Beaverton 10—Woodstock 8

In a game filled with hits, thrills and runs, the local ball tossers Sunday afternoon had the long end of a 10 to 8 score with the Woodstock team. The game see-sawed back and forth for eight innings, first one team and then the other in the lead, but in the eighth the Beaverton boys took the lead and held it throughout the ninth. The visitors were a gentlemanly lot of fellows, played snappy ball, and were clean players, the kind of a team which it is a pleasure to contend with and an honor to defeat. Manager Kamberger and the home boys are high in their praise of the attitude of the visitors. It was no easy victory and it was only "inside baseball," in which the older heads and better training of the locals excelled, that enabled them to keep the laurels at home.

Beaverton is getting on her prosperity clothes.

Vacation and summer are half over with the passing of July.

South Dakota Growers Tell O. A. C. That Advertising Makes Them Good Money

Newspaper advertising of farm products is practiced more generally in other Western states than in Oregon, say the agricultural college press bulletins. The Idaho University press bulletins say that many farmers advertise in their local papers and do not consider the cost a waste of money. The news bulletins of South Dakota college wrote letters to nearly 100 farmers, asking them to give their experience with local newspaper advertising. Some of the answers follow:

"We have been so successful in advertising our seed grains that next year we plan to erect a new granary and get more equipment to clean and handle grain. We must have a new truck."—Hillcrest Farm, Clark, S. Dak.

"We have found that it pays to use the local papers. The best success is with using those that cover our natural selling territory."—Bevings Farms, Highmore.

"We have been so successful in selling young pigs through local papers that we have been unable to keep up with the demand."—J M Tucker, Edgemont

"Yes, it pays to let people know what you have to sell. People believe an advertisement since they think the editor stands good for its being true."—M A Slocum, Ipswich.

"I am sure it paid me to advertise in the local and farm papers. Perhaps a neighbor may want just what you have to sell, and the way to let him know is to advertise it."—Chas. P. McPherson, Sturgis.

"I am sure it paid me to advertise in the local and farm papers. Perhaps a neighbor may want just what you have to sell, and the way to let him know is to advertise it."—Chas. P. McPherson, Sturgis.

"A small ad in our local paper sold all our pure bred eggs for hatching. Yes, I am certainly in favor of advertising."—Bright Side Farm, Lily.

CADY-PEGG CO.

Miss Jennie Moulin has greatly improved the appearance of her place here by giving the house a new coat of paint. This improvement, coupled with the fixing up of the old John Spies place, adjoining the Moulin property, which was thoroughly overhauled by Mr. Brobeer before he sold it to C. E. Allen, the present owner and new station agent at the S. P. depot, has so greatly enhanced the appearance of Sixth street as to make it one of Beaverton's attractive home sections. There is room for a few more houses on this street and some dweller in the congested city districts could do well by buying and building on one of these lots.

Mrs. E. M. Phelan and daughter, Miss Pauline, accompanied by her brother, W. H. Maass, who was discharged from his service last March, have been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Maass of west of Beaverton for the past two weeks and will spend the summer here. Mr. Maass, Jr., was with the Fortieth Engineers, Camouflage Section and got nearly to Luxemburg while on overseas duty. He passed through the trying battles of Chateau Thierry and the Argonne Forest, as well as other lesser engagements and had some very thrilling experiences. He says that the low casualty lists from the camouflage section was due to the fact that as soon as the American gunners had once dislodged the German guns, the doughboys never gave them time to set up the guns again. Thus the Americans were spared the grilling fire which the slower-moving European armies had had constantly to contend with. Like all other heroes of the battlefronts, he adroitly leads the conversation away from the events in which he had a part, contenting himself with the casual remark that had we been in it, we would have been glad to get out again.
