

ORDER GIVEN THAT ALL IN SCHOOL MUST BE VACCINATED

Great Danger of Epidemic Felt Due
Because of Exposure Likely in Present Case in Beaverton.

Owing to the danger of many people having been exposed during the time when George Thyn's case of smallpox was supposed to be in grips, the School Board at a special meeting Monday night decided to carry out the orders of the State Board of Health and require all children to either submit to vaccination or remain out of school during the danger period. As a result, the order was put in effect at both schools and Dr. Alason and Dr. Wilson spent the larger part of Wednesday afternoon and Thursday at the school houses, applying the vaccine to the arms of the pupils. While some object to this ruling and will remain out of school, the majority seem to think that the precaution is well taken and are complying with the order.

COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER GIVES PEOPLE ADVICE

The present wave of influenza in the state of Oregon is passed at this time, but the disease is prevalent throughout the state in a milder form than it was last year. On the recommendation of the Secretary of the State Board of Health (Dr. D. N. Roberg) the following is given you for your earnest consideration: For the next two or three, discourage unnecessary communication between Washington County people and the City of Portland, where the disease is prevalent.

Avoid gathering in crowded places, influenza (flu).

If attacked with a severe cold and fever call your physician.

Washington County has a good record for low contamination with the present attack of influenza, now sweeping the United States. Be vigilant and keep up the good record, following the hints here given.

DR. L. W. HYDE,

Health Officer for Washington County.

SAILORS DO NOT WEAR SWORDS AND CUTLASSES NOW

Well Known Mate Finds Credulous

Woman Who Wants to Know
About Navy

The following story about Jack J. Sauer, son-in-law of George Tefft, and well known in Beaverton, was in yesterday's Telegram:

"Do you ever wear a sword?" asked an elderly woman who had stopped to observe the war relics on exhibition at the local navy recruiting station. Chief Gunner's Mate J. J. Sauer, had offered to explain them to her.

"Hardly ever," said that worthy, "sometimes on occasions of ceremony one is strapped to my side, but generally speaking swords and cutlasses have not been used since the days of the old boarding parties."

"Oh, I see," said the woman. "The parties of the navy boarding schools I've heard as much about! And what did they use cutlasses for?"

The seafaring man then made glib explanation that boarding parties are a bunch of men with swords, cutlasses and spikes that scrambled from one ship to its opponent during some of the naval battles of the Revolution and fought the matter out in cut-and-thrust fashion until they had captured the enemy or had been driven back."

As he talked, a suspicious light gleamed in the eyes of the woman. There was dawning a conviction that this man was concealing from her the real reasons for having cutlasses in the navy trade schools. He saw he was making no impression so he said: "Cutlasses were replaced, lady, by the monkey wrench years ago. If you think cutlasses were used by naval students to cut up their food, you're mistaken. This would be in order in some boarding houses, but not in the navy. Navy chow hits the right spot and figures show that the boys who eat it gain weight," and she departed more convinced of his sincerity.

NEW HEAD FOR THE BEAVERTON SCHOOLS
EXPERIENCED MAN

H. J. Hockenberry, of Portland, Succeeds R. H. Jonas, who Resigns to Take up Publishing Work.

At the meeting of the local School Board Tuesday night, the resignation of R. H. Jonas as city superintendent was accepted and H. J. Hockenberry, of Portland, was chosen to fill out the unexpired term. Mr. Hockenberry at once took up his new duties and is fast winning the confidence of the teachers and pupils by his mastery knowledge of his profession and his own natural adaptability to school-room problems.

Mr. Hockenberry has taught school more years than many of his patrons have lived. He is best known for Oregon school affairs as superintendent of the La Grande schools, where he spent nine years and built the school up from a small institution to one of the foremost in Eastern Oregon. In the past two years he has conducted a teachers' agency in Portland but a very embarrassing shortage of teachers with which to fill vacancies, led him to add to the available material with his own services.

In accepting the resignation of R. H. Jonas, the Board expressed their appreciation of his services for the past year and a half and placed on record a vote of thanks for his work.

Mr. Jonas retired because of a desire to devote his entire time to his publishing interests and because of a feeling that he has accomplished the things which he started to bring to pass when he entered the school, with the exception of the installation of the motion picture theatre which he will continue to care for, and does not consider the time sufficient during the remaining term to start on a new program which will be consistent with the interests of the students.

BEAVERTON BAKERY IS SOLD
TO MR. AND MRS. R. D. YOUNG

Well Known Electrician Succeeds J. M. Davis in Popular Store.—Will Enlarge Business.

The Beaverton Bakery, the popular confectionery and lunch counter which W. E. Evans built up to such a popular fame and which for the past six months has been conducted by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Davis, has passed to the ownership of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Young, who will enlarge the business, serve more complete meals than have been served there in the past, and generally improve the service of this ever popular store.

The change of management was effected the first of the month. Mr. Young is the popular and experienced electrician who has been so long employed at the Southern Pacific shops and has a great number of acquaintances who will wish him well in the new venture and will provide a goodly trade for him from the start. Mrs. Young has already won praise from the public for her enterprise in putting before the public a choice delicatessen service and the best of home cooked meals. Mrs. Chester Becker is assisting with the work in the store.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis have not announced their plans for the future.

MUST HAVE PERMISSION IF CHILD IS IN ENTERTAINMENT

Mr. Editor: Kindly allow me a little space in your paper to answer some questions which have been asked me and which may interest others beside those asking them.

There is a law in Oregon as well as many other states which makes it unlawful for a child under sixteen years of age, to participate in any public entertainment where a fee is charged unless such child, its parent or guardian, or the manager of the place where such child is to participate, shall have the written permission of the juvenile judge of the county where the entertainment is to be held.

Any child so participating without permission shall be declared delinquent and dealt with accordingly. After a great deal of correspondence and conference with other Courts of like jurisdiction, and conference with educational leaders in our own and Multnomah County, the following rules for granting permits have been adopted by the Judge of Washington County:

1. No financial benefit may come to the child or the parents or guardian from such participation.
2. The child must be in school and not under six years of age.
3. The application must have the O. K. of the teacher and principal of the school where the child is a pupil.

Application blanks furnished by the juvenile court on request. The rules, 15 in number, governing the granting of permits to traveling troupes employing children will be furnished to theatre managers on request.

SCHOOL THEATER TO OPEN TUESDAY
NIGHT, FEB. 10

Mary Pickford in "How Could You, Jean," to Open Playhouse for Benefit of Local Schools.

Fulfilling promises of the past two or three months, the Beaverton High School auditorium has been fitted up with the necessary chairs and motion picture machine and will be opened on Tuesday night as a motion picture theatre. The opening number will be Mary Pickford in "How Could You, Jean," a film which has won high praise from the critics and is accounted one of the best Pickford offerings.

The story deals with the problem of the servant girl and is stated in press notices to provide a sure lesson on how to keep a household for anyone who has such a problem. Other bookings for this performance include a Bray Pictograph.

On February 17, George Beban will be seen in "One More American" and a Bray Pictograph will also be shown. The profits from these shows will be applied to the purchase of the machine and chairs necessary for the venture and when the payments are completed the machine will be the property of the community, so in patronizing these shows you are helping your own interests as well as getting good clean entertainment at a lower cost than if you went to the city.

The shows are being given under the auspices of the Co-Operative Community Club and for the present are being arranged by R. H. Jonas.

COMMUNITY CLUB WILL MEET

Following the showing of the film, "How Could You, Jean?" in which Mary Pickford is the star, at the auditorium on Tuesday evening, the Co-Operative Community Club will hold its regular meeting. Plans for the success of the motion picture theatre which is sponsored by the club, will be considered and among other things the class of pictures to be shown will be discussed. The public at large is invited to stay for this meeting and to become members of the club if interested in the work it is trying to do.

LODGE TO PLANT TREES AT MASONIC HOME SITE

On Saturday afternoon of this week Mt. Wood Masonic Lodge, of Portland, will come to Forest Grove and plant forty fine English walnut trees at the Masonic and Eastern Star Home site. It is proposed to plant walnut trees around the grounds as per landscape gardening plans published in last week's issue of the News-Times.

In the evening the brethren of Mt. Hood Lodge will be the guests of Holbrook lodge when the Master's degree will likely be conferred upon a Mt. Hood candidate.

Mrs. J. A. Shepard to Be Buried

Tomorrow at Forest Grove The funeral of Mrs. J. A. Shepard, who died Wednesday night at her home in Portland, will be held tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 10:30 o'clock from the undertaking parlors of P. S. Dunning & Co., in that city, under the auspices of Beaver Chapter O. E. S., of Beaverton, and interment will be made at Forest Grove.

Mrs. Shepard is survived by her husband; by two sons, Vilas of Beaverton and Raleigh of Astoria; by two daughters, Mrs. Roy Perot, of Beaverton and Mrs. Earl Vaughn, of Portland; by a brother, R. L. Watson, of Buxton and by a niece, Mrs. O. M. Galloway, of Beaverton.

Pneumonia Claims Charles Hall.

Charles Hall, 69 years of age and for several years a resident of Cooper Mountain, died at his home there Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock from pneumonia. He is survived by his mother who lives in Sweden and is nearly 100 years of age. Mrs. M. J. Baldwin spent the last 32 hours of his life, caring for him in the lonely home. The funeral was held today from the Congregational church, the Rev. Horace S. Wiley, officiating, with W. E. Pegg undertaker in charge and the interment was at Crescent Grove.

NOTICE TO RESIDENTS OF WEST BEAVERTON PRECINCT

All persons who resided in west Beaverton Precinct on January 1, 1920, who have not been enumerated by the undersigned will confer a favor on me and will greatly aid a government work of importance if they will call at the office of Stroud & Co., Inc., on Saturday, Feb. 7, between the hours of 1:00 and 8:30 P. M. and there be enumerated.

LILLIE L. MADSEN,

ST. MARY'S PEOPLE
SHOW PROGRESSIVE AND ACTIVE SPIRIT

Citizens Improve Homes, Property—Changes Hands and New Buildings in prospect.

T. J. Harrington of St. Mary's is doing much improving to his place there. He has recently moved his barn and converted it into a modern chicken house. He is blasting out stumps and clearing up the balance of his three acre place.

K. C. Swanson, an old settler of the district just west of Beaverton, has listed his place for sale and will come to Beaverton to live as soon as he disposes of the place.

George Rich, of St. Mary's, has just completed fencing his home there. He has cleared practically all of his five-acre tract in the year he has lived on it.

Claude L. Benson of Bend, who recently purchased the W. A. Smith farm at St. Mary's, will move here in two or three weeks.

S. H. DAVIS TO HAVE AUCTION SALE FEB. 20

Popular Resident and Veteran School Director Plans to Leave Beaverton about March 1.

S. H. Davis, well known farmer of the Beaverton district, and for ten years a prominent figure in local school affairs, is arranging to sell his farm equipment and to go to South Dakota to look after an estate in the settlement of which his services are needed. He plans to leave Beaverton about the first of March.

Elsewhere in this issue will be seen an announcement of his sale of farm equipment, cows and household goods which will be held Friday, February 20, at 10 o'clock and at which Webb Hughes of Forest Grove will be auctioneer and H. G. Vincent of Hillsboro will act as clerk.

Acklen Children Have Been Ill.

Mrs. G. J. Acklen, of 1618 Fluke Street, Portland, a former resident of Beaverton, sends her dollar for a renewal of subscription. She says: "We have been receiving the good old Times regularly since we came to Portland and it always seems like a good old friend stopped in for a friendly chat. I don't want to miss a single copy."

"I wish every Granger and every member of the Eastern Star and Masonic Lodge, and every school teacher would have a personal item every week. Wouldn't that be glorious? We love our friends in Beaverton, its organizations and community life, and want to rejoice with the happy ones and are ready to weep with the sorrowful."

"Our children have all been very much excited about passing the midterm. They were all happy that they passed to a half grade higher, then took the grippe and all had to stay home. They are about well again, I am glad to say." Mrs. Acklen is a teacher in the University Park school in Portland.

NEW PRINTER TAKES UP WORK IN BEAVERTON

A. G. Carruth, of Carlton, Assumes Charge of Job Work in Local Shop.

On Wednesday A. G. Carruth of Carlton, Oregon, former publisher of the Carlton Sentinel, purchased the printing plant formerly conducted in connection with this paper and will move it to the old bank building recently occupied by the R. D. Cross, where it will be operated as an exclusive job shop.

Mr. Carruth is a printer of experience and will devote his entire time to the business, making it a real factor in the upbuilding of Beaverton.

HUBER CLUB WILL GIVE
ST. VALENTINE'S DANCE

President J. L. Freeman Announces Big Event for Evening of February 14—Whistler to Help Orchestra.

A St. Valentine's dance at which the union orchestra will be aided by Dave Fuller, whistler, and known to his friends and admirers as the "Human Canary," is the attraction which President J. L. Freeman announces at the Huber Commercial Club for the evening of February 14.

As usual, refreshments will be provided and automobile stages will run to Portland and Forest Grove after the dance.

Otto Erickson, popular proprietor of the Beaverton Garage and hustling dealer in Ford cars, Fordson tractors and Federal trucks, is one of those suffering from the prevailing attacks of colds and is gripped.

Victor Randall was out from Portland Wednesday on business.

HUBER CLUB WILL WORK FOR LIGHTS
FOR COMMUNITY

Active Effort Now Under Way to Induce Power Company to Supply Aloha, Reedville, St. Mary's.

Efforts are being made by the Huber Commercial Club to induce the North Coast Power Co. to provide electric service to all residents of the section between Reedville and Beaverton, including the localities of Aloha, Aloha, Reedville, St. Mary's and Tobias. The district is thickly settled and has had gas for some time, but to date has had no electric service and the lights are much desired.

LITTLE NEWS NOTES FROM WASHINGTON COUNTY SEAT

Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered, of Portland, was last week the guest of the family of T. S. Weathered.

Mrs. Justina Gassner died at her home on Cooper Mountain, Jan. 25th, 1920. The funeral occurred Tuesday last and her remains laid away in the Cooper Mountain cemetery. Undertaker Pegg having charge of the remains.

Miss Helen Scott, of near this city, and Andrew C. Jensen, of Portland, were married at the White Temple, in Portland, by Rev. Wm. A. Waldo, January 22. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Scott, and has many friends in this city who wish her a happy married life. They will be at home in Portland after the first of this month.

Raymond H. Ward, wife working in the Johnson saw mill, was caught in a shaft and his arm was badly lacerated and he also received other injuries that resulted in his death on the following day. He was well known here, and was the son of Carl E. Ward, who used to reside in this city. The funeral took place from the Bell & Donaldson Undertaking parlors.

Two hold-up men entered the store of Barton & Co., Monday night of last week and while Mr. Barton was talking to a traveling salesman, the two robbers asked them to hold up their hands. They remained with them held high until the till was relieved of $140. The men were frightened away by the arrival of Mr. Barton's son. Sheriff Alexander was at once notified and arrived as quickly as possible, but so far no trace has been found of them.

Mrs. Abigail A. Holland passed away, January 26th, at her home in this city. She was born in Canada November 17th, 1843, and when but a small child moved, with her parents, to Michigan. In 1867 she was married to Alonzo D. Holland and in 1878 they came, with their two children, to Oregon where they have since resided. Her husband and one son survive. The funeral services were held at the Donaldson & Bell Undertaking parlors, Wednesday.

The convention of the 125th district of the Rebekah lodge was held in this city, Tuesday of last week and representatives were present from Forest Grove, Gaston, Banks and Seaside. It was an all-day session. The morning was spent in business, a dinner served at noon and the afternoon was devoted to work, put on by the Banks lodge. In the evening Hillsboro lodge put on the work. Mrs. Jessie Jarvis, president of the state assembly, was present. Mrs. Florence Burr, was presiding chairman. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Bryant, Gaston, chairman; Mrs. Wilcox, of Banks, vice chairman; Mrs. H. R. Bernard, Forest Grove, secretary. The next meeting will be held at Gaston.

ONE DAY DAIRY SCHOOL AT WATTE

Under the direction of an expert from Oregon Agricultural College a one day school on dairying will be held at Watte Schoolhouse on Thursday of next week, February 12th. At that time the Farm Bureau which was recently organized will plan its program.

CENSUS WORK IN WEST BEAVERTON
NEARLY FINISHED

Miss Lillie Madsen, of Silverton, is Listing Population for Uncle Sam.—Will be at Office Saturday Afternoon.

The 1920 census will soon be taken. For the past two weeks Miss Lillie Madsen of Silverton has been in the West Beaverton precinct, listing the names of Uncle Sam's children, and she hopes by Saturday night to have them all. In case she has missed any of them, she is going to be at the office of Stroud & Co., Inc., on Saturday from 1:00 to 3:00 o'clock and she hopes that anyone who has not been listed will come in and give the information which Uncle Sam desires, as it is highly important that everything be complete and accurate.

Miss Madsen has been in the Census work since the first of the year, and has listed other precincts before coming here. She has had some interesting experiences and, being a newspaper woman, she tells them especially well. One of the most interesting of her stories is that of an old woman who was hard of hearing, did not understand English so very well, and thought the enumerators were a collector for spies. It took a great deal of explaining and much coaxing to get the agricultural schedule in that home.

NEED OF COLLEGE, UNIVERSITY AND NORMAL GREAT

Schools of State Overcrowded and Funds Will be Inadequate if Millage Tax is Not Passed

Here are a few salient facts about higher education in Oregon which will be born out by the documentary evidence that will be sent to you as soon as it can be prepared: The latest official figures give the University of Oregon $111 worth of buildings per student and the Agricultural College almost equally low. The AVERAGE for 48 state Universities and Colleges is $995.

The year cost to the institution per student at the University has been $240 and at the Agricultural College virtually the same. These figures are very low compared with other institutions, the usual range being from $300 to $600 per student. The income of the University and Agricultural College was placed on a millage basis in 1913 with the expectation that the normal increase of wealth in the state would be reflected in increased assessments, thus allowing the institutions to grow gradually and evenly at the same rate as population and wealth. As a matter of fact, the assessed valuation has not reflected the state's actual growth in wealth, and even for a considerable period fell as much as $50,000,000 below the 1913 level, cutting into the institutions' income and interrupting both the building and educational program.

At present there is a shortage of classrooms so serious as to make good instruction extremely difficult in many instances. Students are denied admittance to courses they wish to take and are often unable to find seats in the library or free tables in the laboratories.

An expert employed by the State of Washington recently ascertained that the University of Washington was using its classroom space 43.9 per cent of the time and Washington State College 63.6 per cent of the time. These averages were regarded as too high, indicating that schedules were arranged rather to suit the rooms available than to suit the best interests of the students. The same expert later made an examination and reported that the University of Oregon was using its rooms 70.5 per cent of the time and the Agricultural College practically as much. This is a higher average than was previously thought possible and represents grave inconveniences.

Universities and colleges in other states are putting up the bars against outside students on account of their own overcrowded conditions, thus shutting off one means of relief in case Oregon should not provide facilities for its own young men and women. There is a large Senior class in the Oregon High Schools this year, and a large demand on the higher institutions is expected next fall.

John Peterson has bought the corner at Eighth and Watson streets and expects to build a home there.
