Less Than One Tenth Civil War Soldiers Living. From the report of the commissioners of pensions published in the National Tribune it is learned that 8217 old soldiers of the Civil War died during the month of April and 2060 widows of Civil War soldiers died during the month. As there were nearly two million eight hundred thousand enlistments during the four years unpleasantness this report shows that less than one tenth of these men are now living.

The most expensive hole in your pocket is the one at the top.

When in doubt, do it. It's one way of getting ahead of the other fellow.

Some girls marry for love and some for money, but most of them marry when they get a good chance.

Between the girl with a pretty face and the one with pretty manners, it is not difficult for a sensible man to make a choice.

There is no denying the fact that this is a land of milk and honey, but many people don't know where the milk is and can't find the honey.

Many preachers are complaining about the limited salaries they receive. But what more can they expect, when congregations are forced to listen to the unvarnished truth about themselves?

Every ton of sea water is said to contain one grain of gold. At this ratio the seas contain about ninety billion tons of the yellow metal. Help yourself.

IT IS DIFFERENT HERE

Have you ever contrasted our American methods with those of our cousins across the water? Do it. You will find food for thought.

For instance, we are in the midst of a great national election campaign. Our President's term is expiring and we are choosing the man who will rule more than a hundred million people for the next four years. We will also elect senators and many other lesser lights.

It is an event of first importance to the future of the nation, yet the casual observer sees nothing out of the ordinary. He could hardly detect that we have a vital campaign in full swing.

We decline to become excited. We are making no noise. We take things as a matter of fact, or of course, knowing that each man will vote his own sentiments, and that he matter who wins, the country will move along in the future as it has in the past—always better and greater than it ever has been before. That is America, and our President has more autocratic power in his fist than that possessed by all of the crowned heads left in Europe.

But on the other side of the water it is different.

A change of rulers there usually means violence, and bloodshed, and revolution, if it is a forcible change; or unrest and suspicion if it is a succession caused by death.

The country becomes stirred from one end to the other. Business suffers, jealousies are rampant, and lifelong enmities are created. That is Europe.

Yes, the subject furnishes quite a little food for thought—for one thought in particular, that America is not such a bad place after all.

THE FACTS

Arguments are now being sent through the mail in the support of the constitutional amendment to limit interest rates in Oregon to 4 and 5 per cent. In concluding the argument the article says: "Your government pays less than 5 per cent on loans amounting to billions of dollars. If it is right for Uncle Sam it is right for Uncle Sam's subjects."

Press dispatches on the same date show liberty bonds selling at the lowest price on record, running from $5.00 to $7.50 off on every $100 while U. S. Treasury Certificates to meet current indebtedness are offered at 5 1/2 to 5 3/4 per cent. Canadian bonds are hunting buyers at 7 1/4 per cent and foreign government securities are going begging at from 7 to 9 per cent and better. These are facts and can be verified at any bank.

Where would Oregon be if it should pass a measure limiting interest rates in this state to 4 and 5 per cent? Oregon would simply be off the map. This is not "capitalistic" propaganda. It is hard horse sense and affects the life of every industry in the state.

The Federal Reserve bank in San Francisco according to press dispatches is contemplating raising its discount rate to 8 or 9 per cent.

Just think these things over before you let any man tell you that Oregon can change the interest rate of the world without suffering severely.—Lebanon Criterion.

Saturday, July 10, has been set aside by the Salem merchants an special Bargain Day. Ninety-eight per cent of the Salem merchants have agreed to this important event. An occasional Bargain Day in Forest Grove in which all the stores would take a part could be made a great benefit to Forest Grove people and its merchants.

The Fourth is a day of joy to the small boy with his bunch of fire-crackers. To the man of maturity it is often one of regret that he cannot exchange places with the boy.

AS IT SEEMS TO ME

H. R.

That if some man's head were compressed to the actual size of their brain, a peanut shell would make them a panama hat.

That my friend writes me that she has 10,000 lilacs in full bloom in her front yard. "Gee! Wish I could 'lilac' that."

That a weak minded man is often the most headstrong.

That good behavior hurts no one, and a little of it goes a long way.

That the oftener a woman gets left, the more she talks about her rights.

That every woman thinks if a man had good sense he wouldn't marry any woman but her.

That after a woman passes a certain age she is willing to get married on Friday.

That when it comes to jealousy and crowing, a man can discount a rooster.

That most married men like the moving pictures, because they don't have to listen what the women in 'em say.

That an optimist is a man who still carries a cork screw.

That an egotist is always the center of an admiring crowd. He's the crowd.

That in a woman's evening dress, there's always room at the top—for more waste material.

That if you have something to say, say it. Witness: Two mothers wanted firwood. Tom's ma said: "Tom bring in a stick of wood!" She got it. Reggie's mother quoth: Reginald, my son, transport from the recumbent collection of combustible material up on the threshold of this edifice, one of the curtailed excrecences of a defunct log." She got sassied.

That electricity is a dangerous element, yet people make light of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roswurm were the unfortunate victims of a very serious fire Wednesday morning when the destroying element visited their pretty suburban home in the Curtis addition and destroyed their large barn including their automobile, farm implements, garden and carpenter tools, 100 rabbits, a lot of fine chickens, etc. The fire occurred at two o'clock in the morning and is unaccounted for unless there was some defective electric wiring as the barn was lighted by electricity. No one had been smoking about the place and Mr. Roswurm is unable to otherwise account for the fire. The loss is about $2,500 with no insurance.

ROAD WORK UNDER WAY

Otto Brose, of Gales Creek, who is looking after Washington County's interests on the highway between here and Gaston, was in Forest Grove Tuesday. He states that the highway will be given a substantial rock base this year and opened up to travel, the engineers thinking that some of the fills have not settled sufficient-
