FIGURES OF SPEECH ANNOY
 Imaginative Writer Portrays Indignation Meetings to Protest Against Certain Comparisons.
 New York—Officers of the United States navy took concerted action today in protest of authors and public speakers who use the expression "spend money like a drunken sailor."
 Philadelphia—An indignation meeting was held today in Independence Hall by the Society for the Protection of Hatmakers, who protested the use by writers and public speakers of the expression "as mad as a hatter."
 Chicago—The Independent Order of Taxicab Drivers will meet tonight at the Blackstone to protest the indiscriminate use of the characterization "a former member of the James gang now driving a taxi," and similar terms of opprobrium they say have been heaped upon chauffeurs who drive cars for hire.
 Omaha—The local union of Jackrabbit hunters at a meeting today decided to petition congress for a bill prohibiting writers and public speakers using the simile "as wild as a March hare." They say such language is discouraging to those who hunt such prey.
 San Antonio—The International League of Crutch Makers went on strike today in protest of several newspaper columnists who recently used the expression "the funny as a crutch" in local playhouses.—Kansas City Star.

SPRAY TO KEEP FLIES AWAY
 Best Time to Apply Repellent is in Morning After Milking or Early in Afternoon.
 To keep cows quiet and contented they should be sprayed to keep flies off. A good time to spray is after milking in the morning and before milking time in the afternoon.
 With a portable cart, made from a half barrel by attaching wheels and a spray pump and nozzle, two men can spray 40 cows in five minutes. Thirty gallons of mixture will spray 40 cows twice a day for 10 days.
 Formula: 4 1/2 quarts coal tar dip, 4 1/2 quarts fish oil, 5 quarts coal oil, 8 quarts whale oil and 1 1/2 quarts oil of tar. Dissolve 2 pounds laundry soap in water, add the above ingredients and bring the whole up to 80 gallons with lukewarm soft water.

WERE SYMBOLS OF CREATION
 Among Ancient Egyptians the Bactre Was Believed to Be the Form of the Sun God.
 A scarab is the representation of the sacred beetle (called an Egyptian god, Khepri, sometimes, Isis) and source of art. The appearance and rapid multiplication of beetles in the mud left on the embankment of the Nile gave rise to the belief in their spontaneous generation, and they became the symbol of creation and creative power. In their various shapes and the bright golden tints of their wing cases they were thought to resemble the shape and color of the sun and thus were taken to be the horse in which the sun god appeared. Scarabs were cut in stones and employed as seals and amulets. They were bored through their length so that they could be strung like beads. After the coming of the Egyptian with other races, agnostics and Christians interpreted the meaning of these gems in accordance with their own beliefs. Those of the most ancient period, such as are found on mummies, are inscribed with the names of the kings held in highest veneration, Thutmose III, Ramesses II and Amenophis III and frequently with some hieroglyphic symbol. The larger of them have some short religious or historic inscription on their under side.
 Makeup of Human Body.
 One reason why milk is so excellent a food is that it contains much calcium, which is the principal mineral of the human body, contributing to the makeup of the bones and teeth. A good person carries in his skeleton about four pounds of it, says an exchange. The body contains about three ounces of sodium, combined with chlorine to form common salt. There are also about two ounces of magnesium, which is a silvery-white metal. Another highly inflammable metal contained in the body is potassium—about two and one-half ounces of it. The body contains about 30 ounces of phosphorus. Seven-eighths of the phosphorus is in the bones (going to form phosphate of lime); half an ounce is in the brain tissues; the rest is in the red corpuscles of the blood. Of sulphur there are about four ounces in the bones and teeth. The body is three-fifths water and one-fifth carbon.

Black Hawk in Boston.
 For some years Black Hawk lived quietly on a small reservation near Des Moines. In 1857 the peace-loving Keokuk took him with a party of Sauk and Fox chiefs again to Washington, and on this trip he made a visit to Boston. The officials of the city received the august warrior and his companions in Faneuil hall, and the governor of the commonwealth paid them similar honor at the statehouse. Some excursions were performed on the Common for the amusement of the populace, and afterward the party was taken to see a performance by Edwin Forrest at the Tremont theater. Here all went well, except that at an exciting point in the play the Indians burst into a warwhoop, to the considerable consternation of the women and children present.—Frederic Austin Ogil.

Intelligence of Elephants.
 Elephants are extraordinarily intelligent, even in their wild state, but it is an astonishing fact that with all this intelligence the males will invariably permit the approach of human beings (on the right side of the wind) to within 20 or 30 yards with the utmost unconcern. It is on this account many hunters believe that they are blind to anything at close quarters. This opinion, however, is discounted by the fact that the females, particularly if they are with young, get very curious, and more often than not investigate matters, and if they do so with trunk aloft, head and ears back, and a "get-out-of-the-way-I'm-coming" tone which beats anything in the trade.

Air-Carrying Spider.
 The water spider (Arctocera aquatica), though an air-breathing creature, spends nearly its whole existence in the water. It is enabled to breathe beneath the surface by means of a bubble of air retained in the long hairs that cover the spider's abdomen. It also weaves a dome-shaped nest under water, attached to some plant, and fills it with air, which the spider carries down from the surface, a bubble at a time.

 Mirth and the Maiden.
 "He was a mirth-loving man, and perhaps that accounted not a little for his successful amours; since women, for the most part frivolous creatures, are excessively bored by the seriousness with which men treat them and they can seldom resist the buffoon who makes them laugh. Their sense of humor is crude. Diana of Ephesus is always prepared in this prudence to the wits for the red-headed comedian who sits on his hat."—From "The Trembling of a Leaf," by Somerset Maugham.

REPUBLICANS!
 Shall Oregon continue to hold the pre-eminence that is now hers? Shall she forge ahead as a leader in the Republican party?
 Answer "Yes!"—Vote X13 for Ralph E. Williams for Republican National Committeeman
 IN the presidential election of 1916 when there was dissension and diversion everywhere, Oregon was the only state west of the Missouri river to go Republican. Harmony!
 Progressives and Republicans united in giving credit for this remarkable achievement to Ralph E. Williams, national committeeman since 1908.
 In recognition of this and other services, Ralph Williams was elected vice-chairman, the second highest honor within the power of the Republican National Committee to bestow. It is a position of influence to be reached only by years of faithful and intelligent service.
 Ralph Williams is the first committeeman representative from any western state to be elected to the vice-chairmanship.
 Ralph Williams is a veteran of the national organization. He stands at the head with the leaders. A new man would, of custom and necessity, stand at the foot with the followers.
 Republican leaders, in Congress and out, are Ralph Williams' friends. This friendship means much to Oregon and the Northwest. Without ostentation Ralph Williams enlists the aid of these leaders for the things the Northwest needs from the national government.
