Have a goal other than gold or you'll end up a disappointed mortal.

Knowledge and timber shouldn't be much used till they are seasoned.—Holmes.

The man whose only hold on his customers is that his prices are a shade lower than his competitors has a mighty insecure business. The wise man makes his service superior and then the price element drops down where it belongs.

The big men of the day are always discontented, always questioning everything, never accepting any truth just because everyone else believes in it. That is the secret of the remarkable success of Thos. A. Edison, one of the greatest men I have ever known. It is a part of Thomas A. Edison's life never to be satisfied, and that is why he stands where he is today. The man who is hard to satisfy moves forward. The one who sits back comfortably and is contented with what he has accomplished moves backward.—C. P. Steinmetz.

The denunciation of the so-called middleman is unwarranted and absurd. We must have middlemen along the way to handle the crops. But we must begin a cold-blooded inquiry as to the value of the service which each one of these men is rendering. If we find he is making a charge unfairly high, we must find some way to short-circuit that fellow; cut the way station, straighten the curve, lower the grade, to the extent that the farmer gets a fair reward for what he produces, and the consumer will be able to buy at prices which he can afford to pay. Closer co-operation of business and farming is, I think, our great national need. We have come to the time now when we must approach this matter as a national enterprise.—Henry C. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture.

Do You Know?

That the cost of living in London, England, is still 120 per cent above the pre-war figure?

That wholesale food prices increased 12.5 per cent in August over July levels according to figures made public by the Department of Labor?

That Chauncey Depew deposited the first $100 he ever made in a savings bank and it still remains there but has increased to $800?

That there are 30,000 Americans living in Mexico and 8,000 of them live in Mexico City?

That 90 per cent of the world's supply of cloves comes from two islands off the coast of Africa—Zanzibar and Pemba; that the clove trees, some of them 40 feet high, are suggestive of giant perfume bottles disguised in leaves, and the air is saturated with the delicious scent, and after passing through a clove plantation one's clothes carry the aroma many days afterward?

That President Harding has broken all records as a golf player, having played on more difficult golf links and negotiated more holes of golf at a lower average number of strokes per hole, during his vacation this summer, than any other American President?

That about 8,000,000 women are employed in business vocations in the United States, in all lines of industry, and that in normal times 20 out of each 100 persons engaged in gainful occupations in the United States, are women?

That no credit is due a young man or young woman who remains good because he or she is shut up in a glass case?

That the housing problem in Beaverton is still in the acute stage and it is almost impossible to rent a house to live in, for the reason that people think they cannot afford to build houses to rent because of the high price of material and labor?

When people reach that happy condition under which all righteous laws are obeyed, such laws will be superfluous—unnecessary.

LOCAL NEWS

Lots of Town Happenings Told In Brief Form.

David Pitt, of Sorrento, has recently painted his house.

Miss Annie Allen returned to her home at Los Angeles today, after a month's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Allen.

Mrs. Albert Forsman, of Chicago, visited during the week with her cousin, R. H. Jones, and family.

Mrs. Saylor has returned to her home at Sherwood after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Tallman.

Miss Marguerite Gleason left Sunday afternoon for Salem, where she has a position on the Salem Statesman.

Mrs. McCormack Snow and children are visiting relatives in Portland.

Mrs. H. O. Stipe entertained a number of ladies at "500" last Friday afternoon. The rooms were decorated with autumn leaves and fall flowers. Delicious refreshments were served.

To those to enjoy the afternoon with her were: Mesdames J. E. Davis, W. H. Boyd, L. D. Shellenberger, H. L. Hudson, J. C. Huntley, Don Gray, Elmer Stipe, Geo. Blaser, H. R. Nelson, Otto Erickson, H. L. Tucker, Donaldson, K. H. Jones, F. C. Peck, W. C. McKell and Elizabeth Irish. Prizes were won by Mrs. J. C. Huntley and Mrs. W. C. McKell.

Elmer Stipe attended the banquet of the Washington County Automobile Dealers' Association at the Washington Hotel in Hillsboro Thursday night.

The voting contest for the Beaverton Diamond Queen at the Pacific Theatre, Prize $50.00 Diamond, stands as follows for the first night: Noreen Nelson, 19 votes; Beryl Peterson, 16; Myrtle Davis, 12; Alfreda Austin, 10; Ruby Harris, 11; Crete Gray, 11; Martha McGee, 6; Caroline Fredrick, 5; Lucile Jones, 4; Luella Miller, 4; Velma Davies, 3; Ernestine Masters, 2; Irma Berthold, 2; Hazel Barnes, 1; Carrie Carlson, 1; Annie Gretti, 1; Vera Gaskill, 1.

James Lewis has painted his residence south of the Commercial Hotel, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kamberger and family.

Mrs. H. L. Hudson and daughter June and Mrs. Hudson's sister, Mrs. A. E. Johnson of Portland, left the Friday morning for Goldendale, Wash., to celebrate the 80th birthday of their father, Wm. Van Vactor.

W. H. Boyd has sold the residence occupied by Chas. Essig to J. T. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Petch spent last week at Yamhill.

Dr. Mason is a victim of la grippe. Last Friday Geo. Pinder was seven years old and he entertained a number of little friends at a birthday party. Games were played and ice cream and cake were served. Those present were Carl Beach, Katherine Beach, Helen Lindsay, Ruth Lindsay, and Hugh Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Freeman and two children returned Sunday evening to their home at Huber, after a week's vacation spent at Estacada. Mr. Freeman and the wife were in the party in the hills south of Estacada, and Mrs. Freeman and the children visited her parents in Estacada.

The wedding of Miss Nellie Stump and Mr. Charles Mode, of Newberg, place last Friday evening, September 30th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Stump, Rev. G. A. Gray officiating.

E. D. Horner has just received a letter from his son, H. M. who is in the navy and wrote from port in San Francisco, when the flagship of the destroyer flotilla to which he is attached touched at that port. Just to keep his father from feeling old, he sent him a clipping of a Paris dispatch which recorded the fourth marriage of one, Zoro, a Turkish street porter, aged 146 years and said to be the oldest man today. Other interesting things recorded were: Spent 90 years as a street porter and resigned to become a porter in a munitions factory during the war and still holds that job. Chastities his son of 96 for loafing about house. Lost teeth and hair when past century mark and has grown new teeth and hair and developed third kidney. May tour America after his honeymoon.

Weaver aluminum quart steamer October 3 to October 8 for only 38 cents; a regular 55-cent value. Cady-Pegg Co.

Mrs. John Davis will give the first of a series of dances Saturday night and regular dances will follow every two weeks thereafter. A big masquerade ball will be held on the night of October 30 at which five prizes will be given.

CALL HIM $10,000
SAM - THIS IS WHY

It all happened when the Herriek girls were shivering around with no place to eat or sleep and that was several years ago and it was $10,000 Sam that started the ball to roll that gathered the pecuniary mass in sufficient quantities to shelter and feed them and those who have followed them. The story runs something like this, according to the ancient who inhabited this place in the year 1900 when the first Herriek Hall burned. Sam W. Lawrence, at present a Portland attorney, but then a big bashful Sophomore, felt pity for his orphaned co-eds trembling around the charred embers of their dorm. Said Sam, "We must have money" and money he went out to get. He gathered some dozen other students and placing himself at their head hid himself to the big city of Portland. There he haunted the offices of Harvey W. Scott and Mr. Leadbetter and a half hundred other business men and he haunted them until he brought back 10,000 dollars as the first start on the present Herriek. Hence his name $10,000 Sam, the white hope. Today Sam is an ardent captain in the big drive and with his name behind to give him the push he probably went stop with less than some hundreds of thousands.

FOREST GROVE NEWS

From the News-Times

—Rev. C. W. Hewett, D. D., of Portland, who is attending the Conference here, spent a pleasant hour Wednesday with his childhood friend, Mrs. H. J. Rice, of Haynes Station. They had not met in thirty years.

—Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Paterson, son Lyle, and daughter, Viola, and sister, Miss Mary Stockman, and Miss Ernestine Brown drove over to Salem Sunday and took in the Whitney Chorus at the Fair grounds. They report an immense crowd on the grounds that day.

—Mrs. M. E. O'Neill, of Portland, and nephew, who is visiting her from Minneapolis, were in the city on Thursday of last week and made this office a pleasant call, renewing her subscription to the Home Town Paper. She formerly lived here and may return again soon if a suitable house can be found.

—Rev. Daniel Staver returned home last week from an extended stay at South Beach, Oregon. Mr. Staver says that he told us some mighty big fish stories if he was so inclined, and from what we know of Rev. Mr. Staver we believe that he would tell truthful ones. Doubtless you have heard him tell the story of Jonah and the whale.

—The new road that is being planned over at Castor, which runs from Castor Creek to Cochran, over in the Timber section, will eliminate three very dangerous crossings, one at West Timber, one at Timber and one at Castor Creek. When the road is finished there will be a very good grade and at an elevation that will be very desirable.

—Auctioneer J. W. Hughes was in Boise, Idaho, the past week where he held a big Jersey sale on Saturday last. Mr. Hughes travels around over the country quite a lot in connection with his auctioneering work and he says that nowhere does he find business conditions better than right here in Forest Grove and vicinity. Our country is in far better condition than many middle west sections.

—Miss Lillian Loyne spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. W. Pierce Jenks at Albany, who is in the hospital in this city. Friends of Mrs. Jenks will be glad to learn that a boy baby was born to her on Friday, Sept. 30, and lived but about twenty minutes. Mrs. Jenks, however, was getting along nicely when her husband left her Monday evening.

—While driving south on Main Street Monday afternoon, at the well corner Mr. J. E. Bailey accidentally came in contact with a Ford coupe coming around the corner, relieving it of a wheel. Both cars were moving very slowly, thus preventing a serious accident. The coupe was being driven by a Portland man, and as he had the right of way, Mr. Bailey adjusted the damages and the gentleman went on his way happy.

—M. Hanks, Timber's portly popular postmaster, was in the city this morning. Mr. Hanks informs us that a very bad accident occurred at Schoolfield yesterday when a freight car that was being backed out of the switch by the Standard Box Company struck a truck and killed the driver.

—The men and truck were pinned beneath the car and it was necessary to get jacks and jack the car up in order to get the men out.

—Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Cox, of Oregon City, are the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Earl J. Bailey, and attend the meetings of the M. E. Conference. Mr. Cox says that he has a son and a son-in-law in the ice business and there is really no good reason why he and his good wife should not be able to keep cool during the most sultry weather. Mr. Bailey is with C. W. Mertz, of this city, in the ice, wood and coal business.

—Captain William G. Harrington, who just recently returned home from an extended lecture tour with the Elison-White Chautauqua, was soon after arriving home detailed to take charge of the Submarine chaser "38," now plying the Columbia river, and soon to go out of commission, and for three weeks has been the officer in charge. The sub-chaser will likely be used as a naval training boat. Captain Harrington won his military honors while serving Uncle Samuel in the late unpleasantness with Germany and was across seas many times during those strenuous days.

—Mrs. Bessie Stiffler, of Tacoma, was visiting her father, James Wilson, of this city, last week. Her husband, Charles Stiffler, is employed with the Zellbach Paper Co.

—Mrs. Fred Hibbs, of Portland, spent Wednesday visiting at the home of Mrs. Winnifred Aldrich. In the evening she went to Dilley, her former home, to visit her brother, W. C. Hutcheson, and family.

—Mrs. Robert Billinger and Mrs. Ivy Moore accompanied the former's brother, Guy Edson, and wife of Hillsboro, to Salem Tuesday.

—Mrs. Geo. Garratt came out from Portland Wednesday to visit relatives and spend a couple of days at the Methodist Conference.

—Rev. R. E. Dunlap and W. A. Chalmers returned Tuesday evening from the Wilson River, where they spent a week hunting. They brought back a large deer as proof of their prowess as hunters.

—Harold Reed, principal of the High School at Knappa, Oregon, attended the football game between Pacific University and Mt. Angel Saturday in this city.

—Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey K. Bennett returned to their home in Portland Sunday. Mrs. Bennett had been spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Miller. Mr. Bennett went back and forth each day to his work in Portland.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keykendall spent the day to Yamhill where Mr. Keykendall is a prosperous farmer of that vicinity.

—Mildew of roses, quite general in many parts of Oregon, can be checked by regular spraying with lime-sulphur. A 1-25 solution is recommended in early spring, changed to a 1-40 strength every two weeks till blossom time. Where the bushes are against a painted house frequent dusting with the finest sulphur dust will do well in warm weather, as the lime-sulphur discolors paint.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.

—The Forest Grove Shrine Club has been granted the privilege of holding a "House-Warming" party in the new Masonic and Eastern Star Home building just about the time of its completion. The exact date has not been ascertained, neither has the full program as to entertainment been worked out, but Portland Shriners will have a special invitation and it is hoped to have a very enjoyable time. About the middle of December will likely see the building so far advanced toward completion that the party may be held.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Jones are opening a Confectionery and Light Lunch Room on Main Street just south of the Post Office to be called the "Blue Bird." They will have a grand opening either Monday or Tuesday night of next week, at which time a musical program will be given. When completed they will have the most modern and up-to-date place in the county. They will cater to the best trade and guarantee to put out a tasty appetizing menu. The place will cater to banquets and special luncheons. Some form of clean entertainment will be put on every evening. They hope to see their friends and will try at all times to please.

Mrs. A. G. Hoffman was hostess yesterday afternoon at a charming tea given at "Green Gables." About one hundred were present, including as special guests the ministers' wives attending the Methodist Conference now in session, and other women representing the Congregational and Christian churches in this city. Vari-colored gladioli, ferns and asters enhanced the attractiveness of the rooms. Mildred Mills and Louise Stewart received the guest at the door. Mrs. Chas. Litter and Mrs. Omar Fendall assisted in the parlors. Mesdames Elder and Carlisle poured. Others assisting in the dining-room were: Mesdames Stewart, Retha Parcell, Mabel Patton and Lucile Robinson. On account of illness, Mrs. Wm. O. Shepard and Mrs. Mathew Hughes of Portland, who were to have been the guests of special honor, were unable to be present. Mrs. Mary C. Bliss, one of the National field-workers, was among the out-of-town guests. This delightful reception was given by Mrs. Hoffman as a part of the Conference program of the afternoon, recognizing the anniversary of the Woman's Home Missionary Society.

Last Monday evening at eight o'clock, at the Congregational parsonage, occurred the marriage of Ada M. Snyder to Oscar Hood, in the presence of a few close friends of the bride, Rev. Mr. Blair pronouncing the rites and using the impressive ring ceremony. Mrs. Hood is known to many in our vicinity and Mr. Hood is the owner of a ranch near Golden, Oregon, where the happy couple will make their home until next spring when it is likely they will return to Forest Grove and make their permanent dwelling place among us. The best of wishes go with the newly-weds from their friends throughout this vicinity.

A wedding of last week was that of Clarence H. Lennerville, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lennerville, of this city, and Miss Pauline Madden, of Centralia. The young people were married at the home of the bride's parents in the Washington city at 1 o'clock P. M. on Saturday last. They took a honeymoon trip to Tacoma and from there will visit Mr. Lennerville's parents here. Miss Madden formerly lived here with her parents, and was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Madden, whose home was just northwest of the city. Mr. Lennerville has for a number of years been in the Portland Fire Department and his station is now on the Fire Boat George H. Williams. They will live on East 9th Street in Portland. The best wishes of many Forest Grove friends will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Lennerville.

HOME TOWN PAPER WEEK

Every Four Corners has its Home Town week now-a-days, but all the boys and girls who have wandered from the Township Center cannot get back to enjoy the loved surroundings.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XIII.—RHODE ISLAND

RHODE ISLAND is not really the name of this state. As can be seen from the state seal, the official name is the "State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." It originated from two distinct settlements. The first was made by Roger Williams in 1639. He was the pastor of a church in Salem. As he advocated radical reforms he was ordered to return to England, but fled to the Narragansett tribe of Indians. From them he obtained a tract of land and called the town which he established Providence, in token of God's mercy which had so far provided for him.

About the same time Mrs. Anne Hutchinson and her followers were expelled from Massachusetts on account of a theological dispute. She made her way to the island of Aquidneck, which she purchased from the Indians for 40 fathoms of white wampum, 20 beaver and 10 coats. The name of this island was changed to the Isle of Rhodes, probably after the famous Greek island in the Mediterranean.

By common usage it became known as Rhode Island. In 1662 Charles II gave Rhode Island a very liberal charter, and this remained in force until 1841, when a new state constitution was adopted by mass conventions, and two years later another new constitution was legally voted. The change in constitutions caused what was known as Dorr's rebellion.

The entrance of Rhode Island into the Union in 1790 completed the list of the original thirteen states. Though Rhode Island is the smallest of all the states, with only 1,545 square miles, it is very thickly populated and has five presidential electors, which is more than those of a number of states of much larger territory.

MONEY AND MERIT

A Million Dollars, minus merit, would be a mighty poor investment to start in life with.

But a banking account—even a small one—well kept, is a mighty good asset, always.

It means that you are known at your bank, and that you are known favorably. Nominal capital, plus merit, outweighs phenomenal capital, minus merit.

A well-kept banking account is a real asset, especially when kept with a strong, progressive bank such as this. It will pay you to investigate the service we offer. Certainly it will be a privilege to have you call and to place some helpful banking information before you.

TAXES

We will be pleased to attend to paying the second half of your taxes which should be paid on or before October 5th, in order to avoid the penalty.

But all can subscribe to the old home town paper and thus keep well in touch with the little spot they once called home.

What joy to run over the school promotions and find that the tots of a few years ago are moving higher and higher in scholastic circles and eventually blossoming forth as the "sweet graduates," or the clean strong boys discarding knickerbockers.

Just watch that burdoned old city coddler open up his home town paper—it is the first thing he picks up out of his mail—and what can he find there to interest him? Angus McGregor's horse died yesterday; Peter McGregor will run for the county clerkship; Horace Jell hopes to win the secretaryship of the Hilltown agricultural society; Lyria Munger has opened a millinery store in one side of the printing office. Mrs. Brown is down with a severe cold; Mrs. Plater broke her ankle and is in the county hospital.

Yet though he smiles at the old-time styles and expressions he enjoys it all over and over again, for it takes his mind back home where his wonderful boyhood days—happy days—were spent.

When a person in normal condition loses one of his senses, the others become overdeveloped. It is well known how the blind develop the sense of touch—but this rule does not seem to work with those blinded by love. Perhaps this is the exception that proves the rule.

A Seattle judge let a burglar off and advised him to get married. Was that clemency?
