EDITORIAL

It is the boy who attends strictly to business and makes his employer's interests his own, who will make his mark as a business man.

Don't grumble. The most unfortunate class of people living upon this green earth are the grumblers. They rob home of its joys, society of its dues, and themselves of the best things of life.

Our town is one of the cleanest in the state, yet we want it to beat the record and there is still room for improvement. Get busy, people, and clean up any little rubbish that may be around your home.

SOCIETY.

Miss Hazel Hunter of this place is visiting with her cousin, Mrs. Nellie Barney, of Arlington, Wash.

J. H. Johnson, of the Hazel-dale section, was in the city Wednesday, ordering butter wrappers; also, subscribed for The Owl.

John McLeod of Skookumville was hauling hay through town, Friday.

D. H. Shackelford of Cedar Mills was over this way, Saturday. Mr. Shackelford is having a little trouble with rheumatism this winter.

Lewis Zimric, the hustling farmer from the southwest of town, was over Friday, transacting business.

Mr. Lee states that now is a good time to spray your fruit trees. Use "S to I" now. Sports water to 1 of spray.

The big wind storm blew down the old Siegenthaler barn at Skookumville, about 10 minutes after thirty cows were driven out. It knocked a hop house off its foundations at Gaston, and upset Erickson's chicken house at Progress.

George Vanandingham happened upon a harness shop in John Frohnauer's building, west of Grange Hall.

John Trachsel of Elmonica called on his friends around here Friday.

Melvin Howell, an old-time resident of Skookumville, was in the Garden City, Friday.

Prof. R. L. Wann, principal of Drenco schools, was in Beaverton Saturday. Mr. Wann takes a deep interest in educational matters, and is one of Washington county's foremost educators.

Jay Garbarini, a graduate from Skookumville School Class '06, was out from Portland, visiting his folks over Sunday.

Attorney A. C. Allen and wife of Portland were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Allen on Sunday.

Miss Dora Titus and the Misses Treelen were down from Raleigh Sunday, enjoying the sunshine.

School Excursion

The February graduating class of the Lincoln high school in Portland, numbering about 30 young men and women, chartered a new electric car and spent one day in Beaverton recently.

They rented the hall for games and dancing and a big feed, and there was much toasting, speech-making and hilarity on the program.

The selection of Beaverton for an excursion of a Portland graduating class shown that our little city is attracting attention in the metropolis. The "Outing" was under the leadership of F. W. Hoover. Mr. Hoover has many friends in this part of the country, who are always glad to see him. He is one among several of his class, who will leave immediately after the February graduating, exercises to enter on a four years' engineering course at O. A. C.

A Gentle Hint

He came often and early, and stayed, too late. Recently, as the clock struck eleven, she asked him if he knew how to take eleven ciphers and make 23 out of them. He didn't, so she told him to pull down eleven ciphers in a straight horizontal line, then to draw a perpendicular line about a half an inch long down from the right side of the first, fifth and tenth, and up from the right side of the fourth, seventh and eighth. He read the result and vanished. —Duffar Dispatch.

Two Survivors

Alexander Weir of Cooper Mountain was in our city Thursday on pension business at this office. Mr. Weir is one of the few survivors of the Commodore Perry-Japan Expedition of 1853. Mr. Weir will soon be 82 years old, and for the hardships passed through by him in service to his country, surely deserves a pension.

W. H. Hanly of near Sylvan is another of the survivors of this same expedition.

Good Work, 1913

The Council of 1913, composed of W. E. Pegg, mayor, A. H. Spraner, Dix Boring, Alb. Muesig and the late Edgar Summers, accomplished the following big works for Beaverton: Installed city water works; rocked one mile of Beaverton streets; bought two hose carts, 1000-foot fire hose; built a fire engine-house; had installed fire hydrants and fire plugs over the whole city.
