

A SLACKER.

(By Miss J. A. Fitzgerald.)
I'm a true-born Yank and I'm proud of the same.
I boast that my ancestors here on the Mayflower came.

Some say I'm a slacker; I like
not the name,
As I think of most men I'm the wiser.

They tell me that I should have gone to the war.
But danger and hardship I truly
abhor;
I make them this promise each
day, o'er and o'er,
That some day I will kill the Kaiser.

I will not enlist as I like not to fight;
To go into danger I know is not right;
But if you're near my home in the late hours of night
You will hear me swear at the Kaiser.

With numerous flags all my windows I fill;
And say our German neighbors
at sight we should kill;
In my home I denounce them
with voice loud and shrill
To prove how do hate the Kaiser.

Our soldiers who are wounded
in battles each day;
To help them recover, not a cent
will I pay.
My wealth is my own, I have stored it away
And will hoard it all up like a miser.

Liberty Bonds have I bought?
No, not I;
To "Hooverize" foodstuffs I do not mean to try;
No War Savings Stamps will I
have my kids buy;
But I'll teach them to swear at the Kaiser.

Some day in the future when peace is proclaimed
And William the Second of his deeds feels ashamed,
He may come to this country for fear he'll be blamed
And to promise now he will be nicer.

I'll be the first one to greet him

when he crosses the seas,
In friendship I'll greet him to put him at ease:
I will deem it an honor to go down on my knees
And kiss the big wooden shoes
of the Kaiser.

The boys in France are keeping their pledge. The Kaiser is looking blue. If we all keep our pledge to use no unnecessary money or material it will be possible to keep the Huns on the run for a year or two years or until the Allies are masters in Berlin. Keep your pledge.

Experts Say

"ZEROLENE IS BETTER"

—because it holds better
compression, gives better protection to the moving parts and deposits less carbon.

Zerolene is the correct oil for all types of automobile engines—the correct oil for your automo-

STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(California)

The "T"-Head type engine, illustrated here, like all internal combustion engines, requires an oil that holds its lubricating qualities at cylinder heat, burns clean in the cylinders and goes out with exhaust. Zerolene fills these requirements perfectly, because it is correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude.
