BEAVERTON OREGON

GASOLINE HAS ADVANCED

Elsewhere in this paper the Standard Oil Company announces an advance in the price of gasoline of 1 1/4 cents per gallon effective December 17, 1919. It is said that this advance is necessary to meet the extra cost of refining and handling special gasoline required under the existing Oregon state law.

When interviewed by a representative of the Times, Mr. J. E. Balsley, district sales manager of the Standard Oil Company, said, "To meet the requirements of the existing Oregon state law, which specifies that gasoline shall be of 55 degrees gravity, Baumé test, to be salable in the state, it is necessary for the Standard Oil Company to make a special gasoline. This special gasoline, although of no greater efficiency than the gasoline regularly refined by us and sold in Washington, California and elsewhere, is more expensive to furnish because it requires special refining and handling. Also there is a lower yield of this special gasoline from the crude oil than there is of our regular gasoline, with consequent increase in the cost of the special gasoline. The advance of 1 1/4 cents per gallon in the price does not fully represent the additional cost to the Standard Oil Company of manufacturing the special gasoline. At the same time, the higher price of the special gasoline does not accrue for the user any greater value than is given in our regular gasoline."

"The Oregon state law establishes a gravity specification for gasoline.
This is in itself a mistake for gravity tells nothing about the constitution, or power qualities of gasoline.
This was clearly pointed out by the United States Fuel Administration's Committee on Standard Specifications for Gasoline. As a result, the government adopted boiling point standards for aviation and all other motor gasoline purchased by the government.

"Our regular gasoline comes within the United States Government standard specifications. It is refined to a set specification of a chain of boiling points determined by our experts as being that which will give the maximum power and mileage consistent with due regard to gasoline conservation and the maintenance of reasonable prices to the consumer."

"Another lamentable phase of the Oregon State law is that it limits the possible extraction of gasoline from the crude oil and thus operates directly against gasoline conservation, making less plentiful and more costly the supply. The demand for gasoline is growing faster than the supply and it is unfortunate that anything should be done to increase the production of good gasoline."

The butter industry of the United States is so large that more than a ton of butter was made for every minute, day and night, last year, according to dairy specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Yet even this enormous production scarcely meets domestic needs.
