MORE PRECINCTS

Hillsboro, Or. — (Owl Special) — Many are asking the county count to create more precincts in Washington county on account of the enlarged number of voters by Woman's Suffrage. At present there are 24 voting precincts. It probably will be increased to 40. Among the towns asking are: Kinton, Scholls, Garden Home, East and West Sherwood of the East End.

MASONS INSTALL ST. JOHN'S DAY

Beaverton Lodge No. 100, A. F. & A. M., held a public installation of officers on St. John's Day, Saturday, December 27. G. W. Stitt acted as Grand Installing Officer. Following are the officers elected for the ensuing year:

James I. Hoops, W. M.
C. E. Hedge, S. W.
W. H. Boyd, J. W.
O. E. Shepard, S. D.
G. G. McComrack, J. D.
C. W. Allen, Secy.
E. L. Hellyer, Treas.
J. A. Shepard, S. S.
A. Paulsen, J. S.
Parker H. Downing, Tyler.

After the installation a bountiful banquet was served in the dining room, where the tables loaded with the "fat of the land" were treated "on the square." No. 100 is in a very prosperous condition and, things looking "clear in the South."

Rate Case Before Railroad Commission

The Tualatin Valley Transportation association, through their attorney, R. R. Grier, filed their case on December 20 before the Railroad commission.

The time for hearing has not yet been set, as the railroad has ten days in which to answer. However, we expect a hearing in January.

BOOST EM' UP.

The Owl has the largest circulation of any paper in Beaverton, and is constantly gaining new subscribers and boosting for the town. We have some mighty good firms advertising their goods in these columns. But we would be pleased to see every business in Beaverton represented not only from a financial standpoint, but to boost the good town to the front in the estimate of strangers. Over 800 papers are sent out every week; a average of 5 persons read the same or 4,000 actual readers per week.

Think this over, gentlemen. If every business house in Beaverton will carry an ad. in this paper, we will soon have one of the best papers in the county. Let us all pull together for a Greater Beaverton and Beaverton business men, forget all differences of the past, and now get together for the holidays and 1914. The editor of this paper will meet you with a glad hand.

Hurrah for the "Z's" Mazamas in Town

Lewis Zimbrick and Henry Zimmerman paid their subscriptions this week for the Owl one year in advance. All the "Z's" square for another year. NEXT!

HOT and cold baths 25c. First in town. At the Beaverton Barber shop. L. A. Derr. Oh you! Midwinter swim!

HERE

Stop! Look! and listen to what is being the talk of the town. Coming soon to the Grange hall.

For the benefit of the Beaverton Volunteer Fire department A Rearing Farce—"Cubman No. 93." A laugh from start to finish.

This play is for the purpose of joining our town boys into an organized body of regular fire-fighting fiends.

From the fire fund, which is now rolling, boys, we are going to have uniforms. What do you know about that?

We are going to show a few of our sister towns just what we can do. Beaverton is not going to take a back seat for nothing.

Watch for the date. Remember that a smile or a laugh is worth a thousand groans in any market. In stopping a small fire prevents many a loss. WILL THOMPSON.

Portland Mazamas, to the number of 80, took a hike last Sunday from King's Heights to Mt. Cavalry cemetery, through a trail to Cedar Mills, then to this place, and caught the S. P. passenger train from Eugene at 5:28 p. m. A special car was attached for them. The day was lovely, but they found some mud. It was a jolly crowd. The Misses Ostle and Zola Hedge of this place were with the party.

New Citizens

Garden Home, Or.—born to the wife of Sam Pailay, on December 23, a 9-pound boy, Dr. Ira P. Barrett attending. Dad is all smiles.

Cigars For Johnny

The editor of the Owl sawed wood all day Xmas with a new crosscut, and hid the saw behind a log, and on Sunday went to bring the saw home, but lo! some one swiped the "Armstrong." So after inquiring of some of the near neighbors if they had seen anyone packing a sawmill away, he finally ran across John Welch. He said may be the "bad man" pushed it away, "better go back and look." So he looked behind most all the logs, and finally found "the buzzer" hid away behind another log about 150 feet away. "When you outguess the Irish you are going some." Call at the office. Johnny, when in town, you got some cigars here.
