FRUIT GROWERS HOLD SUCCESSFUL MEETING

On Friday afternoon of last week at the Knights of Pythias Hall in this city about 50 fruit growers and members of the Oregon Co-Operative Growers Association met for the purpose of hearing from C. L. Lewis, manager of the Organization Department, outline market conditions and the work the organization is accomplishing for the growers. He gave an intelligent and highly interesting address.

M. O. Evans spoke on the Field Department and gave much interesting information. A series of meetings is planned for a number of districts. From here the speakers went to Yamhill where a meeting was held Saturday.

The gatherings are for the purpose of giving the growers first-hand information as to market conditions and what the organization is doing in behalf of the men who raise fruit.

The meeting at Forest Grove was a very successful one and will be followed by other such meetings later in the season. From Arthur Mills entertained a number of the speakers and an O. A. C. party was held that evening.

HILLSIDE FARM BUREAU ORGANIZED LAST WEEK

The Hillside Farm Bureau Community with C. H. Bamford in charge of Organization has outlined a program of Farm and Community development for 1931 as follows: Horticulture—A Training School, to last four days, at which practically every phase of pruning and care of trees, vineyards, etc., will be discussed and demonstrated. Clayton Long, Extension Horticulturist of the Oregon Agricultural College, is expected to help with this work. D. G. Lilly is the Community Committeeman in charge.

Poultry—To hold a series of not less than four poultry meetings and demonstrations with the assistance of H. E. Cosby, Poultry Extension Specialist. Clyde Robertson is in charge.

Rodent Control—To provide and help distribute squirrel poison in the community. Farmers present at the Community meeting stated that there is need for concerted action to poison off the common house rat. This may be undertaken also. E. N. Baker is in charge.

Crop Improvement—To secure seed for the growing of certified seed potatoes. It is expected that six or eight farmers will grow certified seed potatoes. It has been pointed out that this county is especially adapted to seed potato production. D. G. Lilly and C. H. Bamford in charge.

Dairying—To place two more pure bred bulls in the community, and to hold one community meeting to discuss livestock diseases and troubles. Thos. Williams, Committeeman in charge.

The Community meeting endorsed the County Farmer's Week, which will be held in this county, January 17 to 22, at which there will be speakers on the subjects of Dairying, Poultry, Horticulture and Farm Crops.

CIRCUIT COURT

Harry Hincley, indicted for obtaining money under false pretenses through checks for small amounts passed on Hillsboro business men, was last Wednesday sentenced to three years imprisonment on each of three counts and to pay costs. Parole was extended on condition that he lead an upright life and pay $150 in installments of $20 a month, the money to be given by the clerk to Hincley's mother, who has restored the money secured by the bad paper. Hincley must report on the 1st of January, April, July and October and must not leave the state. Failure to observe any of the conditions may revoke the parole.

M. E. Weaver and George Morrow, indicted for alleged violation of the prohibition law, pleaded not guilty. A decree was granted plaintiff in the divorce suit of Maude Hoyt vs. Laurel M. Hoyt.

Tuesday, the suit of B. F. Stewart vs. Annabel Klem et al. was tried. Plaintiff sued to recover property included in the estate of a deceased son, but it appeared that he had separated from his family while the children were infants and nothing had been heard from him for many years or until the claim for the estate was presented. Upon the belief that he was dead the estate was probated and closed and he was not included as an heir at the settlement.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION TRANSACTS SOME BUSINESS

At an informal meeting of the state highway commission Monday, Commissioner Booth was selected as chairman of the board to succeed S. Benson, who resigned recently. It was the first meeting of the commission and was called chiefly to permit of the introduction of his successor, John B. Yeon, who was made familiar with the present status of state road work. Future plans were also discussed.

Ordered sale of $1,500,000 bonds for road work, bids to be opened at next meeting, January 4.

Approved a federal-aid project paving of road nine miles south from Corvallis.

Authorized loan to Unatilla county for state road maintenance.

Ordered distribution of approximately $800,000 to counties to match market road appropriations.

WHITFORD HAPPENINGS

Miss Amy Snider, who is teaching in Columbia County, spent Thanksgiving vacation with home folks.

Mr. Harry Asahay, of Corvallis, and A. A. Asahay, of The Dalles, spent the week-end with their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Denney.

The Hansen Bros. loaded a car with Garnet Chili potatoes on Thanksgiving day.

On Tuesday evening of this week Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Bettendorf entertained at dinner in honor of Mrs. Rice and Mr. and Mrs. R. Walborn, who leave on Thursday for Los Angeles, where they expect to make their home. They will be greatly missed in this community.

Our genial mail carrier, A. M. Kennedy, had occasion to lose some of his good nature, when his Ford stopped for the want of something to make it go. Presumably he found plenty of gas somewhere, as he was on the job next day in as good humor as usual.

The Women's Community club gave a social on Saturday evening, Nov. 20. An excellent program was rendered under the direction of Mrs. Walborn. The quilt the ladies had finished recently was won by Miss Josephine Kamalaky. Light refreshments were served. The net proceeds of the evening were $39.25. $26.00 of this funds the payment on the electric lights recently installed in the hall.

Mrs. F. O. Erickson acted as solicitor for the Red Cross Membership drive and was quite successful.

A school entertainment and ball social was given in the hall on Saturday evening. A good crowd was in attendance and everybody enjoyed themselves. The sum of $57.40 was realized from the sale of baskets and light refreshments. The proceeds will be used for playground equipment and the industrial department of the school. Mrs. Strubb is the teacher.

A class in vocal music was organized last Friday evening with Prof. E. T. Hunter as instructor. Prof. Hunter is Director of Music in the Portland Grade School.

The regular meeting of the Women's Club was held on Wednesday. This was the first anniversary of the organization. The ladies to their needlework and enjoyed an afternoon of music and readings. Mrs. Richardson and her two daughters-in-law were the hostesses and served delicious refreshments.

DRAY LINE CHANGES TO NEW OWNERS

Last week an important change was made in the dray business in this city which has been successfully conducted here for so many years.

In 1909 Dan Pierce bought a small dray business here and by strict application to business and the dint of hard work brought success to his undertaking. In a short while he put on an auto truck, the first gas machine of its kind to be used in this county.

At first it was thought that Mr. Pierce was pioneering too heavily and would not succeed, but they did not know the stick-to-itiveness that goes to make up Dan's nature so they prophesied in vain. He succeeded. He then bought out Tucker & Whitely's dray line and put on another truck and at the time of sale was operating two trucks and a horse-driven dray also, which he has just traded to Fred L. Fox and L. G. Stafford, of Portland, and in return secures an interest in the auto bus line plying between here and Portland, has two buses of his own and his son, Lawrence, also operates a bus on the same line. He also secures a residence property on Union Avenue, Portland, at a valuation of $5,000, trading in his residence property here on Third Avenue South and "A" Street, Mr. Stafford occupying it. Dan's many friends will doubtless be pleased to patronize him in his new line of work.

The new firm of Stafford & Fox will operate the dray lines here, having previously operated the bus lines, having autos on the line between here and Portland. We bespeak for them success in their new line of work.

DRAINAGE DISTRICT MAY REORGANIZE

Property Owners Along Big Ditch May Have Bill Introduced in Legislature for New Ditch Company.

There is a movement on foot to have Beaverton owners along the stream commonly called the Big Ditch which empties into Rock Creek, thence into the Tualatin River, to organize a Drainage Company for the purpose of cleaning out the Big Ditch each fall, as in former years under the old organization then known as the Beaverton Drainage Company.

The late John Henry was one of the strong advocates of proper drainage for best results on Beaverton soil. It is a well known fact that the taxes formerly levied for cleaning out said stream were a profitable investment, resulting in better crops, earlier planting and more financial returns from the Beaverton.

The old drainage company has ceased to exist for some time.

Now it is proposed to organize a new company, elect a Ditch Supervisor, clean up the ditch and bring back the Beaverton to its former condition.

A meeting of all the property owners will be called soon for the purpose of organizing one.

The Drainage Company North of Beaverton on the other Beaverton have maintained their organization, have cleaned out their main ditch annually and their ground is in Al shape today. If the property owners here are favorable to re-organization, a bill will be introduced at the next session of the Legislature.

REAL TURNIPS AT FOREST GROVE

This is not exactly a good season for turnip stories, yet the News-Times is prepared with a few of them and give a few sketches.

The biggest turnip thus far is that brought in by Jack Howland, who dropped in on us Wednesday with a monster that weighed 26 pounds and 3 ounces on Giltner's tested scales. It is of the purple top variety and is a perfect specimen, being round and well formed. Mr. Howland lives out on Star Route up Gales Creek way about two miles from town and the big vegetable was raised on sandy loam ground that has been in cultivation three or four years.

Mrs. J. J. Vanlog, of near Cornelius, brought in a mighty fine specimen of turnips Tuesday. She wanted to carry off the prize of a year's subscription and had about carried out her intentions up to that time, but was later lashed by Mr. Howland. The vegetables she brought in were perfect, solid and pretty ones. She directed us to leave one of them with the Good Investment Co., for the inspection of real estate prospects. The two taken together tipped the beam at nearly 40 pounds, one of them weighing 19 pounds and three quarters.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Short, of Gales Creek, brought a large cowhorn turnip to this office last week that weighed a trifle over 19 pounds. While they had but a small field of them, the late rains produced some very large turnips and a big yield. This turnip is the whitest in color of any we have seen.

Merle L. Sheeler, who lives on the Brant place a mile south of Forest Grove, on Wednesday of last week brought to this office a turnip that weighed twenty pounds with the tops and nearly 19 without the tops. It is of the round variety and a deep purple in color with very little white on the surface.

Eli Howell, of near Gales Creek, brought in a big turnip of the White French variety that tipped the beam at 19 1/2 pounds Monday and is in competition for that year's subscription that the News-Times will give somebody between now and next Saturday. Let somebody beat everything now by bringing in a real life-sized turnip weighing something like 40 or 50 pounds, one that looks like an Oregon turnip. These thus far are only small ones. We have seen Oregon turnips that weighed around the 50 pound mark.

NEW SUITS FILED

Christian Gertsch in two suits against the Hunt Club Association of Portland seeks to foreclose a mortgage, one given to secure a note for $4000 made in Portland May 7, 1909, and another given to secure a note for $3000 made in May 1920. Default in payment of principal and interest is charged.

Marie Victoria Fernald has sued Charles A. Fernald for divorce charging cruel and inhuman treatment including indifference to plaintiff and association with other women. The couple were married at Wallace, Idaho, June 25, 1907. Plaintiff asks custody of their only child.

Drusell G. Knieriem asks divorce from Benjamin L. Knieriem. The marriage occurred in Multnomah county, December 3, 1905 and plaintiff alleges that he has lost all affection for her and charges that numerous acts, words and conduct have made life with him unbearable. She asks the custody of her minor child.

Fred Dober has brought an attachment suit against the Dorn Lumber Co., his complaint sets forth an agreement for the sale of timber which provided for $1200, $800 being paid when the contract was signed, $300 to be paid in 30 days and the remaining $300 in 60 days. Default in payments is the basis of suit.

WORK TO BE DONE AT STATE FISH HATCHERY

Eli Howell, of near Gales Creek, and who resides on Clear Creek, near the site of the proposed State Fish Hatchery, was in town Monday and informed the News-Times that the title for the land has lately been properly transferred to the State and that the work of putting in a dam which will change the course of the creek at the point owned by the State will be completed this winter, the old creek bed being used for a fish pond where the title fishes will be cared for by the State Fish and Game Commission.

Later on next summer suitable buildings will be erected for a hatchery, but for the present the fish will be hatched at other hatcheries and brought to Clear Creek for feeding.

The Clear Creek site is an ideal one for the care and hatching of fish and the State plans on spending a snug sum of money to properly equip it for hatching and propagation purposes.

HENRY GAINES HAWN

Henry Gaines Hawn of San Francisco, an authority on community building, is one of several speakers now touring the state in connection with the expansion movement of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce.

The State Chamber is making a state-wide appeal for a budget of $450,000, covering a period of three years, to carry on its development work.

The movement has been endorsed by more than two hundred leading men throughout Oregon. Eighty community executive committees have been organized to co-operate with the State Chamber in the canvass throughout the state which will be conducted during June and July.

CITY WATER QUESTION?

A number of citizens in Beaverton are asking the question "Will it be necessary to vote more bonds to get Bull Run water into Beaverton?"

Some say it will be necessary to vote more bonds, while others claim a new water main direct from Portland laid down and paid for by residents residing between Beaverton and Portland will carry Bull Run water into the Beaverton water mains and sold at a minimum rate of 75c per month per customer—without bonds. Now, who is right on the water question?

DR. LARGE IN SERIOUS TROUBLE OVER NARCOTICS

Tuesday evening's Oregon Journal contained the following item concerning a former well-known Forest Grove physician now residing in Portland:

After retracting his plea of not guilty and entering one of guilty in the federal court this morning, Dr. C. L. Large was fined by Judge Wolverton $2000 on a grand jury indictment of 32 counts charging him with violation of the Harrison narcotic act.

Council for Dr. Large told the court that the plea was being changed with the understanding that no jail sentence be imposed.

During the summer and fall of 1918 Dr. Large engaged in the wholesale business of supplying drug addicts with their daily quota. The government obtained the names of 29 of his daily customers and 29 counts of the indictment charge him with prescribing narcotics not for the cure of legitimate patients.

Another count charges he obtained large supplies of morphine and cocaine by illegal methods; another that he failed to keep duplicates of his prescriptions as required by law and another that he failed to keep his records open for inspection to internal revenue agents.

Assistant United States Attorney Hall S. Lusk told the court that Dr. Large prescribed cocaine and morphine for addicts and left the packages at a drug store. The addicts are said to have paid the druggist for the narcotics and to have left an additional sum for the doctor.

So cleverly was the scheme handled that Local Agent W. R. Wood, who is known to many addicts, was unable to obtain convincing evidence. Wood arrested Dr. Large once and the case was compromised by payment of a $200 fine to the internal revenue department, at which time he was apprised of government narcotic laws. Today in court counsel for Dr. Large pleaded for leniency on the grounds of ignorance of the law. In order to secure enough evidence to bring about the indictment Wood secured the assistance of an operator from another city who was not known in Portland. Dr. Large was given 60 days in which to pay his fine. The doctor resides at 652 1/2 First street, but formerly lived at Forest Grove.
