

BEAVERTON TIMES

BEAVERTON, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1920.

No. 1

OREGON ELECTRIC TO OPEN WHEN ROADS RETURN

Depot Is Painted and New Platform Put Down—Removal of Service Is Expected When Federal Officers Get Roads Again.

The Oregon Electric Depot at Beaverton has been repainted, a new and better platform is to be laid and reports are that service at the station will be resumed when the roads go back to private ownership on March first.

This is a part of a general tendency to get the railroad property in the best of shape for its return to the owners. Other depots in the county have had like treatment and it is expected that the station at Forest Grove, where joint service was also installed as a war measure, will be re-opened at the same time.

CANNON TEAM HAS GAMES.

Manager R. D. Young of the local car shop team has scheduled two more games for his team. One of them, a game with Oregon City, was played on the local floor last night. The other game is with the First National Bank team of Portland and will be played on the local floor on Monday, February 2.

Mrs. Abbie Gansner Dies.

Mrs. Gansner, widow of the late Abbie Gansner and mother of Julius Gansner of near Beaverton, died at the family home which has been her residence for the past 34 years, Sunday morning and was buried Tuesday from the Catholic church on Cooper Mountain, the Reverend Father O'Neill, of St. Cecilia's parish, officiating.

Mrs. Gansner was born in Germany and at the time of her death had passed her 71st birthday.

Besides her son here, other children who mourn her death are: Dias Gansner of Portland, and Anthony Gansner, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Ernest Livermore of Seattle.

Many From Beaverton At Pomona.

A number of Beaverton grangers attended the sessions of Pomona at Dilley Wednesday. Among them were the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Mrs. F. C. Peck, Mrs. J. C. Huntley, Mrs. J. E. Davis, Mrs. E. D. McGowan, Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Denney and daughter, Verle, and son, Bruce, Miss Oma Emmora, and Mrs. R. L. Tucker of Hillsboro.

Hillsboro will entertain the next session of Pomona, which convenes in April.

J. E. Davis Surprised.

Mrs. J. E. Davis arranged a surprise party for Mr. Davis on Tuesday evening in honor of his birthday. Dainty refreshments were served. The evening was spent in playing Five Hundred. Prizes for the evening were awarded to Elmer Stipe and Mrs. W. J. Leonard. Those who wished Mr. Davis many more such happy occasions were Mr. and Mrs. Day Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McKell, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stipe and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Leonard.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Freeman Famed.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Freeman, wife of John Freeman, of Beaverton, Route 1, answered the call of the silent messenger Thursday. The funeral will be held Sunday and interment will be at Crescent Grove.

Mrs. B. J. Moore, of Woodburn, was in Beaverton last week, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Chester Becker, and family.

Quarantine Is Lifted.

The smallpox quarantine which for the past month has kept Frank Kemmer's family at home, has been lifted and Albert Kemmer is again in school much to the delight of the members of the basket ball team.

The smallpox quarantine at the home of R. E. Jetter has been lifted and the office is again at home.

A. M. Hochen Has Started Work.

On the Morse Hall property which is to be converted into a modern garage for Louis A. Jetter, ready for occupancy the latter part of next month.

COMMERCIAL CLUB REDUCES FEE TO $3.00 A YEAR

Meeting Night Changed to First and Third Wednesday Nights and Sessions Limited to One Hour Each.

At a meeting of the Beaverton Commercial Club Wednesday night, the annual dues were reduced to $3 and the meeting nights changed to the first and third Wednesday evenings. Long debate and tedious reports were tabored and meetings of more than one hour in length will be permitted only when some very important matter is in hand. Otherwise the club automatically adjourns at 9:00 o'clock.

Reports on the telephone matter were left with the committee for further reports. The secretary was authorized to buy stationery and postage.

Much discussion on the matter of improvement of the streets led to an offer by Otto Erickson to furnish a truck and driver free if the residents would furnish the shovels to move the surplus dirt on Hamilton Boulevard.

EMERGENCY INFLUENZA REGULATIONS GIVEN

The State Board of Health, at a special meeting held in Portland, on the 24th day of January, 1920, passed emergency rules and regulations which are deemed adequate to cope with the epidemic of so-called Spanish Influenza. These regulations, in brief, to the effect that all persons occupying a position to which other persons are subordinate, and under their control, shall report all cases of influenza occurring among their subordinates and all persons who have suspicious symptoms to the Health Officer having jurisdiction, and shall refuse to permit such persons to remain at their work so long as such suspicious conditions exist, being responsible for these under their control pending action by the Health Officer, or other physician.

All persons, whether physicians, practitioners, healers, owners or keepers of rooming houses, hotels, restaurants, boarding houses, dairy farms, superintendents or managers of private or public hospitals or sanatoria, visiting nurses, heads of schools, teachers in common and Sunday schools, and heads of households are required to placard premises and immediately quarantine all cases of so-called Spanish Influenza, and report to the health officer all circumstances which would reasonably cause one to suppose that a case of Spanish Influenza might be developing, carefully informing the Health Officer having jurisdiction over the habitation, or place of employment, or residence of the person infected. Quarantine, in every case, to be strictly maintained until raised by the Health Officer.

Telephone Changes Soon.

Manager Hanna of the Seattle Telephone Co. announces that after May 1 the local exchange will be open until 9:00 each evening during the summer months. February collections will be made from the local office. It is the intention of the company to put on another operator here as soon as one can be secured to supplement the excellent service Mrs. Lottie Boring is now giving.

J. H. Voss Buys Home Here.

T. J. Allen has sold his home place, consisting of 6 1-2 acres, to J. H. Voss, who will take possession at once. Mr. Allen says he may now have to look for a place to "root" for a time, but he is fortunate in having other property on which he can build.

Southern Pacific Is Shaking Up.

The Southern Pacific Company has recently put a meeting of new guests on the tracks and platforms surrounding their depot here. This is but a part of the general program of improvement which is going on and in which the shops and local yards are being put in better and more efficient shape.

U. E. Barker, Principal of the Oregon schools, was in Beaverton via the Wednesday evening.

SECOND TRICK OP- ERATOR AGAIN CHANGED AT S. P.

McIlvaine, Former Agent Here, Held in Leland and Second Trick Here Is Open—Van Buren Is Jefferies.

Another change has come in the second trick operator at the Southern Pacific depot here. Operator Van Buren, who has held down the post for the past two months, has left in the agency at Jefferies and left Thursday night of last week for his new post.

E. W. McIlvaine, former agent at this place, who held in the second trick here when his helper was taken off, and who has been in California on leave for several months, has left in the agency at Leland, in Josephine County. This gets the local second trick on the boards until it shall be bid in by someone eligible. In the meantime, Mrs. Olie Boyle, of Portland, is holding the position under temporary appointment. C. E. Allen is agent and E. V. Pate is the third trick operator.

LADIES' WORK IS MUCH APPRECIATED

Mrs. W. J. Leonard has received the following letter of appreciation for the work recently done here by the Red Cross for the sick soldiers in Portland hospitals:

Portland, Oregon,
Jan. 19, 1920

Mrs. W. J. Leonard,
Beaverton, Oregon.

My dear Mrs. Leonard:
We want to thank you and the ladies who assisted you for the packages which were made and returned to us.

As quite a number were sent to Dr. Pierce's recently we have taken these for some soldiers at St. Vincent and they are very much appreciated.

Sincerely yours,
JANE V. DOYLE, R. N.
Supervisor of Nursing.

FOREST RANGER PLEASURES WITH FIRE PREVENTION

Story of Uncle Sam's Efforts to Reduce Waste of Timber Artfully Told With Pictures of Oregon's Wealth of Scenery.

With wonderful pictures of the outdoor beauties of Oregon, drawn from the matchless storehouse of photographs which Forest Rangers have been taking for the past 20 years, Forest Ranger Weisendanger, of Portland, gave an illustrated lecture to the Boy Scouts and their friends in the High School Auditorium Tuesday evening, as a part of the Oregon campaign against needless forest fires.

In an entertaining and convincing manner he set forth the duty of everyone who goes in the woods to do his part in preventing fires and told of the wonderful wealth which is being destroyed annually by fires which could be prevented if everyone was careful.

He was greeted with a large audience and the beautiful pictures of the marvelous scenery of Oregon's mountains held the audience spellbound or turned it to uproarious applause as the theme shifted from the sublime to the marvellous.

MRS. MATILDA SUMMERS

Matilda R. Summers was born at Brunswick, Maine, on March 12, 1855. While a young girl she came west to Morris, Illinois, with her parents where later she was married to John A. Summers, of that place. Eight children were born to the couple, viz: Clara C., Fred L., Edna M., Edgar D., Emily M., Harry M., Helen M. and John E. Summers.

After a number of years the family moved to South Dakota living there for nine years, thence to Portland, Ore., later to Beaverton which for twenty years has been their home. Surviving the mother are five children, six grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

WILD CASE OF SMALLPOX AT CEDAR MILLS

Union School to Be Vaccinated—All Pupils Must Comply or Leave The School—No Danger Locally Now.

All of the Union School was vaccinated Thursday, due to the prevalence of smallpox in the vicinity of Portland and the presence of one case at Cedar Mills. Mrs. C. C. Arns, teacher of the school, was in Beaverton in the early part of the week and arranged with Dr. Mason to visit the school and administer the preventive measure to all at one time. She was vaccinated during her visit in Beaverton.

The rulings of the State Board of Health are such that any pupil refusing to receive vaccination when an epidemic of smallpox impends may be eliminated from the school and any community failing to cooperate with the health authorities will have their schools closed.

Dr. Mason, while in Portland Wednesday, called on Dr. Roberg and assured him that so far as the local schools are concerned, there is no immediate danger and the State official assured him that so long as the danger was not imminent the order need not be enforced here.

Hazelde school was vaccinated, every pupil complying with the rule, some two weeks ago. At Cooper Mountain school all who had been exposed in any way were vaccinated and other schools are planning to do the bidding of the State Health officials as the need may appear.

MRS T C KENDALL

Eva Hill Kendall was born in Ottawa County, Kansas, 29 years ago. She came to Oregon seven years ago, locating in Portland, where she met and married T. C. Kendall. For the past eight months she has been in Beaverton with her sister, Mrs. M. C. O'Connell. She has suffered with cancer for more than a year. She died in Beaverton Sunday, January 18, and was buried Tuesday of last week at Crescent Grove. The funeral was conducted from the Congregational church by Reverend Mr. Wiley, and funeral arrangements were made by Undertaker Pegg.

COOPER MT. NEWS

Pussy Willows in bloom—Hello Spring!

Mr. Blomquist will soon have his new house ready to "move in."

Eva Kemmer is recovering from an attack of smallpox.

A Jacobson has been sending the stumps "up on high" lately—with powder.

Doris Wells, after a severe illness, has returned to school.

Thos. Mitzel butchered some fine pork Tuesday.

Riding the main road from Aug. Kuhn's place to Livermore's gate this summer—sounds good.

Welcome visitors at school Friday were: Mrs. Otto Bertach, Robert Bertach and Mrs. Bernice Barron.

Anthony Leonetti renewed his subscription to the Beaverton Times for another year. He likes to know "What's doing."

A newcomer this week at the home of J. H. Cole, a son—Leon Cole. A new name for Santa Claus' list 1920.

You hear the hum of woodwaxes every day on Cooper Mt. "Good music" while wood goes $7.410 per cord.

There are coyotes on Cooper Mt.—is that so? Yes, and a wolf has been seen this winter in the woods 1/2 mile west of the school house!

Prize winners in spelling this semester at school are: Norma Rams, 54; Vivian Cherg, 74; Alice Blomquist, 54; Jennifer Blomquist, 54; and John Bertach, 14. Vassar Oberg was outdist in arithmetic.

The Corner Grocery Club at Beaverton met on schedule Monday night. One member desires a little information in the jewelry business.

A Snodgrass fellow offers watch for sale. He says: "It has 15 wheel watch."

E. E. Swenson, manager of the Pioneer Garage & Hardware Co., has put a new sign on the windows of the store. N. G. Freeman has also moved his store recently with new signs.

MILWAUKIE MAKES REPARATION FOR PAINTING

Would-be, Destroyers Arrange to Undo Work of Two Weeks Ago—All Damage to Be Repaired.

Two weeks ago when the Milwaukee high school scored a double victory over the local high school in the basket ball games played between the boys' and girls' teams of the respective schools, the enthusiasm of two of the young men who accompanied the team here could not find sufficient outlet in the ordinary channel and they proceeded to dash the local school building with paint. The affair came to the notice of the Milwaukee principal, Mr. Wakefield, and he brought the matter to the attention of his student body. The two boys responsible for the painting acknowledged their guilt and declared that they would personally pay the penalty. Unbeknownst to their parents, they left school and sought work. This came to the notice of their parents and yesterday the two young men, accompanied by the father of one and an older brother of the other, came to Beaverton to straighten out the matter. They arranged with E. W. Cook, chairman of the local school board, to pay the cost of removing the paint and repainting the defaced spots.

In view of the honor which the two young men displayed in acknowledging their fault, rather than have the affair stand to the discredit of their school, the local man agreed to overlook the more serious side of the affair and the boys decided to return to school.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

After a long absence we again have some high school notes all of which go to show that B. H. S. is yet alive. If it had not been for examinations last week it would be hard to realize that a whole semester of this term had expired.

Those students whom the teachers thought had earned exemptions were awarded by practically a half-week's vacation. While many of the less lucky ones proceeded to scratch first their heads (trying to recall what they had learned but nearly forgotten) and then scratch on an examination blank with a pen.

In an imitation football game played at the high school gymnasium last Friday night, Beaverton high boys won a game of basket ball from Hubbard high. This is the first victory for the boys for two seasons. The score was a 9-0 tie at the end of the first half but the end of the last half showed 21-17. The lineup was as follows:

Beaverton (21)	Hubbard (17)
Erickson, 5	F Brown, 15
Livermore, 10	F Thomas, 5
Merrill, 5	C Garron
Spranger	G Jordan, 5
Masters, 1	G Sinn
Ross, 5	Sub. Mack
Sprout	Sub.

This (Friday) evening the boys' girls' high school teams will probably meet Hillsboro on Hillsboro's floor. This is the first time that the teams have clashed this season. Beaverton lost to them last season.

Those students who passed in their Algebra 2 examinations are now taking up plane geometry.

A Student Council was appointed last semester to enforce a set of resolutions passed by the student body to place the study periods on a more efficient basis and to preserve order. This self-governing power will continue, as long as good results are obtained, the rest of the school year.

Albert Kemmer has been absent for three weeks on account of smallpox in his home. His absence has been kindly felt in basket ball and since his return we have added hopes for our team.

Misses Lucille and Ruth Jones, who have been on a vacation in Eastern Oregon, started to school again at the beginning of the second semester.

Francis Livermore has completed his high school work and consequently may not be able to play basket ball with us any longer. We are very sorry to lose him as he was our best basket ball player and he always made the most points in our games.

TEACHERS TO MEET AT TIGARD FEBRUARY 14

Washington County Teachers' Association Plans Meeting for Southwestern Section of County—Other Meetings Planned.

Plans have just been completed by President E. W. Barnes of the Washington County Teachers' Association, for a gathering of the instructors of the county at Tigard on February 14.

The program is now in the hands of the County Superintendent and will be announced next week in detail. It will consist largely of sessions by local teachers, although it is planned to have at least two outside speakers on the program. Special shows will be given to numbers helpful for special day programs.

Persons attending from this part of the county may take the Oregon Electric train at 9:17, by first making sure that the Salem special will stop at Garden Home. Good roads are available for all who wish to go by auto, taking the new Pacific Highway to Bertha and the Ros-Tigard highway from Bertha to Tigard.

PIONEER PHYSICIAN DIES AT HILLSBORO

Dr. Francis A. Bailey, probably Washington County's oldest practicing physician, died at his home in Hillsboro on Friday morning of last week, after a week's illness following pneumonia. Sunday's Oregonian, in a dispatch from Hillsboro, has the following article concerning this well-known citizen:

He was born January 25, 1835, in Harrison county, Tennessee, and after attending Lebanon College in that state pursued his medical studies in St. Louis. During the Civil War Dr. Bailey served in the Confederate army as a medical cadet in General Price's division and was also in the Confederate hospital service. In 1864 he was appointed physician on one of the Union Bay company steamers running between St. Louis and the head of navigation on the Missouri river. Leaving the boat at the end of his trip he proceeded overland through Missouri and Idaho to Oregon, reaching Hillsboro, October 30, 1864.

Having taught school in Tennessee, he secured a position as teacher of a school in Scoggins Valley with an agreement that he could also practice his profession, but the demands of the latter soon became so great that he resigned his school position and began his visits to the sick in all parts of the county. These he continued practically without interruption until the week before his death. He was widely known as a physician and had served twice as president of the State Medical society. A feature of his practice which has attracted attention was that despite advanced age he kept pace with all new discoveries in medical science.

Dr. Bailey had served many times as mayor of Hillsboro and member of the council, but consistently declined political office. It is an open secret that he was wooed upon by a delegation and urged to accept the gubernatorial nomination, which later went to Governor Penneyer, but declined on the ground that he could not leave his profession for four years.

He was a public speaker of marked ability and for more than a half century he been active in public affairs. During the war he was one of the four-minute-men who spoke in a local theater and he spoke at many war meetings.

The establishment of the Hillsboro public library was chiefly due to the efforts of Dr. Bailey, and he had served continuously as president of the library board. He was made a Mason in 1881 and had been master of Hillsboro lodge many times since.

He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Letitia A. Chambers, whom he married in 1866, and the following sons and daughters: Dr. Francis J. Bailey, of Hillsboro; Dr. A. B. Bailey and Dr. T. C. Bailey of Portland; J. W. Bailey and Miss Eva Bailey of Hillsboro.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity.