OREGON NOTES

News in Brief, Gathered From Various Parts of The State.

Robert Florer, 66, committed suicide in Baker by shooting off the entire top of his head.

The Lane County Holstein-Breeders association was organized at a meeting in Eugene.

The state fire marshal will make an investigation of the recent fire at Oregon City, which destroyed property to the value of $75,000.

Oregon Duroo-Jersey breeders from all sections of Marion county gathered at Salem Saturday for the annual picnic of the organization.

The public service commission has increased from 10 to 25 per cent the rates of the Idaho Power company for electric service in Oregon.

A force of 125 men is at work in the river bottoms of Lane and Linn counties, cutting halm, or cottonwood, for the manufacture of excelsior.

The first forest fire of the season in the north end of Jackson county has started in the timber on the head of Kane's creek, south of Gold Hill.

Seven persons were injured and property valued at $30,000 destroyed in a fire that swept Halfway, a mining town 37 miles southeast of Baker.

Eight events will be contested in the first of a series of three firemen's tournaments to be held by the departments of Albany, Corvallis and Lebanon.

Sixteen cows registered in the Smith-Pungqua cow testing association produced more than 40 pounds of butter fat each during the month of March.

Marshfield's armory, built with local, county and state funds, was dedicated Friday with a grand military ball given by the second company, Coast Artillery.

The 29th annual convention of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs closed at Enterprise, after one of the most delightful gatherings of its history.

The annual Union livestock show is pronounced the best one ever held in Union county. A feature was a daily golf game between Boise and Spokane teams.

When the various units of the Oregon National Guard are recruited to their full strength they will be distributed annually $100,000 of federal money.

On Saturday and Sunday, June 19 and 20, Salem will be host to about 500 motorcycle enthusiasts, representing practically every motorcycle club in the northwest.

Lane county has 3367 farms, of which 1689 are occupied by the owners and 478 are rented, according to the summary of assessments in the office of the county assessor.

The date for the annual encampment of the Wheeler County Pioneer association has been set for July 15-18 at the Julia Henderson grounds, 12 miles south of Fossil.

Representative Hawley has nominated three cadets to Annapolis naval academy as follows: Wallace Walsh, Newport; George Winfield Scott, Yamhill; and Ralph E. Wilson, Salem.

A coroner's jury at Corvallis has decided that Ludwig B. Ellis, whose body was found hanging to a tree on the Oregon Agricultural college campus, hanged himself while insane.

Audit of the books of O. P. Hoff, state treasurer, in the recent grand jury investigation of his office, cost $3600, according to figures presented to the state emergency board.

With the exception of a short stretch of a few yards where a sharp turn was cut off, the pavement on the Pacific highway between Eugene and Junction City has been completed.

After four days and nights chiefly given over the transaction of business of the organization, the Oregon State Grange concluded its 47th annual convention at Bend Saturday.

George T. Baldwin, state senator and delegate-elect to the democratic national convention, died at Klamath Falls. He had been ill ten days. Death was due to uramic poisoning. He was 65 years of age.

The taxpayers of seven school districts in the western part of Lane county will vote at the annual school meeting in each district June 21 on the question of establishing a union high school at Florence.

George L. Burt, the California potato broker, has notified the Bend Commercial club that no effort will be made to develop lands until an understanding has been reached regarding the employment of Japanese.

The halibut banks off Yaquina bay, discovered in 1912, are now laden with halibut. The fishing schooner Empire, in charge of Captain Anderson, arrived at Newport with 14,000 pounds of fish following two days' fishing.

With a view of exterminating coyotes between the John Day and Deschutes rivers by formation of a trapping district, Professor O. N. Nelson, in charge of the sheep department at Oregon Agricultural college will visit Antelope June 18.

Will H. Bennett, state superintendent of banks, was elected chairman of the state irrigation securities commission. Percy Copper, state engineer, was named secretary of the body. Attorney-General Brown is the third member of the commission.

Elimination of pleasure riding, or any unnecessary use of cars, and strict conservation of gasoline are urged in a public statement issued by Governor Olcott as a solution whereby the essential and productive industries of the state may continue in operation.

The department of geology of the University of Oregon announces that it will establish a field camp in the vicinity of Gold Hill about June 30, and expects to make detail maps of a region lying east of Gold Hill, and will investigate various local geologic problems.

Filing on the O. & C. grant lands continues brisk at the U. S. land office in Roseburg. A large part of the land was filed on before May 14, but the remainder is being inspected by a great many ex-soldiers each week and the majority of them are taking up homesteads.

The state forestry department decided definitely to go before the emergency board and ask for approximately $5000 to defray the cost of operating the airplane forest fire patrol until such time as Oregon's share of the pending government appropriation is available.

The state fish and game commission has offered a reward of $200 for the arrest and conviction of persons placing explosives in the rivers of Marion, Polk and Yamhill counties. It is said that explosives have been planted in the North Santiam river, near Stayton, with the result that many fish have been killed.

The Oregon Agricultural experiment station and the United States bureau of soils working co-operatively are mapping the soils of Benton and Clackamas counties, work on the survey of the Willamette valley having been resumed. It is hoped to complete the Benton county survey and start the map of Polk before the close of this season.

Persons arriving in Salem from various parts of Oregon have reported to Governor Olcott that the gasoline situation is serious. In the southern part of the state the supply has been entirely exhausted, according to reports reaching the governor, while in eastern Oregon, tractors have been compelled to cease operations because of the shortage of fuel.

What is said to be the largest single deal in eastern Oregon range land, where the purchase was made by a single stockman, was consummated last week when R. N. Stanfield purchased for the Malheur Land & Livestock company 40 sections in Harney county from the Western Colonization company. The price was understood to be in the neighborhood of $150,000.

Taxes estimated at $5,879,587.58, based on the prospective property valuations of the state for the year 1926, will be due and payable in the year 1921, as the result of the passage of the higher educational measure, elementary school bill, blind institution act and soldiers', sailors' and marines' educational aid law, at the recent special election in Oregon, according to figures compiled.

According to the report submitted by the arbitration committee appointed by the chamber of commerce to fix the value of the various tracts included in the site of the proposed naval base at Astoria, this property will cost the citizens of Astoria and Clatsop county $96,094.71. The chamber of commerce board of directors will call a mass meeting of the people to sanction purchase of the property pending an election in November to issue bonds.

Warning was given by the Lane county grand jury before it adjourned that future violations of the corrupt practices act in printing election advertisements in newspapers on the morning of the election and of violations of the act in other ways, which it is alleged took place in Eugene May 11, will be prosecuted, but that because of misapprehension of the law in regard to printing advertisements no indictments for that offense were returned at this session.

The senate confirmed the following Oregon postmasters: Oscar Kendall, Richland; Joseph Lyons, Reedsport; Frank H. Lighthouse, Seaside; James W. Dunn, St. Benedict; James A. Watson, Philomath; Walter L. Hembree, McMinville; Homer E. Wood, Independence; William F. Quinlan, Grants Pass; Robert P. Wirtz, Forest Grove; Chester Noland, Crowell; Katherine B. Vestoh, Cottage Grove; John W. Leneve, Coquille; Warren A. Heyman, Estacada; Fitzhugh G. Lee, Junction City.

In answer to a protest of the American Legion post at Klamath Falls, Secretary John Barton Payne of the interior department, denied that the government had contemplated leasing 20,000 acres of land on the Klamath reservation and 90,000 acres of land in Big Marsh to the California-Oregon Power company. Secretary Payne in his letter, which was sent to Senator Chamberlain, disclosed, however, that a lease on 1620 acres had been made to the power company by former Secretary Lane.

BIG TIME PROMISED FOR SHRINE MEET

anything from a haircut to an ambulance and with the precise details of the programme at their fingers' ends.

Information booths all over Portland will be hooked on to this special Shrine switchboard, so that all a visitor will have to do will be to take a telephone off the hook and ask for what he wants. Guy M. Morris, of the telephone company has handled this "stunt."

Hotel Rooms All Reserved

Every room in 61 hotels has been reserved and from two to four visitors will be dispatched to every room. Then a few more folks will be hidden away as follows:

Multnomah Club	350
Irrington Club	110
B'nai B'rith	330
Social Turnverein	300
First Methodist Church	200
Lincoln, Shattuck and Couch schools	1200
Private homes	8000

It is anticipated that 10,000 persons will go directly to the homes of friends, while arrangements have been made to care for an additional 20,000 if required.

Columbia Beach has been prepared as the official auto camp ground and is ready for 5000 automobiles, with gas piped in, electricity, supply stores, baths and all comforts. That will take care of, say, 20,000 to 25,000 more.

At times 60 bands will be playing at one time—O! you jazz!

Ira Powers has lined up 3000 automobiles a day for sight-seeing and expects to have a few hundred more. That will include the round-the-town trips, as well as the jaunts on the highway.

Pendleton Indians will accompany the Pendleton Shriners; so will 26 bad horses from the Pendleton country. At Sixth and Ankeny one of the Texas temples will erect an oil derrick.

Every auto salesroom on Broadway will move out its equipment, and Shrine headquarters of one sort or another will occupy the entire auto row.

When Shriners arrive 500 automobiles have been mobilized to meet them. At the depot the visitors will give to an information desk a card giving the telephone number of their hosts, previously supplied them, and duplicate records will be available. Shrine clerks will be busy telephoning the home to get ready while the visitors will be dashed out in the fleet of machines mobilized by A. S. Robinson, of the Robinson-Smith company.

Because of the shortage of railroad equipment, thousands of persons canceled their reservations. Practically all of them have renewed them since they have learned the details of the Portland entertainment—by all odds the greatest ever offered at a Shrine convention.

Automobile Area Restricted

No automobiles, save those for commercial houses for delivery purposes, will be allowed inside a certain restricted downtown area.

Downtown will be transformed over night into an oriental city, with mosques, minarets and the other features that Arabian Shriners know so well.

No streets will be torn up. Street flushing will be done at night and the city made sweet and clean every morning. Wood must be removed from in front of residences by official order.

On the highway will be a service car every two miles. Drivers will not need to change their tires if they have punctures. A woman driver will be perfectly at ease.

The festival center will be several times better than ever before. The electric parade will outstrip the happiest hopes of the past.

And this is but a sketch of the real thing.

Every Shiner has his job. Every man is on his toes. The Shrine committees are getting restive waiting for the starting whistle.

"Ready?" they say. "You bet we're ready."

In the slang of the day: IT'll be some show!

A certain editor and publisher of a country newspaper in Kansas was asked to leave the community as a result of a typographical error in his report of the wedding of the mayor's daughter, says a western exchange.

After exhausting his supply of large words about the "blushing bride," he said: "The large elaborate bouquets of roses were punk."

The mayor demanded a correction and apology in the next week's issue, all of which the editor was glad to promise.

The next issue contained: "We wish to apologize for the manner in which we disgraced the beautiful wedding last week. Through an error of the typesetter we were made to say, 'The roses were punk.' What we wanted to say was that 'the noses were pink.'"

"Ernest," said the teacher of geography, "tell what you know about the Mongolian race."

"I wasn't there," explained Ernest hastily. "I went to the ball game."

When the various units of the Oregon National Guard are recruited to their full strength they will be distributed annually $100,000 of federal money.

May be left at The Times office or telephone them to E. H. Jonas.

He had had bad luck fishing, and on his way home he entered the butcher shop and said to the dealer: "Just stand over there and throw me five of the biggest of those trout!"

"Throw 'em? What for?" asked the dealer in amazement.

"So I can tell the family I caught 'em. I may be a poor fisherman, but I'm no liar."

A lady who had just received an interesting bit of news said to her little daughter, "Marjory, dear, auntie has a new baby, and now mamma is baby's aunt, papa is baby's uncle, and you are her little cousin." "Well," said Marjorie, wonderingly, "wasn't that arranged quick?"

WHY NOT OWN A DORT

You'll never get more for your money and you might spend a lot more and not get anything as good as the Dort.

I wouldn't be a bit surprised if a lot of you right now are driving cars that represent a lot less value for each dollar expended than the Dort represents.

And one beauty about the question of buying a Dort is that you can get one now. You don't have to wait for deliveries.

You can get at the parts of the Dort. You can see what your car is doing and keep things from going wrong. That keeps down bills and prevents depreciation.

Really, there's no argument about it. You'll want one some day. So come in and talk to us now and you will see why you really need a Dort.
