Received a Car of Chevrolets.

Bernard & Stipe, enterprising Chevrolet dealers, received a car of this popular automobile Monday and have been busy the balance of the week arranging for the unloading, inspecting and storing of these popular cars. It is the last carload shipment that they can secure from the Oakland distributing depot for the Chevrolet, which indicates a shortage of the popular "490" before the season is over, although there are stocks of considerable size in both Portland and Forest Grove.

Of the cars received, one was a delivery car and has been sold to Julius Hendricks who will use it in conveying his crops of asparagus and general produce to Portland markets. The other five are for the stock of the firm.

WASHINGTON COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

SCHOOL NEWS FROM ALL OVER WASHINGTON COUNTY.
Gathered by N. A. FROST, County Superintendent.

The following named school children have each sold over $50 worth of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps since last week's report and are entitled to membership in the Rainbow Regiment: Mary J. Huribert, Dist. No. 22, Middleton; Beatrice Brown, Dist. No. 3, Laurel; and Valois Hughes, Dist. No. 89, Hayward.

The Reedville school, Mrs. Keen, teacher, gave a program and social Saturday evening, raising $45.60 to be used in Red Cross work. The Junior Red Cross has been organized and proposes to take over the Industrial Club work.

A program and social at Witch Hazel school, Miss Walker, teacher, raised $53 for Red Cross work. Dr. Irwin of Hillsboro gave a lecture on Red Cross. The Parent-Teachers' Association of Witch Hazel plans and carries out their program with the aid of teacher and pupils.

The sixth grade of Hillsboro schools, Mrs. Hobbs, teacher, is contributing $5 monthly for the support of an Armenian child.

The literary society of the Thatcher neighborhood gave a pie social, the proceeds to be used for a new dictionary, flag, U. S. map, pencil sharpener, etc.

The prospects are that the spelling contest will be bigger than ever this year. There is still room for about 20 more schools to get into the contest. April 26 is the day of the "Big Contest" at Hillsboro.

We confidently expected to be able to report the teachers of Washington County 100 per cent members of the Red Cross, but out of 210 teachers we have five not reported members of the Red Cross.

Rayford Hall of Beaverton has purchased $82.13 worth of War Savings Stamps.

If you are a subscriber of the Woman's Home Companion, American Magazine and Every Week, renew your subscription to them through their Beaverton representative, R. L. Tucker, at Stroud & Tucker's office. New subscribers are solicited to subscribe this month.

High School Notes.

Not to be outdone, Misses Thesta Pegg as hostess and Carina Peterson, Mildred Watts, Margaret Scurlin and Clara Schaffner as guests, pupils of Miss Davies' room, gave the "Colonial Tea Party" in a way that revived thoughts of 140 years ago and linked them up with the present in a way we shall not soon forget.

Public School News.

The Washington County Teachers' Association will hold their monthly meeting at Sherwood, Saturday, March 9th.

The following is a list of school contributions to the Armenian relief which have been sent to the County School Superintendent's office. We are unable to make a complete list of those who have sent their contributions direct to the Armenian committee:

did humorous selections by Wilma Norris and Noreen Nelson, and when a high school young lady can win an encore from a mature audience with a recitation, as did Miss Norris, it is evidence that the program has had no ordinary preparation.

"The Color Faries," Georgiana Malarkey as red, Myrtle Johnson as queen, Imogene Hocken as green, Anabel Acklen, orange, Florence Brown, blue, Gladys Lindsay, violet, Geneva Barzee, white, and Ruth Lptegrove, yellow, won much praise for themselves, Georgiana Malarkey being exceptionally graceful in her bowing and other movements of her part in the exercise.

Not to be outdone, Misses Thesta Pegg as hostess and Carina Peterson, Mildred Watts, Margaret Scurlin and Clara Schaffner as guests, pupils of Miss Davies' room, gave the "Colonial Tea Party" in a way that revived thoughts of 140 years ago and linked them up with the present in a way we shall not soon forget.

A Dutch drill by eight girls from room 3, was cleverly done, and won sustained applause. The parts of boys were taken by Elva Ekstrom, Ernestine Masters and Angie Gretty. The girl's parts were sustained by Eva Whitworth, Ethel Dean and Bertha Maska.

But the climax of all was "Long Boy," sung by John Malarkey in costume. It literally "brought down the house." It was to have been a duet, but Lawrence Hughes had a cold. It probably was a good thing, for John got along so famously by himself that there would in all probability have been fatal

CAUSED BY WEIGHT OF SNOW

Simple Explanation of Odd Shapes of Trees, That Has Been a Mystery to Many.

To the person who is not versed in forest lore the grotesquely bent tree trunks that are to be found in almost all woods are mystifying, and wonder is often aroused as to the cause, remarks the Popular Science Monthly. Foresters will tell questioners that in the case of trees in mountainous country and other sections where the snowfall is heavy, the weight of snow is responsible in most instances for the queer twists they assume. When a tree is young the weight of snow that falls on its branches often bends the trunk over until it is flattened to the ground. Sometimes it is buried under six or eight feet of snow and held in that position so long that when warm weather comes the tree fails to spring back into its normal position. The summer sun causes the tip of the young tree to turn upward and if it manages to withstand the weight of the snow of the next winter, that portion of the tree will, as a general rule, continue to grow in a normal way. "Halpin" bends and other odd shapes result.

BECOMES IRKSOME AT TIMES

No Matter What the Nature of One's Occupation, Its Routine Will Occasionally Weary.

Are there times when your work becomes intolerably irksome? Yes? Well, don't jump at the conclusion that you are in the wrong place when this happens once in awhile. That will be true whatever work you choose. No matter how well adapted you are to your occupation, there will come times when your thoughts will wander, and the routine will weary you, and you will feel that any other work would be preferable to that which you have chosen. One of the best-known women writers of the last generation wrote an impassioned warning to literary aspirants, telling them to do any work, even scrubbing floors, in preference to taking up a literary career. Undoubtedly she wrote at a time when her chosen work seemed unappealingly irksome, but if she had been cornered, she would probably have acknowledged that the profession of authorship has considerable to commend it when compared with scrubbing floors.

This occasional impatience with our vocation is inevitable. No matter how congenial it is, there are times when it will seem a burden. The people who change their occupation every time it begins to bore them, are the tramps of the business world.

As to Remarkable Longevity. We have all read of Thomas Parr, who lived to be one hundred and fifty-two. Likewise of the countless of De-mond, one hundred and forty-five; Margaret Patten, one hundred and thirty-seven; Thomas Dammie, one hundred and sixty-four; John Rovin, one hundred and seventy-two; and Peter Torton, who reached the age of one hundred and eighty-five. But these cases of extraordinary longevity lack proof.

Winter's Discipline.

He who marvels at the beauty of the world in summer will find equal cause for wonder and admiration in winter. It is true the pomp and pageantry are swept away, but the essential elements remain—the day and the night, the mountain and the valley, the elemental play and succession, and the perpetual presence of the infinite sky. In winter the stars seem to have rekindled their fires, the moon achieves a fuller triumph, and the heavens wear a look of more exalted simplicity. Summer is more wooing, more versatile and human, appeals to the affections and the sentiment, and fosters inquiry and the art impulse. Winter is of a more heroic cast, and addresses the intellect. The severe studies and disciplines come easier in winter. One imposes larger tasks upon himself.

ities in the audience if it had been twice as funny.

The last number, Jubilee Singers, composed of grade school pupils led by Prof. Fisher, was good beyond description. Let a boy hide behind a disguise and a little burnt cork and he loses all his self-consciousness and appears at his best. There was Lester Fairweather as "Rastus" Cecil Emmons as Huckleberry Finn, Percy Fry as "Sambo" but what's the use of going further. They were all good. If we were to try to praise all who deserve it, we would run out of words. If you weren't there, we cannot make up to you the loss and if you were we don't need to.

Mrs. H. of Portland came to Beaverton today for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. F. W. Cady, and presented Mr. and Mrs. Cady with a beautiful service flag of red and white silk with one star in recognition of the enlistment of their son, Willis, in the radio service.

Miss Julia Carter, head nurse at the tuberculosis sanitarium at Bertha, is the guest of her sister Mrs. W. C. McKell, and their mother, Mrs. Carter.

E. E. Berst, Roy Berst, Geo. W. Stitt, Jas. I. Hoopes, A. M. Kennedy, Otto Erickson, Prof. Clarence Phillips, W. H. Boyd, Elmer Stipe and Doy Gray went to Hillsboro Wednesday night to attend the lecture on Free Masonry given by Robert Graham of Colorado. They report a good attendance from all surrounding communities. Forest Grove being particularly well represented.

William Hinchey returned last week from Idaho where he has been engaged in logging operations. He contemplates moving his family there as soon as the weather improves so that work can be resumed.

BISHOP BECOMES CHAPLAIN

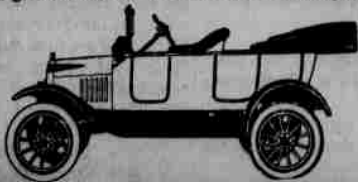

Bishop William P. Remington, who was rector of the St. Paul's church in Minneapolis for seven years and is well known in religious circles in the Northwest, is now serving as chaplain of a hospital unit at Fort McPherson, Ga. The photograph shows Bishop Remington in the uniform of the army.

What We Believe. If we all acted upon what we all believe, what a different world this would be. Everyone admits that it is more blessed to give than to receive. Yet instead of seeking happiness by giving of our best to those about us, we sit waiting for it to be brought to us through the kindness of others. We are like those who are learning to swim and though they know the water will bear them up if they follow directions, cannot bring themselves to let go. It is safe to trust to the truth that all believe, but so few act upon—Girl's Companion.

FORD

The Universal Car

It's no longer necessary to go into details describing the practical merits of the Ford car—everybody knows all about "The Universal Car." How it goes and comes day after day and year after year at an operating expense so small that it's wonderful. This advertisement is to urge prospective buyers to place orders without delay as the war has produced conditions which may interfere with normal production. Buy a Ford car when you can get one. We'll take good care of your order—get your Ford to you soon as possible—and give the best in "after-service" when required.
