

COUNTY JERSEY NEWS VISITED BY EASTERNERS

Washington County is prominent on the map of the world this week because one of her many fine cows has broken a world's record for milk production.

Aside from being one of the very best dairymen in Oregon Washington County has had this distinguished honor thrust upon her, and celebrating the event the Jersey Jubilee is on.

The celebration began on Tuesday of this week when a distinguished party of Easterners, men prominent in the business of raising fine cattle, made a pilgrimage to this land of prosperity and plenty to see the wonderful young cow which has broken the world's milk production record for a yearling Jersey heifer.

The party came out from Portland early Tuesday morning making the rounds of the Jersey herds of this fine county. They came on schedule time and arrived at the farm of William Behrman just east of Forest Grove at 9 A. M., where his splendid herd was fully inspected. Mr. Behrman purchased the Col. Haynes farm over a year ago and is converting it into one of the finest cattle ranches in Oregon. He has secured some of the best blooded animals that money will buy and is rapidly building up his herd, which he plans to make second to none in the state. Mr. Behrman had his animals arranged along the paved highway each one neatly and properly marked with main features of pedigree and they were soon given the once over by the distinguished visitors, included among them were officers and members of the Oregon Jersey Cattle Club, also many distinguished Easterners, a full list of whom we are unable to secure at this time, but prominent among them we note: M. D. Mann, President of the American Jersey Cattle Club; Hugh VanPelt, Editor of Kimble's Dairy Farmer, Waterloo, Iowa; R. M. Gov, Secretary of the American Jersey Cattle Club, New York; Mr. McMunn, of the Jersey Bulletin, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Hon. J. D. Mickie, State Dairy and Food Commissioner; M. S. Shrock, Editor of the Dairyman's League. County Agent N. C. Jamison escorted the party through this county.

From Forest Grove the party proceeded to the farm of D. G. Lilly, and Thomas Williams where their fine animals were duly inspected including some from the Charles Hanford and other neighboring farms.

The party then proceeded to the fine ranch of George Biersdorf, where one of the very finest herds of the county is located. Here the party lingered for a half hour or more carefully going over the animals, inspecting them carefully from the tiny calves of a few days of age to the stalwart old bull, the head of the family. It surely was a fine display of Jersey. Mr. and Mrs. Biersdorf have given their herd much study and careful selection has been made until they have accomplished excellent results. There were nine little heifer calves that especially attracted the attention of the visitors and Mr. and Mrs. Biersdorf have just recently refused an offer of one thousand dollars each for these calves. Think of it—nine thousand dollars for nine little calves—can you beat it? No, not anywhere outside of Washington County, the banner dairy county of the universe. Mrs. Biersdorf takes as much interest in the fine herd as does her husband and was delightedly escorting the ladies of the party, explaining in detail the fine qualities of each animal. Here delicious Jersey milk was served free to all.

Leaving the Biersdorf ranch about 11:30 the party proceeded to the Van Hook farm where the famous yearling cow was on exhibition. Here the party partook of a splendid dinner prepared by the hostess of the county.

The hostesses in the party were delighted with the reception they received in this county and were excited only with our fine cattle and courteous treatment, but were charmed beyond degree with the beautiful scenery, were impressed with the bright prospects of the

COMMUNITY CLUB TO MEET

Beaverton Community Club will hold regular meeting next Tuesday evening. A good attendance is desired as there is important business to come before the club.

Mrs. J. C. HUNTLEY, Chairman.

SALESMEN URGED TO

BEAR BEAVERTON LECTURES

Local folk interested in making the capital of the state the beautiful city that its location and general arrangement makes possible, should not fail to hear Howard Everts Wood, the distinguished western landscape architect of Portland, who speaks in the public library tonight at eight o'clock upon "A More Beautiful Salem" illustrating his lecture profusely with attractive color slides.

Mr. Wood will go into detail concerning the correct method of beautifying the city, and will make his plans simple enough to be put into practice by the property owner of moderate circumstances, as well as the wealthy.

His talk will be inspiring, and is upon a subject especially near every Salemite's heart at this time. He endeavors by the medium of the illustrated lecture to build up civic pride, create an interest in clean streets and beautiful homes. New improvement associations get their start from the discourse, and old ones are given new stimulus.

As the slides are thrown upon the screen, Mr. Wood skips rapidly from subject to subject, discussing public parks, children's playgrounds, modern park cemeteries, children's flower and vegetable gardens, the work of improvement societies, billboards, improvements to city and country homes in many cases showing the "before and after" effects.—Capital City Journal, April 23rd.

HIGH PRICES WILL

CURTAIN CANNERY OUTPUT

That the canneries of the State are against a serious problem in the high prices of fruit this season is becoming more evident every day. The high price of sugar is adding to the difficulty and the cannery output may be seriously curtailed on account of these conditions and it behooves the growers to watch the situation closely and not hold out for exorbitant prices. If they do the canneries cannot buy their products.

The viable supply of loganberries, for instance it now estimated at 5,190 tons as against 5,200 tons last year. This leaves only a shortage of 100 tons but it was figured that the normal output should have been 12,000 tons this year.

At a meeting of thirty-three cannery plants held at Salem recently a poll was taken as to the quantity each cannery could use at various prices, and the average was as follows:

On basis of 10¢ a lb. 4,755 tons
On basis of 11¢ a lb. 3,160 tons
On basis of 12¢ a lb. 2,805 tons
On basis of 13¢ a lb. 2,150 tons
On basis of 14¢ a lb. 900 tons
On basis of 15¢ a lb. 530 tons

It will be seen from the above that the canneries may handle all the product at 10¢ per pound but when it comes to 15¢ they would be able to handle but about one tenth of it. Besides this feature the loganberry would be only a rich man's fruit at the price of 15¢ and the consumption would be so reduced that the future market would be badly injured and possibly ruined.

country, the rich soil and progressive spirit of our people generally. They will return to the East boosters for Oregon, and especially for Washington County.

The following Beaverton people are among those who attended the Jersey Jubilee at the Van Hook farm Tuesday: Mary Otto Erickson, F. W. Cady, George Thyrup, Dr. Theo. G. Hets, Dr. C. E. Mason, Rev. H. S. Wiley, Hal E. Bishop, J. Frank Steward, L. R. Dean, W. E. Fagg, Doy Gray, F. G. Hazenbeck, A. Reed and wife, Mrs. Howard Haglund, C. E. Haglund, A. G. Carruth, E. S. Doebling and H. A. Coombs and family.

TOWN COUNCIL NAMES MAY 17 FOR CLEAN UP

A. Reed Nominated W. E. Brown As City Attorney—Water Permits Granted.

The week of May 17 has been designated by the Town Council as a proper time to start cleaning up the town and during that week the town will provide means for disposing of the garbage and rubbish collected.

A. Reed was duly qualified Tuesday evening as the successor of W. E. Evans on the Town Council and Fred Jensen was appointed city attorney for the balance of the year.

The Town Council had a busy session Tuesday evening, being an adjourned meeting from Monday night because several members went to Forest Grove to attend the Eastern Star session.

Permits were granted for H. C. Hartwig, who recently purchased property in the Pleasant Home addition and to Steve Vasiloff, who lives west of town to connect with the city water system.

PLENTY OF FRONT, BUT NOT MUCH BACKING

We had started to walk to our office. We heard a honk and looked up just as a very shiny, also a very high priced car drew up to the curb. The owner of the car, a very gentlemanly chap—married and one child—invited us to step in and ride down to the city. We would have preferred to walk—but, you know how it is, you hate to refuse an invitation of that kind for fear of giving offense.

And then of course there must be conversation and so we said, "Pretty nice car you have here Ben, must have cost you back several dollars."

"Yes, she's a pretty fair little one," said Ben, "but owing it is partly business with me and not entirely pleasure," and then continuing he said, "several years ago I read an article by some man, I forget who wrote it, but anyway he said if you wanted to get ahead in this world you must put on a good front. That article made quite a bit with me and I decided to follow his advice."

"Making good money are you Ben?"

"You bet I am, scads of it. Why my house rent costs me $100.00 a month and believe me I've got some swell furniture too, if anybody should ask you."

"Savvy any money, Ben?"

The answer to this question was longer delayed, but finally the young man replied, "Well, I'm not saying any right now, in fact I'm running behind a bit, but with the front I'm putting up, I expect to pull off some pretty big deals with some pretty big people one of these days and then I'll commence salting some away."

People who give advice, men and women who write things for other people to read, have some responsibility resting in the lead of their pencils, because this country right now is literally run over with "Ben's."

O. H. Fithian and Mrs. A. E. Barker, of Portland, were business visitors at the H. A. Coombs place on Sunday. Mr. Fithian is of the firm of Fithian, Barker & Co., wholesale boot and shoe dealers of the Rose City.

M. C. O'Connell has just completed a concrete porch at the Freeman residence, and also laid a cement walk in front of the Congregational parsonage.

Carl Bishop, of Bishop Bros., Portland, was a business visitor here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Barthold and daughter were Portland visitors on Sunday last.

Mrs. Mary Baldwin visited her mother in Portland on Wednesday.

It is reported on reliable authority that the Oregon-Washington Aero Co. is looking for an available landing place in Beaverton.

Ye town reporter notes with pride the recent improvements made by Geo. Thyrup. His cigar and confectionery store has been renovated from top to bottom, making it a model of a modern town like Beaverton.

James E. Baker, son of G. W. G. Baker, of south of town, is working at Wheeler, Tillamook county.

TOWN HAPPENINGS TOLD IN DANCE PHOTODRAMAS

Local News Suggests That You and I and All the Rest of Us Are Interested In.

Dr. Howard E. Carruth and Frank D. Carruth, wife and daughter, came up from Portland Sunday to visit their parents in Beaverton. After two years of army service, partly in France, Dr. Carruth has spent the past winter in Philadelphia taking special work in eye, ear and throat diseases, and will open an office in Portland as a specialist in these lines.

W. P. Johnson was here from Yamhill Sunday visiting his daughter, Mrs. H. J. Hughes. The latter went with him to Canton Monday, where he celebrated his birthday with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Deddon, that day, being 72 years old. He is actively employed in the garage and shop of his son, Theo. P., at Yamhill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Leonard, of Aberdeen, spent the week-end with relatives in Beaverton.

J. T. Melloy has sold his farm near Hillsboro and is now a resident of Hillsboro.

The Eastern Star at Forest Grove entertained the local chapter last Monday evening and all report a most enjoyable evening. Those to attend from Beaverton were: Mrs. Elmer Stipe, Mr. and Mrs. Doy Gray, Mrs. H. O. Stipe, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Gay Alexander, Mrs. Geo. Thyrup, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stitt, Mrs. Geo. Kline, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Davis, W. H. Boyd, Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Mrs. E. L. Tucker, Mrs. Julia Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Shepherd, Mrs. Geo. Blosser and Mrs. Natalie Bruce.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Flint and Mrs. W. H. Boyd spent the week at Seaside. They went down by auto Monday morning.

Kinton Grange extended an invitation to the Beaverton Grange last Saturday with the result that our neighboring community entertained: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Mrs. W. J. Leonard, Mrs. H. O. Stipe, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Denney, Mrs. W. H. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmet, Mrs. Ayers, Mrs. Cary, Miss Mamie Ayers, W. J. Henry and P. J. Schoene.

Miss May Fisher is taking a vacation from her work in Portland.

Harold Pegg has returned home from Los Angeles, Calif. He is happy to be with us again and says there is no place like Beaverton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Briggs and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Faulding, of Portland, were Sunday guests of the Barnes family. Mr. Faulding is principal of one of Portland's largest schools and a former teacher in the Cornelius High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, of Portland, took Sunday dinner with their daughter, Mrs. B. R. Gailbraith, of Beaverton. It is not common to see a couple live to celebrate their 50th, much less their 60th. The dinner was in celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Miller's 64th anniversary. At marriage the bride was 20, the groom 23, making their present ages 84 and 87 years. Their strength of body and mind has been exceptional for their advanced years. May it continue so as long as God see fit to spare these His servants. The daughter is well known here, being the superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School.

Mr. Pearson, owner of the blacksmith shop at Progress was in town Thursday evening. Pearson is an expert horseman.

Reggie Root is very busy planting horse-radish this week.

Henry Melsen has been making the "new dust fly" with his wood saw west of town the last few days.

Mr. Fredray has been overhauling the old Klink place, preparatory for spring planting.

The two swales on the road leading Southward from Archie Pila's corner needs rucking this summer, as it was almost impossible for the mail carrier and residents over that way to travel last winter.

George Blosser has been improving the lawn at his home west of town.

FIFTY YEARS AN AMERICAN

Fifty years ago Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, E. K. Pearson landed at Castle Garden, New York, and today, an American. And Wednesday Mr. Pearson was proud and happy. The guest manager of the Beaver garage and hardware Co. Inc. presented many of his friends with souvenir pencils in honor of the event.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Carruth have gone to Charleston for two weeks, as is fully explained in his advertisement.

SPEAKER WARNS FARMERS OF NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE

Arthur Foster, who spoke at the Knights of Pythias hall here on Friday evening of last week concerning the activities of the Non-Partisan League of North Dakota, gave a most illuminating story of the high handed way in which the leaders of that organization had conducted the affairs of the state since the Non-Partisan League had come into power. They had dominated the whole system of government from the smallest office to the highest, even to the Supreme Court of the State and had ruled with an autocratic hand, driving capital from the State and increasing State taxation beyond the wildest dreams of the most corrupt political rings extant.

He characterized the organization as purely socialistic and with the power of money collected from individuals, who were led to join the Non-Partisan League; the wily leaders had carried out the most extravagant socialistic ideas that could be imagined. The business of the whole state had been so monopolized, ultimate wreck was inevitable.

He warned our farmers and ranchers to steer clear of the Non-Partisan League and when their solicitors called upon them to solicit membership to turn them down cold if they would save their Oregon from the fate that had befallen North Dakota.

Mr. Foster was a farmer in North Dakota for many years, homesteaded there and now owns a farm there on which his taxes have increased many fold. He is now a citizen of Forest Grove, having recently purchased the D. H. Cheney property.

He left North Dakota on account of the machinations of the Non-Partisan League.

THIRTY-FIFTH ANNUAL SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET

The Thirty-fifth Annual Convention of the Oregon Sunday School Association will be held in Forested this week, May 8th to 10th, at the First Presbyterian Church.

Several leading S. S. workers from Chicago, Seattle and Spokane are on the program, besides representatives from all over the State.

The program is an unusually good one and this promises to be the most successful S. S. Convention ever held in the State. It is under the general management of Harold Y. Buehert, State General Secretary. Washington County is entitled to send 60 delegates. Every Sunday School should send one. Be on hand Thursday afternoon to register.

GRAND PICTURES PLEASE DO COME

Film Shown Was Gently Rehearsed By Mrs. David Voss Baker and Mr. Kumbach's Victim.

Two a Japan, good natured and lence which assembled at the high school auditorium Friday evening to be entertained by motion pictures and by musical selections by local artists.

The film was "Believe Me, Dear Uggie," with Wallace Reid as the star. It was a good picture.

Mrs. Davis sang and responded to an answer at the conclusion of the second reel.

At the close of the fourth reel, Mrs. Kumbach gave a pleasing vocal selection with R. G. Freeman at the piano. They were liberally applauded.

MASONIC PICNIC TO BE HELD AT FOREST GROVE

One of the biggest gatherings of its kind ever held in Oregon will be held at Forest Grove on Monday, May 11th, if plans now under way are carried out.

The Masonic fraternity of Portland is now making arrangements for a Masonic and Eastern Star picnic to be held here on the above date and it is promised that at least eight or ten thousand people will be in attendance. A committee from the Portland organizations will meet the officers and members of Holbrook Lodge tonight in conference concerning the big event. At that conference details will be worked out and arrangements completed for the picnic. It will be one of the biggest events in the history of Forest Grove. Masons all over the State will be invited and every lodge will be solicited to send a delegation.

It behooves Forest Grove to put on her "best bib and tucker" for this occasion, and be ready to extend the glad hand to the visitors.

A regular old-fashioned clean-up should be given the town. Let everybody get busy, clean up their yards, mow their lawns, cut the weeds and grass from the parkings and spruce up generally and then keep it that way. Forest Grove's reputation is at stake. Get busy NOW.

ANOTHER FORD STORY

W. H. Hunter, Martin Gaudin, Jacob Schmidt, Carl Batts and Jacob Schmidt, Jr., went fishing during the week at Troutdale. They met a man with buggy whip who was driving a Ford. Mr. Hunter asked for whip. "Only car you can whip out of this lot," replied the motorist as he drove on.

The card party given at St. Cecilia Wednesday was a very pleasant affair. A large number attended. Prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. E. Summers and the consolation prize was awarded to Miss Louise Miller.
