Quality Goes Clear Through

Call on us for a demonstration of its particular merits and the names of satisfied users.

We believe in the Dort because we've seen it given a thorough test; because it's made by a reliable company; because it's the most popular car in the Middle West where it is made, was first tried out and is best known; because we know personally many satisfied users; but most of all because we have examined every bolt and bearing and we know that "Dort quality goes clear through."

Portions of this sum have already been assigned to the Cedar Mills-North Plains road, to the Farmington river road leading from Hillsboro to Scholls and to the Scholls-Laurel road. The county court is now busy making its plans for appropriations in connection with this fund and civic bodies throughout the county are asked to participate.

THE COUNTRY NEWSPAPER

In commenting on the attack of a metropolitan daily which attempted to belittle the political influence of the country weekly and daily over the land, Harry Hammond, editor of the Byron, California, Times, one of the liveliest and most progressive papers in the country, says:

"While the country paper is small, it is doing just as much, in its way, for the progress and development of the section it serves as any of the larger papers, and in some cases a great deal more, because, as a rule, the bigger the paper the more its opinions are dominated from the counting room, something never thought of by the country weekly, which boozes its locality all the time without thought of receiving pay for such service.

"The people of a country community swear BY and not AT their local paper. It carries far greater weight, politically and otherwise, with them than does the paper of metropolitan pretensions. The country weekly is closer to the hearts of its readers than is the case with the large newspapers."

DEVELOP WATER POWER AND SAVE OIL

The need of hydro-electric development is shown by a late U. S. geological survey report. It shows that the United States is consuming its oil supply fourteen times as fast as the rest of the world.

This fact is brought to the public in a warning of fuel shortage to come with the present rate of consumption. The last figures on the world's oil supply disclose that foreign countries are using only one-half as much petroleum as the United States, while they have seven times as much oil in the ground.

Foreign countries are now using about 290,000,000 barrels of oil yearly, but they have resources large enough to last over 250 years. The United States at the present rate of consumption of more than 400,000,000 barrels a year has only an eighteen year supply. In other words, the United States is using up its own oil supply fourteen times as fast as the rest of the world.

Instead of mining out petroleum so rapidly, we must either depend more and more on oil from other sources or get along with less oil. Our children will doubtless do both.—The Manufacturer.

That just because you know you are right, don't contradict people.

Don't be inquisitive—this applies to your wife or your best friend.

Suppose yours isn't just as good—don't knock the better one.

That it isn't a good plan to think everybody in the world is having an easier time than you are.

Don't parade your aches and pains—nobody cares if your ear or head aches or if you have "rheumatism."

That molasses will catch more flies than vinegar.

That some people talk more religion in ten minutes than they practice in ten years.

That if fish would n't bite on Sunday more men would be found at church.

That a man's wife always thinks he has been drinking when he calls her an angel.

That what society really needs is a chaperon to chaperon the chaperons.

That the best talkers are usually the poorest quitters.

That a girl stands before a mirror while dressing so she can see what's going on.

That the average woman knows how to manage her daughter's husband.

That in order to successfully argue with a woman all you have to do is keep silent.

That it isn't always wise to compliment a woman on her blooming cheeks.

That lots of folks spend more for gasoline than their grandparents did for groceries. And still they complain of their lot.

That two wrongs make a riot.

That we shouldn't take prohibition too seriously—it was just put over on the country as a bit of dry humor.

That the size of a woman's shoe has a great deal to do with dress reform.

W. J. Merrick and H. H. Vaughn have taken the name of the Hillsboro Lumber Company for their mill, formerly the Hanna-Mathews Co.

Francis Linklater and Alva Patton, former Hillsboro high school principal, have started on an overland trip to Colorado.

For driving without lights and for speeding about 30 arrests a week are being made. Justice Smith put a fine of $6.50 on those who go in the dark and $15 for those in too big a hurry.

J. W. Hunt, county clerk of Columbia County, was here last week and reports that the stretch of road between Scappoose and St. Helens has recently been repaired and the contractor is about ready to turn the new road open to travel.

Dan Burkhalter was the victim of petty thieves a week ago when his trouser pocket was robbed of $5 while he slept. His bed is close to an open window and at the open window he found a carpenter's truss the following morning.

The will of Edward F. Wood, of Tigard, who died July 4, has been filed and given $100 each to his two sons and the balance of the estate of $2000 personal property to his daughter, Mrs. Hannah Christensen. C. F. Tigard is named executor.

Harry Gardner, under sentence in Multnomah County for the robbery of the C. C. Store here, tunneled under the fence at Kelly Butte last week and escaped, but three others who went with him were recaptured.

Peter Rittaler, former resident of Cornelius, is in jail at Hillsboro charged with burglarizing the Jackson Pharmacy at Cornelius some two weeks ago. The arrest is the result of some very clever detective work on the part of Sheriff Alexander and Mr. Jackson and it is expected that Rittaler's associates in the robbery will be apprehended soon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Eagleton, who was born in Terre Haute, Ind., in 1843, and came to Oregon in 1861 and to Washington County in 1886, where she has since lived, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary A. Pittenger, in Hillsboro, July 22. She is survived by three sisters and one brother: Mrs. Pittenger, Mrs. Thomas H. Tongue, of Portland and Mrs. J. D. Merryman, of Klannath Falls and Asa Eagleton, of Portland. She was a member of the Congregational church.

Mrs. Adele V. Stearns, of Portland, wants to give the two largest trees in the county to the public of Washington County and has written to Judge Goodin, asking that he arrange for the county to accept them. The trees are located on her place in Sections 6 and 14. One of the trees is said to be a giant yellow fir, 15 feet in diameter and of corresponding proportions and the other is a close mate for it. The judge is favorable to accepting the trees and building a suitable road to them, according to reports given out at the courthouse. This gift is near the bridge on Gales Creek at Timber and on the line of the proposed Inland Double Loop Highway.

Suit has been filed by Charles DuBois, who was the other victim when Traffic Officer Stockdale collided with a Ford last May, has filed suit against Sheriff Alexander for $8000, claiming that the sheriff is responsible for the acts of his deputies and that Stockdale was at fault in the accident. He asks $7500 general damages and $500 specific damages. The Aetna Casualty and Surety Co., the sheriff's bondsmen, are made parties to the suit. The complaint alleges that Stockdale was traveling in a careless manner, at from 60 to 70 miles per hour, that he was driving with one hand and using the other to fire at a law violator, and that he collided with plaintiff when plaintiff was on the right side of the road. The complaint further recites that the plaintiff was injured so as to make the amputation of one finger necessary and to render one shoulder permanently stiff. Coroner Limber served the papers on the sheriff.
