SCHOOL OPENS WITH 126 IN HIGH CLASSES

Two New Teachers Needed.—Mr. McGlasson Advanced.—Grades Enroll 175.—More to Come.

Beaverton schools opened Monday with a vastly increased enrollment in the high school and the grade school enrollment nearly up to the total for last year. Additional pupils have come in and the high school now enrolls 126 with more to come next week. Already two additional instructors have been found necessary in the high school and the School Board has advanced J. P. McGlasson from the eighth grade to the high school where he will teach mathematics and has employed Mr. Mather, of Corvallis, as an O. A. C. graduate, who was very active in college work and one of the staff of the Beaver, to teach science.

Mr. Cecil L. Cantrell, of Portland, will succeed Mr. McGlasson in the seventh and eighth grades. Mr. Cantrell comes highly recommended and will undoubtedly turn out a successful eighth grade class.

Grade school enrollment exceeds that of last year and already about 175 pupils have enrolled with more to come next week.

Already the junior and senior classes of the high school have selected officers. Of the seniors, Fern Powell is president; Crete Gray, vice president; Velma Davies, secretary; Archie Masters, treasurer; Evelyn Larson, sergeant at arms; and Dorothy Huntley, reporter. Junior officers are: Frank Kearns, president; Lloyd Blington, vice president; Floyd Throop, secretary; Ruby Harris, treasurer; and Noreen Nelson, reporter.

St. Cecilia's school opened Monday with two teachers and 35 pupils. This is an increased enrollment over last year. The first eight grades are taught. Additional pupils are expected later.

St. Mary's Institute opened last week with an enrollment which taxes their capacity. As they have both boarders and day students, a total tabulation has not yet been made.

St. Mary's Home for boys also opened school last week. More applications for admission have been received than they are able to accommodate and quite a large waiting list has accumulated. This school under the direction of Father J. C. Heesacker, is establishing itself as one of the foremost for the care and training of orphans and half orphans.

Mrs. Ada Teal Wilson, former eighth grade teacher in the Beaverton schools, opened school at Kinton Monday with an increased enrollment. She is principal of the two-room nine grade school there.

Cooper Mt. school opened this week with an enrollment of forty students. Earl E. Fisher begins his fourth term in the Mountaineer district.

MULLOY COMMUNITY HAS 3 DAYS OF GARMENT SCHOOL

Under the auspices of the Farm Bureau, Mrs. C. M. Stites, acting as local organizer, secured the services of Esther B. Cooley, Clothing Specialist of the Oregon Agricultural College, to give the first instruction work in the selection and making of clothing. This is the first of a series of local leadership schools to be held throughout the State in communities where the same is asked for.

Mrs. Cooley spent three days with Mulloy Community, and 20 women took advantage of the meeting. Some made new garments, others reconstructed used garments. "All felt that they were greatly benefited by the time spent," states Mrs. Stites. "Even those who did not work on the garments gained many fine points for themselves about the details of making clothes."

"The ideal worked towards in these classes," states Mrs. Stites, "is that local leadership, as it is impossible for anyone person to meet all of the demands in the state for this work." Therefore, the women of localities where this assistance is given are asked to carry the idea in mind to at least one other person, and thus starting a chain of assistance.

P. U. TO PICNIC

The big get-together picnic of Pacific University, next, present and future, will be held next Saturday afternoon, from three to six o'clock, on the campus. The trustees will be there, together with the members of the faculty and all will greet the new and old students and the new members of the faculty as well as the new members of the board of trustees. The picnic will be an informal affair. A basket luncheon or dinner will be served. President Clark, of the University and President Flint, of the Board of Trustees will be in the receiving line to welcome everybody. It will be a great big justification to start off the new school year. The Endowment and Student Forward Movement is growing apace and indications point to the best year in the school's history.

Drive slow in town. Drive careful everywhere.

INDUSTRIAL FAIR TO BE HELD IN HILLSBORO

Club Members to Compete for Trip to State Fair and Week at Boys' and Girls' Camp.

The annual industrial club fair of Washington County will be held in Hillsboro Sept. 21 and 22nd. Peterson Bros. have kindly given the use of the new Studebaker Garage just east of the Washington Hotel for the exhibit. About 400 school children have been working on the industrial projects since early in the year and we expect a large number to make exhibits of the products of their work.

The following projects will be represented: potato, garden produce, calves, pig raising, sheep, milk goats, poultry, rabbits, sewing, cooking, canning and home making.

H. E. Lafky, instructor in agriculture at Forest Grove High School, under the Smith Hughes Act, has been secured to judge the poultry. The ribbons will be placed Wednesday forenoon. Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 Prof. Lafky will give an hour of instruction and demonstration in Practical Points in Poultry for Profit. County Agent O. T. McWhorter, who has had charge of the stock projects will conduct a stock judging contest beginning at one o'clock Wednesday, the 21st. The boys and girls will first work on the stock on exhibition and then visit Judge Bagley's herd of Jerseys and periana Mr. Goodin's herd of Guernseys. Judging teams from Washington County will enter the contests at the State Fair at Salem, and also the stock show in Portland in charge of E. T. Twiffittes.

The rabbit club of Tigard will give a demonstration in judging rabbits at 10 o'clock A. M. on the 21st. The two boys and two girls making the highest scores in their exhibits and reports are always given a free trip to the State Fair and are entertained the whole week in the boys' and girls' camp along with the winners from the other counties.

The exhibit will be open to visitors from 11 A. M. Wednesday the 21st until 4:00 P. M. Thursday the 22nd, including the evening of the 21st, and is free to all.

All persons interested in "practical education" for children will be repaid for visiting this fair. You ought to bring your children. One or two hours spent examining these exhibits with parents interested and with our help to explain and answer questions is likely to be worth as much to them as several days of school. Children are to be given credit for attendance at school the days they attend this fair, or any of the local fairs held in Washington County.

If schools are so situated that a majority of the children will attend any of these fairs the board would be justified in dismissing school for a day and count every one present just the same and pay the teacher her day's salary provided she attends the fair.

The total net income reported by these returns was $166,240,906, while the tax paid on them was $8,232,437, which was 55 per cent of the total personal income tax paid in the entire country.

In the nation at large 5.03 per cent of the people filed personal income tax returns, while in Oregon, 6.34 per cent filed them.

The average net income per return for the United States was $3,724.05, and in Oregon it was $3,347.37. ## NURSERYMAN IS TOLD TO BRING PRUNE SOUTH

M. McDonald, of Oremco, Gets Telegram from California Pledging Support for Orchard There.

A few weeks ago M. McDonald and his associates of the Oregon Nursery Company at Oremco conceived the idea of co-operative planting of an orchard of the date prune which they recently originated. The idea grew and became popular and the plan was enlarged to insure its success. It became the plan to plant an orchard at Oremco, one in Washington, one in Idaho and one in California to insure the investors prunes each year in spite of weather and other climatic vicissitudes. The story of the plan was put in pamphlet form and distributed to a number of prospective investors. Some way one of these pamphlets got down in the southern state and from Whittier, Calif., came a telegram the other day to Mr. McDonald, calling him to come down and explain his plan and assuring him that if one unit of the plan were located at Whittier the finances would be forthcoming without stint.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Johnston moved to their new home in Beaverton Wednesday. They are occupying the Mrs. S. E. Akin property recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Horner. Welcome home again.

COMMERCIAL CLUB DROPS SITE MATTER

Cost Held Too Great for Benefit Derived, and Questionnaire Will Not Be Answered.

Holding that the cost entailed was too great for the benefits to be derived, the Beaverton Commercial Club failed Monday night to endorse any plan for answering the questionnaire presented by the site committee of the Atlantic and Pacific Highways and Electrical Exposition, and unless individuals take up the matter, the attempt to get the exposition placed on Council Crest is virtually at an end.

There are no large interests in Beaverton to profit by the placing of the fair on the Council Crest site and no person has a personal advantage to be secured. The feeling was freely expressed that the club has done its part in calling to the attention of the fair officials the desirable features of the Council Crest site which has been done at considerable expense of time and funds of the club and the members present did not feel inclined to undertake the large task of raising funds for maps, aerial pictures, engineers' reports and other expensive data called for in the questionnaire presented by the engineers for the site committee.

This questionnaire, which was published in a recent issue of the Beaverton Times, calls for much detailed information, engineering and other technical data which the club is not in a position to supply. The president was authorized to name a committee to present the matter in a letter to the directors of the exposition.

WOULD MAKE 100-MILE DRIVE HONOR SOLDIERS

Woman's Advertising Club of Portland Visits Beaverton to Win Support for Memorial.

Mrs. Katherine Coffield, president of the Women's Advertising Club, of Portland, accompanied by several other members of the club, and Walter Jenkins, song leader, came to Beaverton Monday night to win the support of the Beaverton Commercial Club for their plan to make a memorial to the Oregon Soldiers of the World War of the 100 mile loop highway through Beaverton, Forest Grove, Hillsboro, Gaston, Yamhill, McMinnville and Newberg. They plan to give it an appropriate name and then plant along it a tree for every man who entered the service from Oregon. For the boys who gave their lives, white blossoming trees will be planted.

The plan received the approval of the local club and R. H. Jonas was named a delegate to the meeting to be called later in McMinnville. It is requested that other delegates be named from other organizations in this locality.

An excellent program was rendered by those who attended from Portland. Walter Jenkins sang "The Gypsy Trail," and responded to an encore, with "My Own United States. Mrs. Carson rendered several pleasing so-

COUNTY UNIT PLAN IS BEST YET SAYS FROST

County Superintendent Thinks Plan Will Work Betterment in Rural School Conditions.

The "County Unit Law" passed by the last legislature was the most advanced step in legislation for rural schools ever taken in any state. Crook County has the honor of being the first county in Oregon to adopt this system. It was referred to the people in a special election and carried two to one.

The principal features of the plan are: 1. All the schools outside of the towns organized into one district with a board of five members. 2. One budget and one tax rate for this rural district. 3. The central board to make appropriations for building, maintenance and repairs of school property, hire and place teachers and establish a scale of salaries, consolidate districts and establish transportation where it is deemed wise. 4. The central board to employ a superintendent and fix his salary the same as a city superintendent is now hired, thus abolishing the County Superintendent as a political office. 5. The local boards to be retained to have charge of school property and control its use as social center or other public purposes to recommend improvements, consolidations, transportation, changes of boundaries, etc. and to have the power of refusing to accept a teacher.

This system has been tried out and found to be more just to the tax payers making the whole county equal, more just to the children because the whole county is behind the few children in the poor district, more economical because supplies can be bought in quantities and selected by experts more uniformly, more efficient in securing and keeping competent teachers and placing them where they are best fitted to succeed.

CORN EATING TIME

When the winter months are fading
And you kind o' itch and scratch
That's the time you start to spading
Up your little back yard patch
Garden tools out you are fetching
The ones you will likely need.
Then a line out you are stretching
As you start to plant your seed.
A few rows you there are sowing,
For a purpose it answers,
To plant corn there you are planning
For to raise some roasting ears.

When the sun is getting brighter,
And there is no sign of storm
When the sky is fading lighter
And the ground is nice and warm,
Then you see your things a-sprouting,
The soil they are breaking through.
Then you plan your garden outing
When you see the weeds there to.
As you like to see things growing,
You work early in the morn,
In the evenings you are hoeing
Around those big hills of corn.

When the suns off you are breaking,
And the hushes you start to peel,
You know that it is the making
Of a good old fashioned meal
As it boils you hear it sputter
On the plate you find no fault
And you spread on it some butter
And apply a pinch of salt.
To have other cuts a-cooking,
It would surely be a crime,
For no desert are you looking
When it comes corn eating time.
