VOLUME VII

BEAVERTON, OREGON, FRIDAY, AUGUST 8, 1919.

No. 31

ROSSI-DEBBIO.

At St. Cecilia's church yesterday morning, Father O'Neill officiating, Sam Rossi and Mrs. Del Debbie were married at 8 o'clock with mass.

Mrs. Debbie came here recently from Sacramento and has been visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity and has made many acquaintances here who will welcome her as a resident and citizen of Beaverton.

Mr. Rossi was recently discharged from Uncle Sam's army and has been a resident of Beaverton since June, when he started the Beaverton restaurant.

They will make their home in apartments in the Rossi building over the restaurant, which Mr. Rossi has recently furnished for his bride.

Beaverton Boy on Portland Ship.

Ralph Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Watts of Beaverton, has accepted a position and signed up with the Shipping Board as an oiler on the West Harshaw, a Portland-built boat, and will sail about the 10th of the month for some port in Europe.

This will be a great experience for Ralph, will give him the opportunity of seeing the world and at the same time will permit him to learn a useful and valuable trade.

Dancing Party Sunday.

In honor of his wedding which occurred yesterday, Sam Rossi is giving a dancing party in Morse Hall, Sunday for which he has issued invitations to his many friends. Because of the nature of the affair, admission will be by invitation only, but Sam is particularly happy this week and is liberal with the invitations, so if you haven't an invitation but want to dance, just call at the restaurant and he will supply you at once. The hall will be open at 2 o'clock.

W. J. Alexander Surprised.

Saturday evening a number of the friends and neighbors of W. J. Alexander of west of Beaverton, sprang a surprise on him, reminding him that his 78th birthday had arrived. The surprise was complete when 30 or more friends arrived and began making the Alexander home ring with merriment as music and dancing recalled the days of his youth. Mr. Alexander was equal to the occasion and joined in the dancing with the youngest of them. He was the recipient of many beautiful presents, a smoking set turned out of Oregon maple by W. A. Smith being particularly admired.

Regular Services at M. E. Church.

Regular services, both morning and evening, will be resumed at the Methodist church Sunday, Rev. and Mrs. Gray having returned from the camp-meeting of the Oregon Holiness Association in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lockstrom and son, accompanied by Mr. Lockstrom's father, C. J. Lockstrom, of Salina, Kansas, came out for a visit with the family of E. E. Swenson, formerly neighbors in the sunflower state. Mr. Lockstrom and family have been on the road since the 7th of June and have visited all the principal cities en route. They made the trip overland in their car. Another son accompanied them on a part of the trip but turned back at Seattle in order to accept a position at home.

Chas. Robin of Salem has accepted a position as warehouseman for the Standard Oil Company at Beaverton, the business which F. H. Johnston has established here having grown so fast as to require this additional help. Mr. Robin has rented the Mrs. Alexander house north of the starch factory and will move his family here from Salem in the near future.

W. P. McGee has been taking advantage of buyers' week to get his stock of goods enlarged. He has been in Portland boosting along the delivery of his merchandise.

Vincent Fitzpatrick went to Monmouth Wednesday where he will cut meat in the butcher shop of one of his oldtime friends.

W. E. Squires returned Monday from a ten-day vacation spent at Aberdeen, Wash. He went up with W. E. Cady when the latter returned home from his visit here, and took in all the old excitement in the coming metropolitan Southwest Washington. He has many a good word to say for the excellent roads of that progressive community.

Sunday School Entertained.

Miss Ruth Cady entertained the Congregational Sunday School at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Cady, Wednesday night, in honor of the completion of the work which she has been doing with her class of boys during the vacation season.

A delightful social time was enjoyed by about eighty of the members of the Sunday School. Delicious refreshments were served and all expressed regret that Miss Cady is so soon to leave the Sunday School to return to her high school position at Turner.

The primary class, Mrs. H. M. Barnes, teacher, won the honors of a contest, which has been running for several weeks and were the guests of honor.

Misses Crete Gray and Edna Hocken with instrumental solos and Miss Vena Gaskill with readings added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

Paving Nears Aloha.

Fairly good progress was made on the highway the past week in spite of scarcity of material and a number of now laid nearly to Aloha and the contractor expresses hope that the acute shortage of material will be relieved and that regular progress can be made in the future.

A. Jacobson of Cooper Mountain was a Beaverton visitor Saturday. He reports threshing just beginning in his section and crops yielding very well.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Carty of Ridgefield, Wash., were here Sunday for a visit with Mrs. Carty's mother, Mrs. Joseph Fitzpatrick, and family. After their wedding here last month, they made a short wedding trip to Puget Sound points before going to their home at Ridgefield.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Schoene, who bought the Gevurtz place south of Beaverton recently, were in town on Tuesday, getting acquainted with our merchants and doing some shopping. Mr. Schoene, who is a salesman for the Beaver Engraving Co., of Portland is enjoying his vacation on the new home.

Earl Fisher and Robert J. Hocken have always been rather proud of the speed they could attain on foot, but they are not boasting much of their prowess along that line since one day last week the story got out of their exploit while cutting oats on the field north of the Hocken grove. It seems that a young jackrabbit was in the oat field and when the harvester began work he kept moving toward the center of the patch. The harvesters soon caught sight of him and think it was a young fawn, took particular pains to catch it before the machine should run over and cripple it. But the jackrabbit was somewhat of a disappointment, so they tied his hind legs together and turned him loose in the stubble until quitting time. But when they went to pick him up he started for freedom and in spite of the hobble on his legs, outran them and got away. At least that's the way the story is told to us.

Poor Road Management.

As the result of somebody's poor headwork, patrons of the roads between here and Portland have been put to much inconvenience the past few weeks and not a few of those who took affairs into their own hands came to grief at the hands of the law in a matter which should have been differently provided for.

When the Warren Construction Co. started work on the Canyon road, it was found necessary to close the road because the pass was too narrow to permit of a road for machines to pass the steam shovel while at work.

At the same time someone in authority closed the new highway to travel to the East of Beaverton and thus no road is open to Portland save by way of Whitford and Progress, or else north by way of Cedar Mills. In closing these roads a lack of forethought in putting signs at the right place has caused many people to run blindly into a trap and not a few of these have had to pay fines for trespass, much to the disadvantage of the Eastern end of the county.

Some fairer and better way of arranging the closing of these roads should have been provided by those in authority.

Miss Orna Emmons, who returned recently from Monmouth where she was attending school, has so far recovered from her illness as to be about again.

Mrs. Nelson G. Freeman has spent several days this week in attendance at buyers' week in Portland.
