COMMUNITIES PLAN IMPROVEMENT WORK
Through the organizing committee of the Farm Bureau and with the assistance of the County Agent, the farming communities are planning important work that will be undertaken in their respective sections during the coming year. Among the communities which have held meetings are Banks, Gales Creek, Schafflin, Hillsdale, and meeting dates have been scheduled for about fifteen other communities.

Thus far the project which has seemed most popular is Dairy Herd Improvement. These communities undertaking this work plan to up-build their herds by getting pure bred stock and eliminating all scrub sires and will encourage the organization of boys' and girls' calf clubs. Rodent control is also coming in for its share of consideration and practically every one of the communities which have held meetings will name a day at which time all farmers in that section will put out poison for ground squirrels.

Other sections plan to hold poultry schools and culling demonstrations, and still other communities will hold drainage demonstrations, and in most of the dairy communities trials for testing out corn varieties will be made and also tests in the value of commercial fertilizers.

A. E. Westcott, chairman of the Organizing Committee, announces the following dates for meetings to be held for the next two weeks: Schalls, Feb. 14; Beaverton, Feb. 17; Sherwood, Feb. 19; Cedar Mills, Feb. 21; Helvetia, Feb. 24; Hiteon, Feb. 26; Tigard, Feb. 28.

—County Agent.

GROUND-HOG DAY
A ground-hog is a woodchuck; it is something like a rat; they hibernate in the fall with their sides a-looking fat. They stay all winter in their den that is always in the ground and no track upon the surface until spring time can be found.

On the second there's a legend in the month of F-e-b. That they come up to the surface just to see what they can see.

And according to tradition if the sun shines ground-hog day they return to winter quarters and six weeks more they will stay.

I can see him now a looking as he blinks his sleepy eyes when he crawled out in the open and beheld the cloudless skies.

This year he could see his shadow as he scampered in the sun while the sunshine all around us gave delight to everyone.

To those who are superstitious if these signs prove anything. As the ground-hog saw his shadow we'll not have an early spring.
—O. O. SMITH.

Henry, Beaverton's old faithful cow, is now ready to supply all milk demands at 12 1/2 cents a quart. Thomas B. Harris, Vincent Place, Beaverton, Oregon.

Mrs. Hettie E. Suver, of Suver, Ore., has purchased a tract of land in Lombard Addition and plans are being drawn for an attractive house to be erected on the property. For the present, however, Mrs. Suver and her daughter will live in a temporary building now being built.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE
Wilbur Weed Tells of Events in College Life That Will Interest Our Readers.

(By Wilbur W. Weed)
Oregon Agricultural College, Feb. 12.—W. P. Black, twice selected as a member of the varsity debate team this year and a member of the team last year has been chosen to represent O. A. C. in the state oratorical contest at Pacific University, Forest Grove, March 12.

Eight institutions of the state are represented in the league, including University of Oregon, Willamette University, Reed and other denominational colleges. The contest last year was held at Eugene in April. Black is a man of considerable experience and is considered a strong man for the honor position for which he has been selected. He represented O. A. C. in intercollegiate debating last year in the dual debate against University of Washington. He was a member of the team which defeated Reed this year. Besides these two debates he represented O. A. C. in the state oratorical contest of last year.

R. D. Hetsel, president of the New Hampshire Agricultural college and formerly in charge of forensics and public speaking here, complimented the college on the recent forensic victories in a letter to W. A. Jensen, executive secretary. "When the agricultural college has reached the point from which it is able to combat with success with the liberal arts colleges in debate," wrote Mr. Hetsel, "it is where it belongs. It is another proof that the type of training we are giving in the state institutions is sound."

JUNIOR WEEK END AT O. A. C. MAY 21

Oregon Agricultural College, Feb. 12.—May 21, 22 and 23 are the dates approved by President Kerr for junior week-end at the college. The week-end is an annual college function planned and managed by the junior class. The tentative program calls for suspension of classes on Friday, May 21. Track meets and baseball with University of Oregon are planned as part of the annual affair. Friday evening the junior vaudeville, with its comedy and satire, will attract. Great interest is exhibited each year at the sophomore-freshman tog of war over the mill race. Classmates of the leaders go through the water with their team. After the tug of war it is customary for the freshmen to burn their green insignia. A historical pageant on the campus Saturday afternoon is expected to draw much attention. Saturday evening will bring the crowning event of the week—the Junior Prom staged in the men's gymnasium. Junior week-end brings the "old grads" back to renew acquaintances with their Alma Mater. Plans are well under way and committees have been appointed to make the coming function one of the best ever.

SCHOOL NEWS NOTES OF WASHINGTON COUNTY

Marie Winegardner of district No. 7 should have been included in the list of the January eighth grade graduates.

The Washington County Teachers' Association meets at Tigard, Saturday, Feb. 14. A good program has been planned with speakers from abroad. The public is always welcomed at these meetings. If people outside of the teaching profession would attend they would become better posted on the aims and methods of the school work and would better realize the problems of the teachers.

The outlook for Industrial Club work seems very good. The Banks school will have a sewing club and plans are underway for a bigger and better pig club than they had last year. The Farm Bureau at Banks adopted a resolution to make the calf project a part of their regular program for the year. The Washington County Bank is glad to make loans to live boys and girls to get a start in either pig or calf project. Cashier Moore will manage the pig club again this year.

At Sherwood the Poultry Association is backing the boys' and girls' poultry projects and will have a juvenile department at their show next winter. The Bank of Sherwood is actively promoting the pig club and Cashier R. H. Parsons will personally act as club advisor and leader. Sherwood will undoubtedly have a sewing and a cooking club.

A nation-wide campaign of thrift education for peace times has been inaugurated in the schools. The primary objects of the War Savings Campaign was 1st, "To help win the war," 2nd, "Help yourself by saving." In the present campaign the objects are reversed, 1st, "Help yourself by saving," 2nd, "Help the nation get safely back on a peace basis." The idea is that the schools shall help the parents in a line of training which is essential to the future welfare and happiness of their children but which under present conditions they find it difficult to carry out alone. Our County Health Nurse has been a most cordial welcome and has made friends in all the schools where she has visited. Her greatest difficulty is that the calls come faster than she possibly can get around.

E. H. Harvean, of Minneapolis, Minn., traveling Coast territory for the Twentieth Century Brass works of that city, manufacturers of automobile bearings, after finishing his business calls in Portland, came out to Huber for a visit with his sister, Mrs. W. J. Alexander, whom he had not seen for many years. It goes without saying that the visit will be a pleasure to both Mr. and Mrs. Alexander and family and to Mr. Harvean.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McKell were host and hostess to a party of friends on Saturday evening at which Mrs. Hundred was the feature of the evening. Among those enjoying the evening with them were: Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Doy Gray and Mrs. Manchester, the latter a guest from Olympia, Wash. Prizes for the evening were won by Mr. Donaldson and Mrs. Manchester.
