WHEATLESS BISCUITS.

Parched cornmeal is the feature of these excellent wheatless biscuits. First, the cornmeal—one-half a cup—is put in a shallow pan placed in the oven and stirred frequently until it is a delicate brown. The other ingredients are a teaspoon of salt, a cup of peanut butter and one and a half cups of water. Mix the peanut butter, water and salt and heat. While this mixture is hot stir in the meal which should also be hot. Beat thoroughly. The dough should be of such consistency that it can be dropped from a spoon. Bake in small cakes in an ungreased pan. This makes 15 biscuits, each of which contains one-sixth of an ounce of protein.

Beaverton and Hillsboro

WASHINGTON COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

Public School News.

Supt. N. A. Frost of Hillsboro visited our school last week. He gave us a splendid talk on the thrift stamp work and received a glad hand from the students.

Lowell Tallman and Lawrence Hughson have the chromatic scale for the cornet mastered and are beginning to play short numbers.

The first touch of real winter came February 1. Everybody enjoyed the old-time sports of snowballing and washing faces. Bertha Pennington has been teaching the girls some interesting games for rainy days in the basement this week during the recreation periods.

The flag for the school is quite worn and a plan for getting a new one is being devised. A bright new flag, flying from the flagpole, will improve the appearance of the building and heighten the patriotism of the pupils.

For the first time in two years a boy is presiding at the organ. His name is Myron Gray and from the way his fingers glide over the keys we know that he will be one of Beaverton's popular musicians in the near future.

We are pleased to note that during the cold stormy days of the past week when everything without was cold that each room in the public school was warm and cozy, thanks to the good work and forethought of our superintendent of grounds and buildings, John Summers.

The eighth grade reading class made an excellent record in memory work during the first semester. A total of 1359 lines have been memorized since the first of September. The seventh grade has memorized 1656 lines.

For the second semester oral reading will be inaugurated with special emphasis on (a) position, (b) pronunciation and (c) expression. Written routines will be combined with the oral lesson and these will feature the biographical and historical lights.

The first debate of 1917-18 will be held the first of March. The question is: "Resolved that the steamboat is more useful than the steam train. The affirmative will be upheld by the girls of the seventh and eighth grades with Miss Freda Zimbrick as leader, while Lambert Claassen will lead the negative forces with all the boys of the seventh and eighth grades as his colleagues.

County School Notes.

The Buxton school, Chester A. Lyon, principal, has had a Junior Red Cross since November. They made their own service flag with ten stars. They have also sent seven boxes to soldiers.

The Laurel Ridge school, Francis Sharp, teacher, organized a Junior Red Cross, January 28 with 100 per cent of the pupils enrolled. Several outside the school have joined. They are anxious to have something given them to do.

Melvin Goodin and Emma Josi of the Jackson school, Myrtle Walker, teacher, are the first candidates to report for the Rainbow Regiment. They have each sold $50.00 worth of War Savings Certificates and Thrift Stamps.

Chanston Coe and Mima Aydelott passed in the January eighth grade examination and have been awarded diplomas. Their names were omitted from the list last week.

The Washington County Teachers' Association has secured two speakers from abroad, also an educational moving picture film for their meeting at Beaverton, February 9. We are making these meetings of interest to school boards and patrons as well as teachers.

A map entitled, "The Kaiser's War Plans," is posted in every school in Washington County. This is a very interesting and instructive map and it will pay anyone to visit the school and take a good careful look at it.

What Influence Has Advertising on You?

Are you influenced by advertising?

It is a well-known fact among advertisers and advertising men that the public generally is reluctant to admit the influence of advertising. A man will go into a store and camouflage his intentions with a dozen excuses to prevent admitting to the merchant that he came in to get advertised goods. Yet he wears Knox hats, Keyser ties, Munsing or B. V. D. underwear, Florsheim shoes, and Kuppenheimer clothes, eats a patent breakfast food that costs four times as much and is neither as wholesome or as nourishing as plain oatmeal or graham mush, has Van Camp's pork and beans for lunch, drinks Ghirardelli's chocolate, Golden West coffee, or Muto or Bevo, and smokes Owl cigars and goes happily on his way imagining that he is master of his own soul when in reality he is ordering his very life in conformity with certain standards which someone had nerve enough to advertise and foresight enough to profit by the result.

If you are one of the people who are never influenced by advertising, just take the time to-night to check over your wearing apparel, the furnishings of your home, the groceries that furnish your table, the tools you work with and the pleasures you indulge in and see how many advertised articles you really use and how many of them you really could not do without.

If you will do this faithfully, you will only be honest with yourself if you take the advertising of the home merchant in the home paper and profit by the news you will find therein, for after all, advertising is only store news published in an economical and convenient way.

CORN WILL WIN DEMOCRACY'S WAR

America's Greatest Cereal Crop
Is Now Moving to Market.

MAINSTAY IN NATION'S CRISIS.

Surplus Wheat of the United States
Has Been Sent to Famine Threatened Europe.

America's great corn crop, exceeding 3,000,000,000 bushels, will save the world's food situation, officials of the United States food administration believe.

Corn is the nation's best food cereal, housewives are beginning to realize. It contains all the elements needed to keep the body in a state of health and when used according to the scores of tried recipes, especially when combined with an added portion of oil or fat, will sustain life indefinitely. Indian warriors in colonial days lived on parched corn alone for many days at a time, and at Valley Forge parched corn was at times the sole ration of the Continental soldiers.

Owing to transportation difficulties caused by the war the corn crop moved more slowly to market this year than ever before. Now, however, the cereal is reaching the millers and consumers in the meantime the nation's surplus wheat has been sent to Europe.

Today there are approximately 30 bushels of corn for every American. This quantity is greater by five bushels than in former years.

Corn has become the nation's mainstay in the crisis of war.

Just as this cereal saved the first American colonists from famine on many occasions, just as it served as a staple food during the War of the Revolution and during the Civil War, King Corn has again come to the front in the nation's battle with autocracy.

Corn meal is finding greatly increased use in the making of ordinary white bread. Hundreds of housewives and many of the larger bakers are mixing 20 per cent corn meal with wheat flour to make leavened bread. This kind of a mixture is worked and baked in the same recipes and with the same methods that apply to straight wheat bread.

Corn bread—using corn meal entirely—is gaining a greater popularity than ever before. Housewives are coming to realize that every pound of wheat saved in America means a pound of wheat released for shipment to the nations with which America is associated in the war.

There are a score of corn products that today possess unusual importance for Americans. Corn syrup for sweetening corn cakes and buckwheat cakes and for use in the kitchen instead of granulated sugar is one of the leading products made from corn.

Corn oil, excellent for frying and for every other purpose filled by salad oils, is appearing on the market in large quantities. It comes from the germ of the corn.

MADE-IN-GERMANY LIES CIRCULATED IN CANADA

Canada is also having trouble with Made-in-Germany lies circulated to hinder Canadian food conservation according to an official statement received from the Canadian food controller by the United States food administration.

The stories bothering Canada are of the same general character as those the United States food administrator recently denounced in this country, such as the ridiculous salt and bluing famine tales and the report that the government would seize housewives' stocks of home canned goods.

The Canadian food controller estimates that when the people listen to and pass on such stories, each one has the power of destruction that lies in a battalion of soldiers.

"Stories without even a vestige of foundation have been scattered broadcast," said the Canadian statement. "Nor have they come to life casually. They have started simultaneously in different parts of the country and in each instance have been calculated to arouse public indignation."

"They are insidious, subtle, persistent. Hit by hit they dissipate public trust, the most essential in the work of food control."

"It lies with every individual to forbear from criticism; to refrain from passing on the variant and harmful story, and thus the more effectively to cooperate in work which is going to mean more than the majority of people yet realize."

THE UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION SAYS:

There is no royal road to food conservation. We can only accomplish this by the voluntary action of our whole people, each element in proportion to its means. It is a matter of equality of burden; a matter of minute saving and substitution at every point in the 20,000,000 kitchens, on the 20,000,000 dinner tables, and in the 2,000,000 manufacturing, wholesale and retail establishments of the country.

Speaks Well of Davis Family.

S. H. Davis has received a letter from R. C. Bakewell, a prominent attorney of Plankinton, S. Dak., the old home of the Davis family. The letter is largely a matter of business, but one paragraph, referring to the entrance of Leon Davis into the service, is of interest to the public:

"I was very glad to hear from you and you certainly must be proud of your boy, although you will miss him and long for him until he returns. It is a great war and a great cause and while it is hard to see our boys going into danger it is the way of the world and those of us who go are simply doing our little part in discharging the obligation which we all owe to those who founded and created our government. Your boy is living out the traditions of his family and I am sure he will discharge his duties with honor to himself and his father. He wouldn't be a Davis if he didn't."
