F. J. Haun, of Haun & Northrup of Mountinside was in Beaverton yesterday on business. Mr. Haun is the inventor of the Haun-Northrup Gravity Clutch Release, an attachment for the Fordson Tractor which prevents tipping. Otto Erickson, local Fordson dealer, has given the invention a thorough try-out and says he is absolutely sure the device will do the work, actually eliminating whatever measure of danger that may arise from careless operation of the tractor on sloping ground.

LOCAL NEWS

Miss Geline Goddard was out from Portland Saturday visiting Beaverton friends.

Charles Berthold popular and progressive feed merchant has added a new Ford delivery truck to his equipment and now adds to the comfort of his many customers by making deliveries to all the neighboring farms.

Dan Adams who was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital three weeks ago suffering from blood poisoning, has returned home and is progressing nicely toward recovery.

Mrs. B. R. Patton and children of Hillsdale left Saturday for Tillamook beaches where they will spend the summer in their cottage at Bar View.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. George Blosser, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Davis and Mesdames Lutie and E. J. Boring formed members of a party which motored to Wilhoit springs on Saturday evening and returned Sunday evening. They report a most enjoyable time.

W. H. Cady and son, Warren, of Aberdeen, Wash., drove down Sunday for a week's vacation to be spent with relatives here and at Hillsboro. Mr. Cady says there is a big oil boom on at Aberdeen and the Standard Oil Company is spending a lot of money putting down holes in the oil district. The prospects are excellent for the Aberdeen section to become one of the famous oil sections of America, as Mr. Cady says he has been reliably informed that it is never a policy of the Standard Oil Company to squander money on oil prospects until there is reasonable certainty that the oil will be forthcoming. This policy, and the fact that they are sparing no expense in the Aberdeen field, leads him to believe that the big corporation knows positively that the oil is there.

McManus Keene of Portland was a business visitor in Portland Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Summers have taken the apartment in the Rossi building formerly occupied by the Misses Fitzpatrick.

HONEY—5lb to 50lb lots at 30 cents per pound. See W. E. Squires. This honey is fresh from the hive and is gathered from Beaverton flowers.

Mrs. M. L. Hardingham of South Whitley, Ind., who has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hocken, and of other relatives and friends for the past two months, left for home early last week.

A. E. Kern, a prominent publisher and printer of Portland, motored out this way Tuesday with a party of friends, en route to Hillsboro. He has property interests in this section and was delighted to see the paving in Beaverton and the progress on the highway.

John Caldwell fell from a load of hay one day last week and broke several of his ribs. Dr. Mason reports good progress toward recovery.

Miss Florence Reusser, of Cooper Mountain, was the victim of a fall one day last week which resulted in a broken right arm. Dr. Mason reduced the fracture.

Mrs. W. E. Squires. Lester has made good use of his time while in the army and has saved about $400 salary earned and mileage allowed at his discharge. Not a bad record for thrift.

D. B. Cooley, of Laurel, John Kirkwood, of Reedville and D. G. Lilly, of Forest Grove, members of the Federal Land Board, were in town Saturday looking up several applications for farm loans from farmers in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Pharis have traded their Oswego property for the Carl Johnson property which Mr. and Mrs. Pharis have been occupying in Beaverton. Mr. Johnson, whose home is in La Fayette, secures the Oswego property.

John Peterson and family and H. M. Barnes and wife last week went to Enterprise to spend two weeks as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tallman. Mrs. Tallman and Mrs. Barnes are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Peterson.

A. M. (Bert) Hocken has been a busy man the past few weeks. After finishing the basement contract for Weil's new store at Hillsboro, he was low man on the bid for the big new store building, but the mercantile firm and their bankers thought all bids too high and sought to get a strangle hold on the high cost of building by getting a bit of experience of their own. They rejected all bids and let the contract to a Portland firm on a cost-plus basis. So Mr. Hocken has turned his attention to some of the other jobs he has under way and is rushing them to completion. He is just finishing a five-room-bungalow for Mr. Walsh at Aloha and has work well along for a very fine five-room bungalow for Charles Tohlen at Progress. He has men rushing along a fine Dutch Colonial house in the Laurelhurst section, Portland's popular residence district. It has kept him going so rapidly that he has about worn out his car but he thinks he can run it until Stipe & Bernard can get that new Chevrolet Baby Grand here for his use.
