

BANK STATEMENT SHOWS SUBSTANTIAL GROWTH

Financial Condition of Community is Reflected in Bi-Monthly Report to State Examiner.

That the Beaverton community is in a very healthy condition is amply proven by the report of the Bank of Beaver to the State Bank Examiner under date of June 30, a copy of which is published in this issue.

It is worth noting that this bank, incorporated for only $10,000 a few years ago and at the time scarcely justifying so large a figure, has grown into an institution with its capital stock fully paid up, a surplus fund equal to the capital stock and undivided profits for nearly half as much more, giving it the strength of a capitalization of $35,000.00. It has deposits aggregating nearly half a million dollars. To be more exact, the statement shows that on June 30 the bank had deposits of $435,188.41, but on the evening of July 7 the totals were more than $430,000.00.

The total resources are thus more than $450,000.00. Much of this is money from surrounding communities which has been drawn here by the careful management and courteous manner of Cashier Doy Gray and his able assistants, Misses Lillian Evans and Katherine Desinger.

The directorate of this bank is composed of men of established financial ability whose names add confidence to any dealing with the bank and they have given Mr. Gray a free hand to develop the institution to the fullest extent. Thus the close harmony with which Mr. Gray has been able to surround his institution is one of its greatest assets.

Three years ago when we first came to town, Mr. Gray had only one assistant, Miss Evans, and it was clear at the time that most of the business of the bank was dependent upon Mr. Gray alone. But in that time we have seen the business of the bank grow and Miss Evans develop a capacity for handling that business in the same careful and obliging way that has characterized Mr. Gray's dealings. Later Miss Desinger became one of the dependable officers of the bank and at the present time Mr. Gray has two young men, Francis Livermore and Archibald Masters, who are caring for the minor details of the work and are developing a capacity for banking under Mr. Gray's direction that will make them valuable factors in the business world and useful citizens of our community.

GUERNSEY BREEDERS WILL HOLD PICNIC

The Washington County Guernsey breeders are planning a monstrous picnic to be held at the farm of A. B. Piment, at Scholia, Friday, July 23. Guernsey breeders from the other Willamette Valley Counties are invited, and they expect to have a real get-together of the breeders of the fawns and whites. Notable speakers have been asked to attend, among whom are O. M. Piment, General Manager of the Livestock Exposition, and Prof. E. L. Westover, of Corvallis. Judging contests will be made a part of the program, and some of the Guernseys recently imported from the islands will be on exhibition.

F. W. Cady and family, Dr. H. H. Fowler and family, Ralph Heald and family, Frank Savage and family, Mrs. Alice Spaulding, Mrs. Alice Hills and daughters, Frances and Edna composed a picnic party the 4th to Balm Grove. Mrs. Heald and Mrs. Fowler are sisters of Mrs. Cady; Mr. Savage is a cousin of Mrs. Cady; Mrs. Hills is Mrs. Cady's mother; Mrs. Spaulding is a sister of Mr. Cady. It was a family picnic and they report a jolly good time.

Edna and Gladys Higgins were home from summer school at Mouthport for Fourth vacation.

F. W. Livermore, who is spending a short vacation at the guest of his brother, E. W., at Seaside, while recuperating from his recent illness, reports that he is improving rapidly in the beneficial salt air.

Mrs. Olga Ferguson, of Rawlins, Wyo., who has been in the Portland Sanitarium under the care of Nobel Wiley Jones, has improved much in health and is now visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Doy Gray. Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Gray are sisters.

County Agent N. C. Jamison returned yesterday from the Coos Bay country where he went last week in the interests of the Dairyman's League and reports that he missed all the hot weather which we have enjoyed here. PRINT SHOP SOLD TO PORTLAND MAN AND SON

A. G. Carruth, Who Purchased Job Department, Retires Because of Failing Health.

A. G. Carruth, who purchased the job department of The Times from R. H. Jones last winter, has been forced to retire because of failing health and has sold his plant to W. R. Bridges, of Portland, who is this week packing up the plant for removal to Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Carruth will return to their former home at Carlton.

Mr. Bridges, who is a proofreader on the Oregonian, has a son who is anxious to engage in the printing business and he has secured the plant for the purpose of giving the young man some practical experience in the trade and a knowledge of business dealings such as comes to the young man who must meet and deal with the public in the strenuous competition of the printing industry of Portland.

While it will be somewhat of an inconvenience to the business men of Beaverton to have the plant taken from the town, The Times will do everything possible to serve them in that field until such time as another printer shall feel called upon to take up the burden laid down by Mr. Carruth. Our representative will be in town every day and one of the publishers will be here frequently each week. Direct telephone communication and a familiarity with your needs will go a long way towards giving you the service to which you were accustomed when The Times was the sole call upon the time of the publisher, while larger facilities and better equipment will enable us to carry for such needs as may come to us.

COVERING SPRAY NEEDED TO CHECK COOLING MOTH

"Apple worm moths are busy depositing eggs now. The cool rainy weather following the earlier oviposition delayed the main brood until the present time," says A. L. Lovett, entomologist of the O. A. C. Experiment station. "Growers who applied the '30-day' spray previous to the rains should apply a protecting spray now. All indications point to a rather light infestation of worms at this time. Careful spraying will check their increase and be of decided value in preventing a heavy late brood of worms."

PIONEER CITIZEN OF GASTON PASSES TO HIS REWARD

Eugene Xenophon Harding was born in Three Rivers, Mich., Jan. 15, 1882.

He moved when a young man with his parents to Lima, Indiana, thence to La Grange. He attended the La Grange Normal and was married in March, 1877, to Harriet E. Himes. They came to Oregon in June 1877, and settled at McMinnville, Oregon.

He taught school in Yamhill and Washington Counties for twenty years. He resided continuously at Gaston for the last 28 years. He was Superintendent of the Congregational Sunday School for 19 years continuously, and was Justice of the Peace for 25 years.

At his death he was Secretary of the United Artisan Lodge, Recorder of the town of Gaston, and was Clerk of the school board for 24 years. He leaves a wife, Harriet E. Harding, four children, Mrs. Neal Brown, E. F. W. Harding, Mrs. M. T. Eaton, and Mrs. E. E. Harding, and one sister, Mrs. E. E. Cluhine, of Retail, Wash. together with many friends to mourn his loss.

For a number of years Mr. Harding conducted the flouring mill in Gaston. He was a man of fine character, highly respected and esteemed by all who knew him or came in contact with him. He will be greatly missed by the people of the community in which he lived and gave his best effort to build up.

He was a faithful and valuable member of the Gaston Congregational Church and took an active interest in every department of church work where he was most needed; being especially interested in Sunday School work, not only as a teacher in Gaston but many other schools and conventions have been strengthened by his presence and encouragement. It can truthfully be said "he will rest from his labors and his works shall follow him."

The large congregation that gathered at the Congregational Church of Gaston, where the funeral service was held, was an evidence of the place he held in the hearts of the people of Gaston and the surrounding country.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. M. Barber assisted by Rev. Daniel Staver of Forest Grove and Rev. Tate, of Portland, with the burial in the McMinnville cemetery.

Mr. Harding departed this life June 29th, 1920, aged 69 years, 6 months and 14 days.

AGENTS FOR GASSAVER WILL BE HERE SATURDAY

Demonstrations for All at Highway Garage—Loel & Schottmann Will Handle Invention Locally.

Herbert Parker and George K. Brown, of Forest Grove, agents for 17 counties in Oregon for the Economy Atomizer, the little gas saver which has done so much to relieve the gasoline shortage in the few months it has been on the market, were in Beaverton yesterday and while here arranged with Loel & Schottmann, proprietors of the Highway Garage, to act as local dealers for the little invention.

They also arranged for a number of (Saturday) afternoon and will be at the garage all afternoon for the purpose of giving demonstrations. Any owner of car, truck, tractor, or other gasoline engine, no matter what the make, will do well to see these men while they are in town. They will gladly run a test for anyone interested enough to bring his car in Saturday afternoon.

The test is simply made. First the carburetor is disconnected from the gasoline tank and connected up with a little tank which the agents have that holds just one quart of gasoline. Then the car is started and run over any route the owner desires with himself or any other driver he wishes at the wheel. When it stops for want of fuel, the distance is taken and then the little invention is placed between the carburetor and the manifold and the car is again started back over the same route. When it stops for want of fuel, the distance is again taken and the gain computed. Some tests show as high as 36 per cent gain in mileage. Others have shown gains ranging from one or two miles to a fourth of the mileage per gallon.

A test recently run on the Times publisher's car showed a gain of two miles to the gallon after an extra stop had been made on a steep grade.

STANDARD OIL PLANT IS BEING ENLARGED

Office Facilities and Garage Found too Small for Rapidly Expanding Business.

Under the energetic direction of Frank H. Johnston, the business of the Standard Oil Company in this locality has outgrown the facilities of the plant and during the past week the big garage has been doubled in capacity and will now hold four trucks instead of two and the office has been enlarged and moved from the warehouse to a separate building of its own up near the street.

When special agent Frank H. Johnston, came to the local plant nearly three years ago there was just one truck serving this territory and he did all the office work himself during his odd hours. At the present time three trucks are kept humming all the time and the demands upon them point to the addition of another at no greatly distant future date and, although no announcement has been made the addition of the fourth truck capacity to the garage confirms this belief. Of them, the truckman did all the warehousing and when he became overworked, Mr. Johnston helped out. Now L. B. Wilson, Orton McLeod and Henry Erickson are kept busy on the trucks and Charles Robbins is given little spare time as a warehouseman. Mr. Johnston is busier than ever, although Miss Elva Rossi keeps the books, looks after the office and tends to detail work.

When Mr. Johnston came here, he was known merely as a representative but now he has the recognition of his superiors under the title of Special Agent.

It is no small wonder that there is a gasoline shortage if the Standard Oil Company has many salesmen like Frank Johnston. The increase of the use of gasoline in this locality if fairly representative of the general condition, would certainly tax any refining system to keep up with it.

L. C. Stark and family spent the Fourth over on the Nehalem and report a good time and plenty of fish.

FIVE NEW MEMBERS OF P. U. FACULTY NAMED

Rev. Warren Morse, whose daughter, Lucy, was a Freshman at Pacific University last year, has presented the College a collection of about two hundred books, comprising valuable books on history, philosophy, social problems, etc. This gift, and the interest indicated by it, are very much appreciated.

Miss Mary Baker and her father, of Portland, and Dr. Taggart, of Bremerton, called at the college Tuesday evening, on their way home from an extended auto trip which included Crater Lake. Miss Baker is a graduate of Franklin High School and will attend Pacific University next year. She is an authority on birds and bird-life, and has given frequent lectures on the subject. On their way home they called at a number of colleges, but Miss Baker says she is better pleased than ever that she has decided to come to Pacific University.

The College is fortunate in the faculty members already secured. An announcement will be made very soon with reference to the places still to be filled, which include athletics and biology, physical education for women, public speaking and English.

Mrs. W. C. Hervey is to be Secretary to the President. Mrs. Hervey has for a number of years been an enthusiastic friend of the college, from which her daughter Elizabeth graduated a year ago.

Miss Lottie E. Peters, a graduate of Pacific University in the class of 1905, will be librarian and registrar. Miss Peters is a graduate of the Syracuse Library School, and was with the Salem Library last year.

Mr. Don M. Dalley, who will have charge of the work in history and economics, is a graduate of Oberlin College and has had several years of experience—one year was spent in the Adjutant General's Department as an accounting expert. The work that Mr. Dalley will give will include courses in accounting.

Mr. Harold S. Tuttle, who comes as head of the department of education, is a graduate of the College of the Pacific, from which he has also the Master's degree in education. Mr. Tuttle has had thorough graduate training in education at Pacific School of Religion and the University of California. This training, together with several years of high school teaching experience, guarantees the quality of his work at Pacific University. His courses will include: Child Study, The Teaching Process, Socializing Secondary Education, High School Problems, History of Education, Moral Training; and, in the field of Religious Education: Hebrew Moral Progress, and the Social Teachings of Jesus.

Dr. Henry F. Price, as announced last week, will have charge of the work in mathematics and physics. Dr. Price is a graduate of Swarthmore College, and has both the Master's and Doctor's degrees from the University of Pennsylvania, his major work being in mathematics and minor in physics. Dr. Price was in Forest Grove Monday, to make plans for moving here.

FORMER SCHOLARS OF M'KAY SCHOOL GATHER

Fourth Annual Reunion of Teachers and Pupils of Pioneer District Held Near Whitford.

Tales of "Dear old school days" fifty years ago mingled with tales of the school days between now and then were told once again at the fourth annual meeting of the former pupils of the McKay school, which is located within a mile west of Whitford, on land given to the district for the school fifty years ago by James McKay, who died some fifteen or twenty years ago.

The association of former pupils was formed four years ago and each year on the Saturday following the meeting of the Oregon Pioneers in Portland these scholars of the McKay school, whether they attended fifty years ago or twenty or five, met at the old school house and renewed old friendships. The crowd this year, while not as large as last year, according to those attending, was good sized and all seemed to enjoy the chance of renewing old acquaintances and making new ones. Letters were read by the secretary, from absent members, who were unable to be present.

Horse Nichols, a Portland lawyer and pupil of fifty years ago, addressed the assemblage. Others who gave short talks were John Tigar, Charles Tigar, George Helms of Portland and A. Wilmot, Mr. Wilmot is a former teacher, having taught in the McKay school about twenty-five years ago. The association always makes an effort to have all of the former teachers present at the reunion as well as the scholars.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Tefft and Alfred Davies are Beaverton residents who are among those who attended the school fifty years ago. Other families attending the school at that time were the Dennys, Robinsons, Fannos, Pattons and McKays. The McKay family numbered four daughters and one son, Cyrus. It was their father, James McKay, for whom the school was named.

"The school is still running and had about 40 pupils last year," said G. W. Tefft, one of those who attended half a century ago. "But other districts have been made of parts of the district from which it drew and now there is but little left. Last year people came clear from Seattle to attend the reunion. Mr. Alfred Davies and my wife and I are the only members of the class which attended the McKay school fifty years ago who live in Beaverton. Mr. Davies was unable to be present this year."

BRACKEN GREENBURG

The home of Mrs. Mary Greenburg, at Greenburg station, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on the evening of June 25, when her daughter, Miss Elizabeth, became the bride of Mr. Claus Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erickson, of Progress, and a brother of Henry Erickson, of Beaverton.

The home was beautifully decorated with evergreens, ferns and flowers. The bride was attended by Miss Alice Erickson and Mr. Alfred Greenburg was the groom's best man. The ceremony was performed by the Reverend H. C. Young, of Metzger.

The bride wore a neat traveling suit of navy blue and the groom the conventional black. After the wedding, a buffet supper was served and amidst the best wishes of the friends and relatives, the happy couple left for Rockaway where they will spend a week or more.

The bride is the popular and accomplished daughter of Mrs. Mary Greenburg and is well known to a host of friends in the Greenburg and Progress neighborhoods as well as elsewhere. The groom has for several months been an employee of the Standard Oil Company, formerly at Beaverton but now at Linton. They will make their home at Greenburg, where Mr. Erickson has easy access to his work over the Garden Home-Seaside service of the Oregon Electric.

TIGARDVILLE PIONEER PASSES

Edward Wood, aged 85 years, died at his home near Tigardville, Sunday, July 4, following a lingering illness of several months duration. Heart disease was the cause of his death. The funeral was held from the Grange hall in Tigardville Tuesday afternoon, July 6th, at 2 o'clock. Many friends of the family attended the services and followed the remains to Crescent Grove cemetery where interment took place.

One daughter, Mrs. Hannah Christanson, lives three miles south of Beaverton near Tigard. Clifton Wood, of Portland, and E. F. Wood, of Ilwaco, Wash., are two sons of the deceased.

Mr. and Mrs. Doy Gray and family and their guest, Miss Helen Mascher, of Rawlins, Wyo., motored down to Seaside, returning Monday.

A Mr. Rogg, from near Beaville, was knocked down by a car on the highway, July 5, but suffered no ill effects, according to Dr. C. E. Mason, of Beaverton, who attended him.

Miss Ernestine Masters is visiting her uncle, V. Masters, at Baker, during the summer. She will return before the opening of school.
