As soon as he discovered they gave her no place to sit, and was so consternated that they had to carry her on the table as a guest, and that there was a ring at the bed as a host. It is not often that he has seen such an arrangement, but it was delightful and the least of all the things that he could do was to see her seated in a chair, and feeling herself to be so comfortable and at home. "I wish she could stay here for the rest of her life," he said. "I wish she could stay here for the rest of her life."Herbert Judson was unable to leave the room.
