WASHINGTON COUNTY COW BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

Jersey Association To Help Celebrate

The Washington County Jersey Association met Saturday, October 11th, and discussed plans for assisting the State Association in the holding of the Jersey Jubilee, which will celebrate the breaking of the world's record by the Jersey cow owned by J. J. VanKleek & Sons.

The association appointed a committee to confer with the State Association committee with the instructions that they should report back at a meeting to be called by the president in January.

The necessity of official testing was also discussed by members of the association, it being pointed out that there were a number of pure bred sires in the county, about a year old (which were slow sale because of the lack of records behind them).

A. E. Westcott brought up the matter of closer affiliation with the State organization and recommended that dairymen joining the county association be members of the State organization as well. He explained that this could easily be done by raising the membership fee in the county organization and dividing it with the State Association.

A committee consisting of A. E.
Westcott and N. C. Jamison was appointed to confer with the State association at its meeting during Farmer's Week at Corvallis, and instructed to bring before them the matter of closer affiliation with county organization and also the matter of the Jersey Jubilee. The meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the president, Geo. F. Biersdorf.

Breeders Associations Meet at Banks Fair

The Holstein and Jersey Breeders Associations held important business meetings during the Banks Fair and considered matters which they deemed necessary to the furtherance of their respective breeds in Washington County.

The Washington County Holstein Association met on October 10th, and completed their permanent organizations by electing permanent officers as follows: Frank Connell, president; S. C. Inley, vice president; N. C.
Jamison, Secretary.

It was brought out in discussion at the meeting that there were over 100 Holstein breeders in the county and that with this number, by proper cooperation, Washington County could become a strong Holstein center. A.
Bendler, one of the veteran breeders of the county, emphasized the importance of using high class sires and the advantage of three or four neighbors co-operatively purchasing high class animals. In this way, he explained that higher class sires could be purchased than where each farmer went to this expense.

The value of testing was also taken up and advocated as a method of advancing interests of Washington County Holsteins. Co-operation in buying and selling stock was also advocated as this would prevent the bringing in of inferior stock and would also assist breeders in the county to dispose of some of their own high class stock within the county.
The association also went on record as favoring the holding of meetings on the farms of the breeders.

100 Poultry Enthusiasts Tour the County

More than 100 poultry enthusiasts made the tour of inspection of the larger plants in Washington County, Thursday, October 9th. Six poultry farms were visited and the owners of each conducted the crowd through their plants explaining methods of management and features which they had found to be a saving of labor. The poultrymen pronounced the tour a "howling success." Others stated they had received valuable information and had learned many things. It was the unanimous opinion that other tours should be held.

The following plants were visited:
A. C. Smith, F. S. Whitehouse, of Forest Grove, H. E. Thompson, of Hillsboro, W. H. Hoeffel, of Witch-azel, Fred Vedder and A. Eggiman & Son, of Beaverton. These plants are among the largest in the county and are as up to date in their methods as can be found in any section, but of greater concern to visiting poultrymen, these plants were found to be getting results and paying returns.

The tour was arranged by a committee consisting of A. Eggiman W.
Hoeffel, H. E. Thompson, Geo. Lit-tlehales and E. C. Lamb.

Who's the Profiteer?

"Not I," says the packer.
"Not I," says the manufacturer. "Not I," says the middleman. "Not I," says the retailer.
"Surely not I," says the consumer with the flat pocketbook. "And positively not the farmer!" thunders

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

True enough, the farmer has profited by war prices. But to what extent?
Well, he has been able to paint his house so it looks as well as the grocer's in town.

He has been able to buy an automobile as good as the plumber's. His family has been able to wear clothes as good as the other church folks. In other words, the farmer for the first time has had a fair living wage for his labor, with a little return on the capital he has invested in his farm and its equipment. The farmer is not a prof-iteer, and THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN will fight to prove his right to a fair profit for his labor and his products. A year's subscription to THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN (52 issues) is the biggest dollar's buy on the market. Get your money's worth—a hundred times over—by letting me order it for you today. Remember—
