textbook carried home haven't forgot the "big time at Hillsboro" of last year.

In February the second art contest will be staged. There will be fun this time as cartooning is the branch of drawing now under study. Don't be surprised. Mutt and Jeff will be there in all their glory and Jiggs and Maggie have also accepted the invitation to be present.

Catherine Welter is presiding at the organ this week. Her collection of patriotic and Southern melodies is enjoyed by all.

A large number of the students took in the big debate last Friday night at the high school. It was highly appreciated, even Earl E. Fisher, well pleased with the good work being done by the public school this term, surprised the students with a basketball for their amusement and enjoyment.

Old Glory "flies at the mast" every day this spring. We ought to have a new flag, as the one now flung to the breeze on sunny days is quite worn.

Rose Wetherell of Sumpter, Oregon, is the latest student to join the seventh grade, while her little sister is in the primary department. Miss Wetherell is an excellent student.

met defeat, but played good games throughout. The girls played the champion team of the county high school and owing to their opponents being both larger and swifter, they were outclassed, but showed excellent team work and knowledge of the game.

The boys played a swift and exciting game and expect to win the return game to be played in the near future.

The debate which was held in the local high school last Friday evening was won by the affirmative team from Forest Grove. Both teams displayed ability in argumentation, thorough preparation and careful research. The judges were from Reed College. The affirmative team from Beaverton will meet the Tillamook negative team at Tillamook tonight.

This is mid-term examination week and is a rather busy week for the students.

Miss Leiser, who has been a student in the Boston Conservatory of music for some time past, is organizing a glee club which promises to be a source of much pleasure to students and community.

The high school is much pleased by the return of Miss Lewis, a student who has been absent for a long term.

Two valuable students have been lost to the school as Mr. Cary and Mr. Sweet have left to enter other fields.

Della Allen has been absent several days. She has been much missed as she was to have rendered a solo in assembly.

The hot lunch is very appetizing these cold days, thanks to the progress of the domestic science class.

The girls are organizing a second basketball team and there will be numerous inter-class games.

Does Advertising Pay?

Does it pay to advertise? Here's a little evidence on the subject. Read it. Think it over. Then come and join the happy and prosperous company of people who are using The Times to its fullest extent and are making money thereby.

A few weeks ago Albert Fink had a team he wanted to sell. He put an advertisement in The Times. About the same time Mrs. Hattie Bruce went to Gresham to visit her son. He told her he wanted to buy another team. She came home and saw the ad in The Times. She had her brother go and look at the team. It was good and she wrote to Mr. Miller. He came over and bought the team, taking it home with him. This sale was wholly due to a Times advertisement that cost only fifty cents.

Stroud & Tucker advertised 50 acres for rent on shares. Saturday they received two long distance telephone calls in addition to local inquiries and mail replies. Extensively as they have used this paper, they report that they have not advertised any one item that has not brought replies.

Last week Cady-Pegg Co. decided to close out. They told you about it through The Times. This week you have been buying from them the real bargains they are offering. You have profited and so have they. This week they have another message for you. They are shrewd business men. They wouldn't do this if it didn't pay.

You can always bank on the advertiser in the local paper. He has to make good on his promises. They are down in black and white. The man who puts a sign in his window can take it down. The man who merely talks can tell you that you misunderstood him or that your memory is bad. But the man who advertises in the local paper makes good his promises. Publicity encourages honesty, fairness and good business.

When are you going to join the company of the satisfied users of The Times?

Old Settler Lost His Well.

The recent heavy rains have reminded Earl E. Fisher of an experience he had several years ago when he was teaching over at Clipole, when the high waters of the Tualatin were on a rampage.

Early one morning on his way to school he noticed one of the patriarchs of the district out in his front yard, paddling around in a canoe. Every once in a while he would jab an oar down into the flood.

Fisher's curiosity overcame his bashful nature and he inquired:

"What are you trying to do—strike bottom?"

"No," came the answer from the boatman.

Pretty soon down went the oar again into the water and this time the query:

"Trying to find out how deep the water is?"

"No sir," again came the answer.

"Then what are you trying to do?"

"Well, sir, since this water got so high I have completely lost my well and I'm trying to find it."

St. Caecelia's School is progressing finely.

A comedy is being prepared by St. Caecelia's School for rendition on Tuesday evening preceding Ash Wednesday. After the play there will be a social time, followed by an old-time pancake social—all kinds of pancakes being served.

The program prepared by Superintendent Churchill for Arbor Day, Friday, February 8, has been distributed to the schools by County Superintendent Frost.

The first junior Red Cross organized in the county is at Middleton, where Mrs. Mary C. Dow and Miss Myrtle Strickler are in charge of the school. A full 100 percent membership is reported.

The eighth grade examining board are in session today and tomorrow. The results of the examinations recently held will be announced next week.

The county school superintendent desires that every citizen of the county should boost the movement underway to have the school children of Washington County invest in War Savings Stamps and to encourage others to do so as well.

This is the season when your horses, cows and hogs should be in the best of condition. The change from dry to green feed brings certain ills that annually cause great losses to the stock owners of this county. True conservation as well as your own interest demands that this should be avoided.
