SOCIETY.

Arch Chisholm, the popular hotel man and president of B. A. A. C., started for San Francisco, Thursday night. Good luck, old boy.

Cady-Anderson Co. are selling lots of goods this fall. Another evidence that the Garden City is coming to the front rapidly.

Dr. Robinson is improving rapidly from his recent operation at Portland. He comes up town every day, and says he is feeling better than he has felt for a long time, which is good news to his many friends around here.

L. S. Barnes, who has been sick for quite awhile, is improving.

Mr. Fenney, of the firm of Fenney & Johnson, says he likes Beaverton as a business town better than Woodburn, which sounds pretty good for our city.

Billy Campbell was a Portland visitor Thursday.

John Meier of Cornell Forks passed through our city, Friday. Johnny was a pretty husky ball-player of the C. F. team a short time ago.

John Wolf states that bee trees are not so plentiful as they were on Cooper Mountain a few years back.

Math Ripp, the warehouse man of Aloha, was in town, Tuesday, on business. Mr. Ripp has a big stock of hay, grain and feed, also first-class storage at lowest rates. Give him a call.

B. B. Reeves, one of Cedar Mills' bustling citizens, gave us a splendid call Thursday. Bert says Cedar Mills coming along fine; the storekeeper is selling much goods and the shoemaker pegging away; all they need is just a streetcar line, which he thinks some of these days.

Judge C. E. Kindt of Kinton was over Monday. He states that farmers over his way are receiving $1.15 per cwt. for potatoes, also that onions are selling for $1.65 at present. Their nearest shipping point is Robinson on the Coast.

Wedding Bells

Nat Richards and Mrs. Sherman were married at Kinton last Saturday. They will make their home at this place in the future. The boys chivalried the couple on Monday night by big crowd, and had a bully time, wishing him a long and happy voyage.

The Beaverton Mercantile Co., just north of the flour mill, have a new platform in front of their new store for the benefit of the farmers.

A. H. Spraner and Billy Thompson are pretty good window decorators. Thursday night, they had a fine display of dishes arranged artistically and well lit up by electric lights. Looks fine.

Alexander Weir, one of the Cooper Mountain boys, walked to town Friday to do some trading.

The Owl quartette sang at the show Thursday night, and received a glad hand.

Messrs. Storey and Moore went over to Winlock, Wash., by team about ten days ago, and have arrived at their destination.

Mr. Nealeigh of Scholls drove over the last of the week.

Nick Kemmer of Cooper Mountain brought over a fine milk cow Friday.

W. H. Boyd of Progress was in town, Saturday. He underwent an operation on his foot at Portland hospital a short time ago. It seems good to have him among us again.

E. R. J. Demmer, with the Seelye Insurance Co. of Portland, made this office a pleasant visit Monday, and established an insurance agency here.

Mrs. C. L. Mitzel was a Beaverton visitor, Saturday.

Joe Murray of Cedar Mills was in town Saturday on business.

There was a big crowd at the mask ball at Morse Hall on Thanksgiving night.

Billy Anderson, an old-timer of this part of the woods, was in town Thursday, renewing old acquaintances. He looks as skookum as when the editor was a boy and knew him early in the nineties. At that time Billy drove a four-horse team attached to the old tramcar for Davis sawmill. He was pretty good to us, boys, then always giving us a ride, and here is something that seemed funny to the editor then. Every afternoon he always would linger till school was out, and take a load of passengers south, and by the way one of these passengers became Billy's wife, old times.

Marriage Licenses

Henry S. Emerick, age 23, to Miss Fanny L. Hall, age 18, both of this county.

Nathaniel S. Richards and Celia R. Sherman, both of legal age.

Andrew Wilson and Cora D. Comstock were married Monday, November 17, by County Judge Reasoner. Both parties are residents of this county.

Lloyd V. Fisher and Alice Bachelor of Portland.

Old Soldiers Will Play on the Oregon

Only those that wear Uncle Sam's uniforms, either in the capacity of officers or musicians, may be passengers on the Oregon, and negotiations are now being carried on between the corps, the Oregon delegation in Congress and the secretary of the navy to the effect that our soldier band be appointed official musicians.

That they can inspire the present generation with enthusiasm and patriotism now as well as when lads under Grant, was evidenced at Los Angeles a couple of months ago at the Grand National encampment. They were at sea as to who should lead the big parade of 8,000 soldiers, and someone cried, "Get those old, gray-haired vets from Oregon. I heard them at the hotel and they are great." The Oregon boys, with John Baldwin and John Butler to the front as drummer and fife, did lead that soldier crowd down the boulevard, and they say that it was one of the most inspiring living pictures ever seen.

Tennis Club Notes

At the last meeting of the tennis association a marked improvement was shown in the attendance, also in the enthusiasm. Willis Cady read the club constitution in a very masterful way, after which the new members signed it without any hesitation. The names of Frank Kline and Miss Chase were presented for membership.

The subject of financial means was brought up and duly discussed. An amendment to the constitution was drafted, which established 25c per month dues. The first dues to be paid on December the first. After three months, if a member fails to pay they shall be dropped from the club.

This is the first regular assessment, which the club has ever levied. During the past seasons there has been a lack of funds to keep the courts in good condition; consequently weeds and grass developed a bad habit of growing throughout the summer. What we have needed and must have is a regular caretaker for the courts.

The new constitutional amendment will be voted on at the next meeting, which will be held on December the first at the home of Miss Goldie Vincent.

Basket Ball

Coach McIntyre is developing one of the best basketball teams that has ever played for Beaverton. With the veterans of the past two seasons working hard to hold their places against the new material, which has turned out for practice the lineup, consequently is a strong one to beat. So far, this year the team has won 50 per cent of the games played, which is a good record for the first of the season.

The Beaverton Athletic club has taken the team over, and is now managing it with a marked degree of success. At the last game there was a very good attendance. A new feature, which has been added this year, is an impromptu dance, which follows the game.
