A sequel to the disappearance of an Italian known as Dave in Patton Valley seven years ago, developed Monday during logging operations when the skull and other portions of a skeleton were discovered in a mass of dead timber. Portions of a fuse and the condition of the remains indicated that death was from an explosive, and residents of the neighborhood recalled that the man had said that he would blow himself up. After leaving them, a shot was heard, but it was believed he was playing a practical joke and after firing the shot had left. Coroner Limber investigated and buried the remains at Cherry Grove—Hillsboro Independent.

LOCAL NEWS

Lots of Town Happenings Told in Brief Form.

W. E. Squires has a fine crop of corn this season.

Joe Keller has a new barn about completed on his property east of town.

The Beaverton merchants who advertise will treat you right. Any dealer who is unreliable avoids publicity.

Portland friends, Mr. and Mrs. Beach, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Davis and we understand were persuaded to make Beaverton their home, having bought the new brown house of Frank Hocken.

S. K. Nelson, of Portland, was greeting old-time friends here Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wastles and family left this week for North Adams, Michigan, their old home, where they will make their home and care for Mrs. Wastles' parents, who are getting along in years and are no longer able to care for their farm and other interests which has become so scarce and hard to get. This estimable family will be very much missed from our community and especially in the Methodist congregation in which they were tireless and efficient workers.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fry were down to the circus the first of the week.

Mrs. George Thyng and two daughters, Vena and Rhoda, and a sister from Portland, returned Tuesday from two weeks spent at Barview.

There are two restaurants in town, Home Bakery and the Beaverton Inn, and two hotels, Commercial and the Master House, all doing a good business.

Mrs. W. M. Hinchy and two daughters, Misses Anna and Mary, of Boise, Idaho, arrived here Friday for a visit with friends. Miss Anna expects to return to Boise Sunday, but Mrs. Hinchy and Miss Mary will remain for a more extended visit.

Threshing is in full swing in the East End with a bumper crop of wheat and oats.

John Gray and Robert Hocken returned last Wednesday from the Boy Scout Summer Camp at Wahutau lake and James Hudson returned yesterday. The boys had a good time, all but the camp cookery which to their minds did not quite come up to what mother can do.

The "ole swimmin' hole" over on the beaverdam is doing a rushing business these dog days—if the boys are not home you may guess the rest. Frank Allen is suffering with a fever.

There was a light frost on the low lands Tuesday night, but little damage was done.

Mrs. J. W. Davis left for Minnesota on Monday morning. This is the sixth trip she has made to the West to visit her daughter, Mrs. F. G. Donaldson.

George Hughson has been harvesting his crop of garlic this week.

Jimmie Hudson returned Tuesday from the Boy Scouts' Camp.

Some of the roses planted along city streets have had good care this summer, while some have not.

Over Sunday the 8th, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Donaldson entertained Mrs. Donaldson's uncle, W. A. Eppleston, of Seattle. On Tuesday Mr. Eppleston and Mrs. Davis, who has been spending the summer with her daughter, were taken on a trip up the Columbia Highway. They promised to tell the Seattleites and the good people of Minnesota what they saw.

A. C. Masters is quite a busy man these days. Besides working on the section during the day, he is manager of the Masters Hotel of evenings. If business keeps up he may have to run a bus to the trains, and when the train arrives in town he will hear, "Free bus to the Master's House," in the stentorian tones of a small man's voice amplified by a megaphone.

Alford Pierson, son of Andrew Pierson, of Beedville, is at St. Vincent's Hospital, Portland, recovering from a very serious operation for appendicitis. Dr. Mason was in charge of the patient.

Mystery Tied with Red Tape

The time has long passed when a bank was surrounded with so much mystery and red tape that customers felt ill at ease every time they went to the bank to transact business.

Today, the progressive bank is a FRIENDLY INSTITUTION—designed to give service cheerfully and as a BUSINESS DUTY rather than as a favor.

At least, that is how this bank regards it.

Perhaps that is one of the good reasons why many refer to this bank as "my bank," based on the spirit of friendliness and co-operation they encounter whenever they call.

Perhaps, too, it is another reason why people like to save where they think they are welcome, and where, in addition, they know their money is absolutely safe.

Whether you wish to open a savings or checking account, or wish to transact business in one of the other departments of this bank, you will appreciate this spirit of friendliness which we believe is good business.

BANK OF BEAVERTON
Beaverton, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Raymond, of Schalle, are the proud parents of a baby boy, born August 19.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Clewett have moved to their new home recently purchased from Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Tucker.

E. W. Woodruff, who purchased the property formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hocken south of town, is a new subscriber to the Beaverton Times. He believes in being a live member of the community in which he lives and says that the home paper helps him get acquainted and keeps him in touch with what is going on.

Mrs. H. Hudson is the proud possessor of a new Dodge.

Leola Emerson is enjoying a vacation at St. Helena and Eureka.

Mrs. Elizabeth McGowan has moved to the home of her girlhood and will preside over the destinies of the household for her sister and brothers, the Downings.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kinsey and two children, Mr. Todd, Miss Geneva Goddard and Mr. and Mrs. Morril, of Portland, enjoyed Sunday dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Allen, of Beaverton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wilmut spent Thursday evening at Vancouver, in honor of Mr. Boyd's father's 61st birthday. It was a family reunion and other guests present were Mr. Boyd's sister, Mrs. Kennel Skidmore, of Vancouver and his two brothers, D. F., of Seattle and M. T., of Vancouver.

Mrs. R. D. Young and son spent the week-end with the Becker family at Schalle.

Last Tuesday morning Mrs. D. E. Wheeler, Jr., of Aloha, underwent a very serious operation, in Portland, under the direction of Dr. Cuffey. She is getting along as well as could be expected, although still in a critical condition.

Mrs. Mary Baldwin left for Medford, Ore., Tuesday evening on the receipt of a wife notifying her of the death of her husband, W. H. Baldwin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McGee and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Schmitt and family motored to Oswego Lake last Sunday and spent a very enjoyable day at that popular resort.

Miss Bernice Winton, niece of Mrs. Mary Baldwin, and a resident of Portland, was a week-end visitor here.

Yes, thank you, we sold the organ, but don't let that keep you away. We still have a nail or two in stock. Speaking of nails reminds me that the time is here to fix up and clean up. They say a new broom sweeps clean—well, we have a few dozen too many brooms for our own use, and if you'll drop around we'll sell them at bargain prices. Cady Pegg Co.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McKel and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Donaldson will leave Saturday morning for a two weeks' outing on the Washougal river.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyd are leaving this Friday for a two weeks' camping trip. They are headed for Yachata.

Columbus was undoubtedly a lucky individual, and occasionally some of his luck comes to us. For many moons we could not procure the old-fashioned 5-gallon oil can, with the reliable old-fashioned spout. The other day, some came our way, and we are glad to announce their arrival. Cady-Pegg Co.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Morelock and Wallace Brown and family returned Saturday from an enjoyable two weeks' outing at Bar View, Oregon.

Miss Katherine Deisinger left Sunday morning for Seattle to visit her brother, W. P. Deisinger, Jr., and family.

Mrs. W. A. Glen, of Madison, Neb., who has been visiting her sisters, Mrs. R. R. Summers and Mrs. E. Stipe, left Tuesday morning for her Eastern home.

Mrs. Harry Hudson entertained her father and two sisters over the week-end.

Wilbur Weed arrived home Wednesday evening after an extended visit in California following his attendance at the Reserve Officers' Training Camp with the O. A. C. contingent. He also inspected a number of nurseries in the southern state.

Dr. and Mrs. Karl Swenson left on Sunday for Grater Lake, in Southern Oregon, where they will spend a ten days' vacation attempting to lure the finny beauties from the cold mountain streams.

Lambert Clausen will drive rural Route 2 while V. H. Boyd is on his vacation.

Mrs. Richards, of Skamakawa, Wa., a sister of Mrs. T. J. Allen, is here after an extended visit in the East, including Tennessee, Kentucky and West Virginia. She had intended to stay much longer but says she could not remain away from the West any longer. T. J. says the fine Kentucky moonshine is not in it with the Oregon water, anyway.

NEWS OF OREGON INDUSTRIES

Short Stories of Success in State's Substantial Manufacturing Enterprises.

Prairie City, Ore.—It has taken the smallest saw mill in the state to discover a use for that hitherto useless variety of timber—lodge pole pine. The Prairie City Box Company, organized last winter, is working fine piles up. Dixie creek cutting lodge pole thickets up into ten foot logs, which are then shaved down to half inch box shooks that are finding a ready market in Southern Idaho. The mill is a curiosity in that the largest poles it handles have a top diameter of only eight inches. The mill employs just eight men and a horse and is operated by means of a boiler and engine picked up in an old stamp mill nearby. The building itself is one of the war-time portables used in France.

Gold Hill, Ore.—Three tons of explosives going up in a mighty boom announced the opening of the new quarry of the Beaver Portland Cement Company at Zacher, west of Gold Hill. The added supply of rock will soon be brought in in such quantities as to keep the plant running day and night.

Portland, Ore.—Brushes and brooms of every description are now being turned out by the Portland Brush and Broom Company in twice the former quantity. New machinery just installed doubles the plant's capacity and make it the most complete on the coast.

Albany, Ore.—A large cement structure with trackage frontage is now in course of construction for the fruit association here. This warehouse will practically double the carrying capacity.

Portland, Ore.—Electric sterilizers and immersion heaters made by the Halverson Company in Portland are being distributed in China, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Central America and Brazil. This plated equipment was first turned out in 1913 for local trade among doctors and dentists, but the distributing field has steadily reached into other portions of the United States and Canada.

Albany, Ore.—With evergreen blackberries no longer regarded by the farmers as a pest, preparations are being made to handle at least 500 tons of the fruit at the Albany cannery this season. Work will begin on them as soon as the present rush of loganberries is out of the way.

Portland, Ore.—The presidential election has been given precedence this year in planning for the annual food show held at the armory by Portland merchants and the date has been moved up to the week following November 4.

Terrebonne, Ore.—With the arrival of an enormous steam shovel for the Western Diatomite Company's mine at Lower Bridge and commencement of work on the warehouse the concern's employes have increased in number from about six to 60. Increases in freight rates have brought forth calls for more rush orders than the mine can handle.

Portland, Ore.—Furniture dealers throughout the northwest now find themselves on the mailing list of the Columbia Awning and Shade Company, which is distributing to each firm samples of the 25 different colors of window shades it manufactures. The concern has gradually expanded until it now employs 80 people and had a payroll last year totalling $30,000.

Portland, Ore.—A number of the new Portland-made Caravan motor trucks have been completed by the Hesse-Martin Iron Works and are being sold locally.

Portland, Ore.—Finished woolen products from the mills in Portland and vicinity now bring in over $10,000,000 per year, according to a statement issued here a few days ago. Increase of business has made Portland the second wool center in the United States, second only to Boston.

Harrisburg, Ore.—A heavy yield of hops this year is expected around Harrisburg, where picking will commence about August 24. Pickers are to receive two cents per pound.

Portland, Ore.—With a view to greater trade expansion for Oregon the joint traffic bureau of the Port of Portland and commission of public docks has opened a permanent office in New York. The port also has a traffic representative touring the far east and is soon to appoint another to cover the North China field.

Portland, Ore.—Spagnum moss has provided this city with a new industry that is now employing 30 people preparing the material for shipment all over the United States and to a number of foreign countries, where it is marketed chiefly in the form of surgical dressings. The establishment here, known as the Spagnum Products Company, has just been reorganized and the controlling stock and active management has been taken over by W. E. Stock, for many years with the Hummer-Frank Drug Company.

Salem, Ore.—Harvesting of the state flax crop here began last week with a crew of 20 pullers from Portland assisting. This makes approximately 200 people at work gathering the flax.

AS IT SEEMS TO ME

H. B.

I am the ruler of retail reverses. I am the Lord High Potentate of Fallure. I am the reason for that downward slant on your profit curve. I am the cause of the silent sickness that stills your cash register bell. I am the origin of dissatisfied customers and loss of trade. I am the element of chance that turns a winning business into a losing gamble. I am the fountain head whence springs the majority of your troubles and worry. I am the key to the problem why more than 15,000 retailers fail every year. I am the Sticker, Shelf-Lounger, the nameless child of an unknown father. "I am the unadvertised Product."

That this country is restless because too many birds are resting.

That brains win without work, and work may win without brains—but brains plus work always win.

That love levels all things—the possible exception of the head.

That cupid is the manager of a two-ring circus—the engagement and wedding rings.

That it is difficult to avoid the appearance of evil when there is a mirror in the house.

That you may call a man a wonder, he will smile and laugh it off; you may say that he's a plodder, he will grin, and londly scoff; you may launch a stream of accusations at him without end; BUT, don't ask him if he voted dry, or you'll be out a friend.

That no man ever fully realizes a woman's eloquence until after he gets married.

That some men are about as progressive as a sky-scraper turned up side down.

That the average man puts in so much time grasping that he has no time to practice.

That the man who complains that the world falls to understand him, ought to be glad of it.

That as I gazed into the deep blue sky,

I often sat and wondered why Girls were made. They are such sweet and pretty things. With all their jewels and other things For which man paid. Thus cynically I used to think, Until a girl so sweet and plump Came into my life. Now I have no time to muse, I work to pay for clothes and shoes. She is my wife.
