Stick to It.

The man who raises 10 acres of potatoes each year will become rich. Staying with the crop counts.

Start 1914 Right

This is the time of year to resolve to trade at Beaverton. Patronize home merchants and build up the town by circulating those extra dollars here.

True Teachers

True teaching in the schools of our country is not the art of telling the children 2 and 2 are 4, drawing the salary end of the month and looking wise! But more. The true teachers install a flame in the boy's mind to be somebody in this world and do something for advancement of mankind. It is the fire and not the smoke that works wonders for the blacksmith.

SOCIETY.

Miss Lucille Martin of Santa Rosa visited New Year's at the home of Mrs. E. B. Martin.

Henry Spies of Elmonica was in town Thursday on business.

Miss Dalphia Ward of Portland was the guest of Alliean Shuey, Sunday.

Lawrence Burke of Forest Grove came down Monday on business, and while in town, renewed old acquaintances at this office.

Frank Allen and family have just returned from a visit during the holidays at Mrs. Allen's folks, near Newberg.

Mr. Shipman of Forest Grove was in the city, Tuesday. He is a wizard at the piano. If a piano ever did talk it is when Shipman is playing.

Bob Bullock and family of Buxton are visiting with Jasper Kline's folks in East Beaverton.

Charles Benard, Jr., of Portland, was in town on business, Monday.

W. C. Keshn of Orenco was down on New Year's, greeting friends. He has 30 acres of the best land near Elmonica.

AT Beaverton, McLaughlin, Saturday night, January 17. Big game of the season.

Mr. Gray of Orenco's big band was in this city on New Year's. He "toots the baritone," and states that the band will give a big entertainment soon at Orenco.

Francis Davies, the famous slide trombone artist of Kinton band, came over Friday on business.

C. Richardsen of Progress was in town, Monday.

P. S. Shackelford of Cedar Mills came to town Friday, and subscribed for the Owl for one year. Mr. Shackelford will be 88 years old on March 21, and gets around pretty well for a boy of his age.

Mr. Chalman of Raleigh rode through town Friday. We thought he was a cowboy at first from East of the Mountains. He sure travels some.

Ross Finley of Cedar Mills came over, Friday.

Mr. Fitzpatrick of Sorrento was over, Monday. He is looking much better.

W. V. Uptegrove of Oak Grove, Ore., bought a tract of land from W. O. Hocken Tuesday in the west end of town. The Owl Land Co. made the sale. Mr. Uptegrove is a first-class carpenter, and wishes to locate in a wide-awake town, and says Beaverton looks good to him.

Lawrence A. Fernsworth, editor of the Cornelius Tribune and Banks Herald, made us a pleasant call, New Year's Day. Mr. Fernsworth is making a success of two Washington county papers, and deserves the loyal support of Cornelius and Banks' citizens in his untiring efforts.

Elmer Stipe, the local plumber with the help of Omer Aikin and Billy Filly, have been busy during the last week installing the city water in the residences around town.

The Value of the Skunk to Agriculture

The skunk, which is represented throughout the country by a number of varieties, general and species, is an animal of great economic importance. Its food consists very largely of insects, mainly of those species which are very destructive to garden and forage crops. Field observations and laboratory examinations demonstrate that they destroy immense numbers of white grubs, grasshoppers, crickets, cutworms, hornets, wasps, and other noxious forms. The alarming increase of the white grub in some localities is largely due to the extermination of this valuable animal.

Mary Jane Fitzsimmons

Mrs. Mary Jane Fitzsimmons passed to her eternal reward December 17, 1913, following a stroke of paralysis the day previous.

The funeral was held December 20 from St. Cecilia's Catholic church, Beaverton, interment being in Cedar Mills cemetery.

The deceased was born in Red Oak, Grant county, Wisconsin, March 17, 1864, and soon after her marriage, August 5, 1893, settled with her husband near Bethany, which place has since been her home, previous to her death.

She leaves to mourn her early loss, a husband, Michael Fitzsimmons, and five children, whose ages range from 9 to 18 years, respectively—Margaret, Michael, John, Catherine and Mary Jane; also two brothers, Jas. T. Nolan and J. P. Nolan of Los Angeles, Calif., and a sister, Miss B. M. Nolan.

The Ax Story

A farmer went into a store and asked the price of an ax.

The storekeeper said: "This ax sells for $1.25."

The farmer said: "That is too much. I can buy the same kind of ax from Sears & Roebuck for $1."

"Let me see," said the storekeeper, "well, I will do the same."

"Wrap 'er up. Here's your dollar. Give me the ax," said the farmer.

"Oh no! I am doing same as Sears & Roebuck now. I will put your ax in the back room for two weeks, and then I will charge you 65 cents more for express charges," said the storekeeper.

The farmer patronizes home industry now.

The widows' pension bill is now costing Washington county the monthly sum of $346.50. At this rate, if no more are granted, or where one is granted another falls away from the rolls, the rolls, the pension will cost the county $4,158 per annum. There are now 20 widows drawing the pension, and they range from $5 per month to $55.
