BEAVERTON -- ORSON

COOPER MT. NEWS

At $4 per sack we take our hat off to the Irish potato.

Happy Hogan, who lives up the canyon, was in Beaverton Wednesday buying supplies — oatmeal, bacon, etc.

Miss Eva Kemmer is sick with the smallpox. Their home is under quarantine.

J. R. Cole is taking music lessons on the flute.

Mrs. C. L. Paxon has been visiting with relatives in Washington.

Leo Sans was home from Oregon City over Sunday.

Heavy wood hauling of late has fixed the roads.

Mr. Blomquist has moved his house westward some distance from the road, to make room for the Enquist building which he has purchased recently.

Matt Weir is busy lathing two houses at Aloha.

Four kinds of road between here and Huber, Rock, Plank, Pole and Mud—take your choice.

John Barron butchered some fine pork during the week.

The final Ciphersing contest for the 1919 championship was won by the Girl's team 154-153. Captain Ruth Walker and team-mates received the ribbons this week.

At a Special School meeting held at the school house Wednesday night, Frank W. Livermore was elected school director to fulfill the vacancy caused by Alex Reusser moving to Tillamook county.

Alexander Weir, after serving over a quarter of a century with the Standard Oil Co., at Portland, has retired to his Cooper Mt. home and is "happy sawing wood with brother Matt."

City water is almost a mile nearer to Cooper Mt. A pipe line is being laid down Huber Ave. to the County Road. It may soon be up this way. Water piped into the house, barn and pasture saves much work on the farm.

Mrs. C. Oberg gave a delightful luncheon Thursday P. M. Her guests were Mesdames Blomquist, Jacobsen and daughters, Messrs. Oberg and Earl E. Fisher.

At the recent Christmas Exercises at the school house Ray Walker was put into a sack by Santa Claus but managed to get loose before Santa got far on his journey—it was a close call.

The Beaverton Corner Grocery Club met Monday night—some important business was up for discussion—"Big trees in Eastern Oregon, etc." One member related that back in pioneer days he recollected a train of Prairie Schooners trying to cross the Des Chutes River, but could find no bridge. Finally they came to a large hollow log across the river; upon investigation the drivers found the hole in the log large enough to "drive through" so the 18 teams started through the log, but upon arriving on the other side there were only 15 teams and wagons. Search was made and it was found that the 3 lost teams and schooners had fell through the knot holes and drowned.

What will 1920 bring to us of this town? Exactly what we reach out and gather in—no more, no less. Let's begin now.

The people want to smash old High Cost, and High Cost wants to bust the people, and in the mixup H. C. seems to be getting the best of it.

The government is prohibiting so many things now-a-days one wonders when it will place a ban on matrimony. That, however, might be a means of stimulating the marriage market, since human nature is prone to want that which is prohibited.
