HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Plans are under way among the members of the student body to carry out the proposed planting of trees in memory of the boys who enlisted in the service. An effort will be made to secure enough support from local organizations and individuals to grade the ground and plant the trees this spring.

Beaverton will play Milwaukie at basket ball tonight in the local gym. Washington's birthday was celebrated last Friday afternoon by appropriate exercises in each of the rooms.

Thursday the two primary rooms of the grade school held a tag day in honor of Longfellow's birthday, the funds to be used in purchasing books for the library suitable for the primary pupils. The tags sold especially well and a neat sum will be realized when all the reports are in. Miss Rossi and Miss Emmons, planned and carried out the event.

The manual training class is busily engaged on several projects. George Wilson is just completing a book case. Adelbert Spraner is building a writing desk. Raymond Ross, Albert Kemmer and Andrew Schoenboechler are building a carrier for the grade school phonograph.

The Dramatic Club is deeply concerned over the selection of a play to be given soon.

The fourth year English class is studying Hamlet.

Second year English students are developing the art of debate.

We have the promise of a new honor roll soon and the full number of stars on our service flags.

WRITES FROM CAMP DIX.

thank God it is over. In the last big smash on the Meuse river near the Argonne, the Yanks whipped the Boche until they ran like scared rabbits. We sure had our old battery roaring too, believe me.

I have several letters to write this A. M. so am going to say good bye for this time. Tell Dave I hope the cows are giving plenty of milk. Will write again just as soon as I learn something definite as to our movements.

Write soon, lots of love to all.

From your son,

H. F. S.

Coming Home Soon

One day last week F. L. Maass received a card from his son, William, who has been with the American forces in France. He was then at Camp Merritt, N. J. having arrived in New York, Feb. 3, and expects to get home soon.

Mr. Maass' other son, Vilroy, is on the U. S. S. Boogs at Mare Island. He recently started for New York but at San Pedro the destroyer broke down and put back for repairs. He expects to go to the Atlantic soon.

Mrs. Hattie Bruce is home from a visit with her daughter in Portland.

Prof. Patton, of Hillsboro, now principal at the Multnomah County Boy's Farm, was a visitor in Beaverton yesterday.

A. H. Spraner attended the automobile show Tuesday night.
