At one place on the highway just this side of Reedville where an inviting slope induces many machines to speed toward a place where the narrow highway drops abruptly to a ditch below, a very appropriate warning faces the would-be speeder in the shape of an advertisement for a Portland undertaking concern which glares from one of the new bill boards which (dis)grace the highway. The warning is appropriate.

ate, but to those who must speed we will say that W. E. Pegg will do the job just as well, just as promptly and just as satisfactorily as the Portland concern and in this as in all other affairs it is good business, good policy and local patriotism to trade at home.

Pegg has a phone on the Beaverton exchange. If you're going to need an undertaker, you'll save at least a dime toward your estate if you call him before you start on the wild plunge.

A wise man sees his own faults. The fool sees only those of others.

This year every citizen should vote—vote right—but not often.

Cheer up! A smile is no more expensive than a frown.

Yes, this is a good town. But do you ever tell others so?

Be of good cheer, brother. That, at least, has not been boosted in price.

Yes, there is a fixed valuation to a smile. It is all you can get out of it.

It pays to take time by the forelock. Otherwise it may get you by the neck.

There's a dainty maid in this town who doesn't like to be kissed—so she says. And she's such a martyr!

Some people are always complaining of their lot in life. And that, perhaps, is the reason their lot is subject to complaint.

Now that woman has been given the right to vote in many states, mere man is confronted with the problem of inducing her to vote.

Food is going up, clothing is going up, smokes are going up, everything is away up, and if something don't come down soon we'll all blow up.

Here are two important extremes of life. A good reputation is hard to make and easy to lose, while a bad one is easy to make and hard to lose.

Man is the equal of woman in all things except wherein he is not her equal. And that, surely, is diplomatic enough to prevent even our wife from taking offense.

Turkey, we are told, is to be allowed to keep Constantinople. But who is to keep the Turk? His past performances render him an unsafe animal to be roaming at large.

Many a man in this country longs for the day when all wars will be a thing of the past. Then he can slip home in the early hours of the morning without removing his shoes at the door.

The American government and private bankers have extended credits to European countries amounting to about eighteen billion dollars. And congress says it doesn't know how it is going to raise the money to pay a small bonus to our former service men.

The business men of Forest Grove have secured a full page ad. in the News-Times and make an important announcement this week that should be read by every News-Times subscriber. There will be a series of these articles covering a period of eight weeks. They deal with the upbuilding of Forest Grove and the fine community surrounding it and will be profitable to everyone. Be sure to read the first installment which appears on page 7 today.

WHO DO YOU THINK?

Who is the shrewdest and most successful business man in this town?

Who is the most benevolent natured man in town?

Who is the "whitest" man in town?

What man does the most for the expansion and the upbuilding of the town?

Who is the most popular man in town?

What man in this town (ministers excepted) comes the nearest to following the teachings of the Golden Rule?

Without reflection upon or prejudice to others, suppose you name the man in each class whom you think in most clearly entitled to the honor?

It would make interesting reading in the columns of this paper.

AS IT SEEMS TO ME

H. B.

That there's a use for everything. That the thistle is designed to make man laugh when he sees a city girl accidentally bump her silk hooded shim against one.

That the sting of a honey bee is there to urge inquisitive people to mind their own business.

That the ant is a shrine for the sluggard.

That the mosquito has built up the great and essential wire screen industry.

That the poison ivy is put on earth for the purpose of permitting us to become harmlessly rash now and then.

That the snake teaches us to watch our step, to realize that some curves are more attractive than others, and to exercise.

That the bray of a donkey indicates the safest approach to the east.

That toadstools prevent everyone from grabbing all the mushrooms.

That a few goats brought to town would relieve the tin can situation.

That from what I can see, leap year is working out in great shape, and several young folks have started gas meters going, with the girl doing the proposing. Silly idea that a man had to chase his bride-to-be—had to slip up on her and grab her when she wasn't looking. As if a girl wasn't always looking!

That we all should be like the woodpecker—use our heads.

That we should all work hard and boost for Beaverton like Helen B.

The Security Benefit Association

formerly the Knights and Ladies of Security has recently revived Beaverton Council No. 2874

and taken in many new members.

L. M. THOMAS, Dist. Manager

Beaverton Council, No. 2874, Security Benefit Association, has been thoroughly revived since the coming of State Deputy H. W. Smith from Portland two weeks ago. A week ago last Wednesday night a class of 14 new members was added and last night Miss Oma Emmons, Frank G. Haulenbeck and Algot E. Erickson learned the mysteries of the lodge.

The officers of the local council are: L. E. Dean, president; Mrs. J. M. Davis, vice president; Miss Oma Emmons, second vice president; L. B. Wilson, prelate; George Coughlin, guard; Geo. W. Ballard, sentinel; Mrs. O. V. Hill, financier; Dr. C. E. Mason, Secretary; Mrs. E. D. Young, Conductress.

Seventeen new members have been added. The meeting place will probably be in the Grange Hall.

The local Council is planning a drive for membership under Mr. Smith's direction and because of the excellent policies offered, everything points to a large class each Wednesday evening.

The home and hospital are two of the most important among the various improvements adopted since the last National convention. The Home and Hospital are located at Topeka, the headquarters of the Association. A large farm consisting of 375 acres is located near the city of Topeka, on which has been built the Home and Hospital for children of deceased members. They are given a home and education by the Association. A fund is being set apart from the general funds of the Order each month for the maintenance of the Home and Hospital. Provision is also made for the care of aged members who may not have comfortable homes of their own, and desire to avail themselves of the conveniences of the Home and Hospital, in their declining years. Since the opening of the Home, over 100 orphan children and aged members have been admitted to its shelter. Each year, as occasion demands, new units will be added to the building, as it is the policy of the management that no worthy orphan or age member shall be deprived of the benefits provided by the Home.

The Association has a combined membership exceeding 250,000, and has paid to the beneficiaries of deceased members, over twenty million dollars, and to disabled members over five million. It has 3500 local councils located in every state in the United States except several of the extreme southern states where the mortality rate among the people is such as to make it unadvisable to organize. In Portland there are six local councils composing a membership of nearly four thousand. Two of the largest councils boast of memberships of over twenty-five hundred. There are also over 500 juveniles. The Order admits men and women on the same terms and has one of the most beautiful ritualistic ceremonies of any similar association. The accompanying picture illustrates the headquarters of the Order. A hotel and bank building is also owned by the association in Topeka, Kansas.

Mr. Smith is occupying a room at the home of O. V. Hill and will be pleased to explain the several features of the various policies, as well as the juvenile policy, which insures children from one to sixteen years of age at a cost of 20 cents per month and pays benefits ranging from $45 at the start up to $600.

J. M. KIRKPATRICK, National President, K. & L. of S.
