WASHINGTON COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

Public School News.

The second installment of the State Traveling Library arrived this week and is now in circulation among Beaverton homes.

We regret to see Miss Sylvia Arnold leave our school. She was one of the bright students of our eighth grade and captain of the girl's basket ball team. Her future home will be Camas, Washington. Best wishes.

Holt Dietz, after a spirited election, has been chosen class treasurer for the eighth grade. He will serve without bonds.

The new Victrola records are on hand this week. The concert periods are being enlivened with new music.

The latest arrival for the seventh grade this week is Miss Alice DeGraff of North Plains, Oregon.

February 8 is the date of the second art contest. Cartooning, the most profitable phase of the drawing art, is to be on exhibit this time. The seventh grade students are endeavoring to improve the looks of Jiggs and Maggie, while the eighth grade interpret their art in likenesses of Mutt and Jeff. Sure, the cartoons do look fine.

Last Friday was "Clean-Up" day. The whole school helped to make the grounds have an A-No. 1 appearance. Two bonfires were built and the rubbish all disappeared.

Have you heard about our school bankers? Holt Dietz is treasurer of the eighth grade and Laura Fry is treasurer of the seventh grade. They act as cashiers in the new school bank and pupils bringing money to school for lunches and purchases to be taken home, receive an envelope, place their money in same, seal and endorse and hand to school bankers. The funds are placed in the "safe" under padlock and key. At 3:30 the safe is opened and the money is there. Some money has been lost in the past. This new system will solve the problem and is practical experience for the bankers.

A troupe of Jubilee Singers is being organized by Earl E. Fisher for the big entertainment to be given the latter part of February. There will be a big gang of "colored gentlemen" in town that night. The neighbor's chickens are beginning to roost high already.

The second oratorical contest of the year was staged last Friday afternoon. Every student in the seventh and eighth grades took part. The orations were grand and the delivery was excellent. It was the big event of the year. Miss Sylvia Arnold won the prize and medal for the eighth grade while Michael Welter was the modern Cicero of the seventh grade.

Miss Hazel Barnes is presiding at the organ this week. Her marches are fine for marching.

Miss Barnes possesses great talent in music. She had the honor of playing at the big spelling contest held on the Court House lawn at Hillsboro last spring.

When a houn' dog comes to school and begins to yelp, Cecil Emmons and Archibald Masters know how to get him started for home.

Answer to Last Week's Problem. If a man receives $1 for sawing a stick of wood into two pieces, how much ought he to receive for sawing it into three pieces? Answer: $2, for there is just twice the amount of sawing.

The thrift campaign in the schools is well under way. School children are investing freely in War Savings Certificates and Thrift Stamps. There is no better place to put small savings.

While we are saving and conserving, let us not neglect to "Give." It will be a grave mistake not to let the children have a part in the great relief programme which America is called upon to shoulder up. We are calling upon the schools to contribute to the Armenian Relief Fund an amount equal to two cents apiece for the number enrolled in the school. No pupil is asked to contribute more than five cents. This seems like a very modest contribution, but our idea is to respond to every legitimate call rather than to give so much to one that we do not feel able to give to others.

N. A. FROST, County School Superintendent.

High School Notes.

Miss Nelson gave the girls' gymnasium class at 3:10 Thursday afternoon instead of in the evening.

Miss Della Allen favored the assembly last Monday with one of her modern songs.

The students are so melancholy and sad. A great disaster has happened at our school! Four of our brightest students have completed their required number of credits and are leaving us forever! We certainly do hate to say goodbye to you, Leta, Beryl, Alton and Leroy. Do come back and see us once in a while. Won't you?

team and are getting some new yells and songs to cheer the boys when they are in the midst of the fray. Keep it up, boys, we are proud of you.

The B. H. S. debating team was defeated at Tillamook last Friday by the debaters of that school. The question debated was the government ownership of railroads. The negative was upheld by Miss Margaret LaLollette and Charles Lamb of Tillamook, while the affirmative was presented by the Misses Wilma Norris and Vivian O'Connor of Beaverton.

Loganberry Growers to Meet.

Orengo, Or., Jan. 29, 1918.

There will be a meeting of loganberry growers in Orengo Hall Saturday afternoon, Feb. 2nd, at 1:30 to discuss plants, planting, etc. A representative of the Pheasant Fruit Juice Company of Salem will be present to again explain their five-year contract to the growers. Orengo has been designated as one of their subpressing stations where berries will be received. Small acreage owners should keep in mind that the war will be over some day—likely before loganberries will begin to bear (second year) and many products that are now selling at exorbitant prices will be very cheap. We should not overlook a long-term contract at good prices.

Every land owner within ten miles of Orengo should attend this meeting. Be sure to tell your neighbors.

By order of Committee in charge.

Archie V. Rodman has been appointed an agent for Beaverton and vicinity for the war savings and thrift stamps by the Portland office of the Treasury department and will have charge of the distribution of the stamps through the efforts of the high and public schools to extend the sale of these revenue measures.

ADVISES LIGHT OIL FOR COLD WEATHER

"Ford owners would save themselves a whole lot of trouble in cold weather if they would use a good oil of light body refined from asphalt base crude," said F.H. Johnston for the Standard Oil Company, in discussing cold-weather lubrication yesterday.

"In the Ford motor, the clutch is combined with the engine and lubricated from the crank case. If the oil gets thick and sluggish in cold weather, the discs of the clutch stick together. This is what causes hard cranking and that persistent creeping forward as if the clutch were partly engaged.

"Now an oil refined from asphalt base crude flows freely down to zero. It has a natural zero cold test, because there is no paraffin to thicken in cold weather. Hence when such an oil is used there is no trouble with hard starting, inefficient lubrication, or sticky clutch."
