

THE CONDON GLOBE.

FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1892.

NOTICE.

The yearly subscription to the GLOBE is $1.50, invariably in advance. No deviation from this rule. The paper will be stopped at the end of the time for which it is paid unless further ordered and paid for. A blue pencil mark around this notice indicates that your subscription has expired, and if you wish the paper continued you should remit the amount as soon as possible.

GLOBOSITIES.

Election next Monday. Who are you going to vote for? Notice change of dates in treasurer's notice. W. A. Goodwin and family moved back to town this week. Rev. Mulligan will preach at Condon next Sunday, 5th, morning and evening. Hon. Chas. Hilton passed through town Tuesday on his way home to The Dalles. The editor of this excellent family paper returned Monday from a business trip to Portland. Mrs. Hanna Ward of Lone Rock is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. J. Hogan at Condon. The GLOBE has several thousand blanks—mortgage and warranty deeds, chattel mortgage, etc., for sale cheap. Any person who exhibits his ballot so as to let it be known how he votes, is liable to a fine of from $50 to $200. Howard Propet has secured a position as clerk and book-keeper in J. H. Miller's mercantile store at Condon. Fred Monroe drove his band of 3000 sheep to the mountains this week. Ed Bell and Joe Potter accompanied him. Clerk Lucas returned Monday from a flying trip to Portland, where he went to procure the voting booths and ballots. Miss Gustie Anderson, who had been stopping with Mrs. Maddock since last fall, left Tuesday for her home at The Dalles. You will notice by J. H. Downing's new ad that he is selling excellent flour now at the very low price of $4.50 per barrel. Mrs. E. W. Copner and Miss May Wineland of Lone Rock came over to-day (Friday) and will visit friends in town a few days. The suit in Squire Tatom's court at Condon—Robinson vs Burton, mention of which was made in last issue, resulted in favor of the defendant. Miss Ida Baker, a highly cultivated young lady, lately from Massachusetts, began teaching a term of school May 23d at the Junction, near Arlington. On account of being absent several days this week, the GLOBE comes out a little later than usual. We are also compelled to crowd out some correspondence. J. H. Miller is having the street in front of his store filled in and levelled up this week, which is a much-needed improvement. Let the others follow suit. Miss Cordelia Keizer began a three-months term of school last week at Clem. She is an accomplished young lady, and if she can't box intelligence into the young idea, no one can. Don't forget to cast your ballot Monday for W. H. Wilson. You all know he is thoroughly and eminently qualified for the position, and there is considerable doubt whether the other fellow is. The military ball at Condon Friday night was one of the most pleasurable events ever held in the county. Over 70 couples participated, and it was a complete success, financially and socially. Mrs. M. Campbell and little Blanche, Miss Emma Meador, Mrs. Lyman Morgan and son Hank, all of Fossil, left Monday en route to California where they expect to visit relatives during the summer. Randall Palmer, who recently moved back to Fossil from Sauvie's Island, is in this section this week with a view to taking up some of the choice government land near Condon. He will probably locate in Ferry Canyon. Messrs. Raleton & Johns, proprietors of the Olex store, have enlarged and improved their building, and are carrying a large stock of general merchandise. They are good business men and are rapidly building up a large trade. Our informant last week was mistaken concerning the sheep item stating that Blake & Clay had the 7000 head of Mr. Kuhn's sheep on the shares. These gentlemen sold the sheep to Mr. Kuhn, who is driving them to California. B. K. Searcy and wife returned home the first of the week from Albany, where they went as delegates to the State Grange which met last week. They had a splendid time, and report the grange in a highly flourishing condition. Hon. W. R. Ellis, republican candidate for congress, visited our county this week. He spoke at Fossil Tuesday, at Condon Tuesday evening, to large and appreciative crowds. He is extremely sociable and agreeable, and made a very favorable impression with our people. Fred Lucas of Monmouth, youngest brother of our J. P., attained considerable notoriety the other day by winning the prize in a two-mile bicycle race at Portland. A number of contestants from various states were in the race, but Fred was the only one "in it" at the outcome. His brother Burt, in company with a number of others, made a trip through Europe on bicycles a year or two ago.

Considerable of the grain on Schuttler Flat was badly scorched by the recent hot weather. Unless it gets a shower of rain very soon, the wheat crop will be a little thin down there. We have not heard of grain being injured in any other section.

Geo. Gibbons returned home the first of the week from Umatilla, where the body of his drowned son was found last week, mention of the sad affair of which was made in last issue. Mr. Gibbons was present at the burial of his unfortunate son in the cemetery at that place.

Nearly every day Ed Nelson's "Cannonball" carries a half-dozen passengers each way, and in consequence Ed is happy. All are glad to see him succeed, for he spares no pains in getting the very best accommodations for the route. He fully deserves his well-merited success.

Wm. Trask made a business trip to Portland this week. He and his brother, Louis Trask, expect to sell out their interest in the store at Mayville soon, to their partner, Geo. Rippey, who will run the business alone. Trask Bros. expect then to go back to the valley to reside.

Every candidate running for office expects to be elected next Monday. And they all will be, too—1/2 of them to stay at home, however. The defeated ones can find consolation in knowing that it is impossible for both to be elected, and if he had won, the other fellow would be "out and injured."

We re-publish this week the directions of how to vote, and it is of the utmost importance to every voter to read them carefully, several times over. Remember that if any mistake whatever is made in marking your ballot, your entire vote is lost. If you do not understand thoroughly how to mark it, ask the judges.

Clerk Lucas received the voting booths and ballots a few days ago, and Sheriff Wilcox and deputy Anthony are busy this week delivering them to the various precincts. The booths are of the simplest structure, but will answer the purpose just as well as the new-fangled, high-priced steel booths.

The Dalles Chronicle: E. M. Shutt, of the Moro Observer, will soon sever his connection with that paper and remove to Antelope to establish a new paper at that place, the Antelope Herald. It is understood the new paper is intended to advocate another division of the county. Poor Wasco! She will soon be in the same fix the man's dog was after his tail was cut off behind the ears.

During the last week several accidents happened in this section, none of which resulted disastrously, however. Assessor Mason was thrown off his horse on Beecherflat a few days ago, which laid him up several days at the hotel; Geo. Knox was kicked by a horse Saturday, and was unconscious several hours; and Billy Mack was also thrown from a horse and hurt. All have recovered again.

Vote for Judge Bradshaw if you want the expenses of circuit court kept down, thus lessening your taxes all round. In ability and qualification he towers head and shoulders above his opponent. Politics should cut no figure in this contest, and as Judge Bradshaw has proved to be a true friend to every taxpayer, they certainly ought to appreciate his excellent service by all voting for him Monday.

All is thrift and enterprise at Condon, and we feel safe in making the assertion that there isn't a better or livelier town west of the Rockies—or east either—for its size. No one will make a mistake by investing their money in property that is increasing in value as rapidly as it is at Condon. There is still room here for a great many more business enterprises of all kinds. Build and go into business here while property is yet cheap.

Judge Bradshaw has done more work on the bench in a given time than any other judge that ever presided in Crook county. Voters, this is economy. It saves money for you in the way of taxation. Remember Judge Bradshaw when you vote. He is a fast friend of the taxpayer. He cuts short the endless run of lawyers' tongues and rushes business. He cleans up a long docket with dispatch and no abler judge ever occupied the bench in the 7th judicial district. Vote for him.—Prineville News.

W. L. Wilcox has faithfully performed the duties of the office of sheriff for the past two years. He has been a careful, painstaking officer, as the records of the office will show. He has turned over a smaller delinquent tax list than any other man who ever held the office, and yet has always been accommodating in the discharge of his official duties, as all our taxpayers will testify. Wilcox's friends are legion and they will give him a rousing majority. His election will be no experiment—he has been tried and proven true to his trust.

The utmost harmony prevailed at the school meeting Thursday, and we are glad to say, it resulted more satisfactorily than that held two weeks ago. A tax of $500 was voted, which amount will settle all the indebtedness for this year. The enterprising citizens of our district deserve much credit for their interest in maintaining a good school here. It has the name now of being one of the best schools in the state, and our citizens show from their actions that they expect to keep it up to its present high standard. W. S. Myers and Dr. Nicklin resigned as directors, and D. B. Trimble and A. Hartman were elected to fill their places. J. H. Downing is now chairman, and the trio composes a strong and active board, as it was before. The outgoing officers have the thanks of the district for their untiring good work in behalf of our school.

A Frightful Accident.

The most frightful accident that ever happened on the Arlington-Fossil stage route occurred Wednesday evening. As the northbound stage was going by the Junction, seven miles from Arlington, driven by Ed Nelson, with Hon. W. R. Ellis, G. W. Rinehart and a liquor drummer, a singletree broke. It scared the horses, and quick as a flash they were flying along at break-neck speed. Mr. Ellis jumped out of the wagon and broke his leg just below the knee, and Ed Nelson was hurled out of the wagon and against a barbed wire fence, cutting him up frightfully, particularly about the face. The other two—Mr. Rinehart and the drummer, staid with the wagon and escaped without injury. The horses ran a mile or so and chucked into a wire fence which stopped them. Mr. Ellis and Ed were taken into W. F. Settlemier's house and a doctor hastily summoned. Ed is badly hurt, and at last accounts he was unable to move hand or foot. Mr. Ellis has since been taken to his home at Heppner. It is extremely unfortunate for him, as he had not yet finished his campaign canvass.

Charlie Bressler drove the stage out Thursday. His many friends hope to see Ed's cheerful face on the route again soon.

Since the establishment of the Arlington Record last fall, it seemed to single out the editor of the GLOBE for its target at which to sling insulting epithets and abuse—which fact all of its readers can testify to. Very few of its issues have been free from containing false, scandalous and libelous matter against the editor of this paper. Eminent counsel advised us several times to prosecute the editor of the Record on a charge of criminal libel, but we preferred to not go into law, and thus burden the county with such expense. Last Tuesday Jno. A. Brown, of the Record, started the ball a-rolling by bringing suit against the ed. of the GLOBE, on a charge of malicious libel, his alleged complaint claiming that a local which appeared in the last issue of this paper, reflected upon his "good name and character." The local in question neither mentioned Mr. Brown's name or his paper; and the strangest thing about it is, that the justice of that precinct would issue papers on such a flimsy complaint. The same day the editor of the GLOBE instituted suit against Mr. Brown of the Record, on the same charge—malicious libel. On Wednesday we appeared before Justice O. S. Ehl at Arlington, waived examination and was bound over under small bonds. Mr. Brown preferred standing trial, which was heard before Squire Tatom at Condon Thursday, Sheriff Wilcox bringing Mr. Brown out Wednesday from Arlington. Squire Tatom, with his usual good judgment and fairness, very properly bound him over, his bonds being placed at $200. This will be the last reference to this matter by the GLOBE, unless the Record misrepresents these true facts of the case.

A Card.

Political Shyster Work.

In justice to Judge Bradshaw we re-publish this week the letter sent last week to one of our citizens. The alleged "comparative records" of Judges Bradshaw and Watkins, as circulated in the 7th judicial district, grossly misrepresents Judge Bradshaw, as can be seen from the following true statement of the facts:

THE DALLES, OR., MAY 29, 1892.

MY DEAR SIR:—Having received several letters from your county in regard to the Watkins comparative statement, we take this opportunity of addressing you:

In the first place we, through the Star, dared them to publish the alleged statement, so that the people might see it and give Judge Bradshaw an opportunity to answer it; but they refused to publish it, preferring to circulate it in a clandestine manner amongst some of their hired henchmen. It is such a contemptible, little piece of business that it is hardly worth noticing. It is not the whole truth about the matter, and is done for the purpose of misleading the people.

I have talked with Judge Bradshaw about the matter, and he says the records do not bear them out in the statement. In the first place, at the February term of 1888—the first term held in this county by Judge Watkins, he was assisted by Judge Taylor, who was judge of this district, Taylor being present during that term for ten days and tried seven jury cases for Watkins. The statement is silent on that point, but gives all the credit to Watkins for the work done. Then again, when Watkins went on the bench, he took the business from Judge Taylor who had kept the docket up, so that Watkins had no old business to dispose of. Judge Bradshaw took the business from Judge Bird, who had been sick and unable to attend to business for about eighteen months, there having been no court in the county during that time, except when we could get some outside judge to come and hold court, and that wasn't very often; and when they did come they could not stay long enough to clean up the docket. The consequence was, the business came to Judge Bradshaw, in very bad shape, but he worked hard and faithfully, and the dockets are now all clear.

Another false point of the Watkins statement is, he doesn't show how long at each term of court the jury was held. Everyone knows that the expense and working time of court is while the jury is present. For instance, he claims that at the February term of this year the court held fourteen judicial days and tried five jury trials. Now, the records show that the jury was discharged at the end of the first week, making six judicial days, in which time five jury cases were tried. The balance of the time was taken up in hearing equity cases, at but little or no expense to the county. In his statement he does not mention the number of cases that were on the docket at each term, what kind of cases they were—whether criminal or civil—the length of time it took to try the cases, the expense of the term, or anything that would lead to show to the people the truth of the matter.

If he refuses to publish this statement we will publish it for him, with all necessary explanations, before election.

T. H. JACKSON, Sec. Dem. Co. Cen. Com. E. SCHUTZ, Chairman.

Too Much Curiosity.

"What was God doing all the time before he made this world," asked an inquisitive Bob Ingersoll of a Harlem Sunday school teacher.

The teacher was silent for some minutes, evidently absorbed in deep thought, but arousing himself he said:

"God was growing switches with which to drive out the curiosity of little boys!" and drawing the boy across a bench the teacher advised, temporarily at least, the curiosity of the seeker after more light.
