

THE CONDON GLOBE.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1893.

NOTICE.

The yearly subscription to the GLOBE is $1.50, invariably in advance. No deviation from this rule. The paper will be stopped at the end of the time for which it is paid unless further ordered and paid for. A blue pencil mark around this notice indicates that your subscription has expired, and if you wish the paper continued you should remit the amount as soon as possible.

GLOBOSITIES.

Hon. G. W. Rinehart is at Portland and Salem this week on business.

Father Mercier of Umatilla county, formerly of this circuit, is visiting his friends in this section.

Al Moore returned home this week from Gillespie, Idaho, where he had been at work since last spring.

Loren W. Bailey came up from Polk county this week and made proof on his railroad land, starting back Thursday.

Some time ago the county court of Josephine county fined the sheriff $50 for not returning the delinquent tax roll on time. The fine has just been remitted.

A pleasant surprise party was given at Maddock's hotel Saturday evening, which was greatly enjoyed by the numerous guests.

Mrs. E. J. McMorris left Thursday of last week for a visit to her relatives on Snake river in Washington, to be absent several months.

We are glad to state that Herbert Halstead will be able to be around again in a few days, having about recovered from his severe spell of sickness.

Miss Rebecca McCubbin of Wallowa county is visiting her uncle and aunt in town, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Young, and expects to remain several months.

The bill for incorporating Condon has passed its third reading in the senate and is ready for the governor's signature. Condon office friends who are on the lookout for "fat jobs" may as well begin "lectooning" already.

Gulickson's bill asking for an appropriation of $40,000 for the maintenance of the Oregon militia has passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 39 to 16. It will probably pass the Senate also and become a law, providing the governor does not veto it.

There was no school during the last couple of days, owing to the extreme cold stormy weather, which has been the most severe experienced in this section for years. Tuesday and Wednesday the mercury flickered with a vengeance around the 20-below-zero mark. Thursday it is more moderate, with indications for a chinook.

"Why, Willie Green, you don't know what a boaster is! Suppose Tommy Toodles were to come to you and say he excelled all the other boys in their studies; that he could jump higher, run faster, swim better, and could outdo every boy in the school at everything. Now, what would you call Tommy Toodles'?" Willie Green (with decision)—A liar.

Mrs. E. L. Smith, a widow of Seattle, asks $15,000 from the Union Pacific because one of its conductors kissed her without consent. If the offending conductor has any sense about him he will aid Mrs. Smith in securing judgment for the full amount and then marry her. She has a business head and precious lips on those shoulders of hers, says an exchange.

In considering the utility of the laws regarding the workings of the justice courts, it has been suggested that one important item should be remedied. These laws should be so amended that justices of the peace cannot issue warrants for arrest without an order from the district attorney, except the complaining witness be first required to file bonds for costs. This would result in the saving of hundreds of dollars to the several counties in cases where the cause for complaint is not sufficient to satisfy the prosecuting officer.—Times-Mountaineer.

Salem Journal: Mr. Ford has introduced a bill for county attorneys, which, if it is acceptable to the counties of this judicial district, will abolish the present office of district prosecutor, and give each county an attorney. Most of the counties now pay out from one to two thousand dollars a year for prosecuting attorney services. Under this bill they would not pay so much and perhaps get a cheaper grade of service, as the attorneys who will give all their time for from $600 $900 a year would not rank in ability with the present public prosecutors.

The richest man in Oregon has "joined the silent majority," and some Portland papers are holding his career to public gaze as an example of the success which attend shrewdness, good judgment and perseverance. The time is coming when the accumulation of twenty millions will be looked upon more as a misfortune than a success. To acquire that much property is to enslave one's soul in protecting and adding to it, and the unfortunate possessor of millionaire is the one to whom good wholesome sleep is a stranger. The millionaire is harassed by beggars, waylaid by fanatical assassins, and surrounded by false friends who stick to him for his money. There is nothing in a millionaire's success for young men to emulate. That nation is on the surest footing whose sons are not millionaires but honorable citizens whose daily toil at labor or in business yields a fair competency "but yields no more."

"What are you doing around here?" said the woman to the tramp who had got over the fence just in time to escape the bulldog. "Madam," he said with dignity, "I did intend to request something to eat, but all I ask now is that in the interests of humanity you'll feed that dog."—Washington Star.

The local newspaper is universally recognized as the chief factor in furthering the enterprise and giving substantial support to the industries and business of the town in which it is published, and although it does not pay directly in return a stated amount of collateral for the patronage it receives from its supporters and advertisers these constituents do receive dollar for dollar, and more, through the influence it exerts in bringing new residents to the community and posting the people in general on the progress of the town.—Exchange.

In preparing for the neck-tie ball on Feb. 14th, it is not necessary for the ladies to prepare an entire costume for the occasion. Each lady is expected to make two ties, using any kind of cloth or ribbon, exactly alike, one to be worn by herself, the other to be sealed in a blank envelope. All the envelopes are then placed in one basket, and as the couples pass by the basket during the grand march, each gentleman will reach in and get one. The lady wearing the duplicate to it will be his partner during the evening. All those having partners will be served first, and thus all the ladies are sure to get partners.

Once upon a time a certain man got mad at the editor and stopped his paper. The next week he sold his corn at 26 cents below market price. His property was sold for taxes because he didn't read the sheriff's sale. He was arrested and fined $8 for hunting on Sunday, and he paid $300 for a lot of forged notes that had been advertised for two weeks, and the public cautioned not to negotiate for them. He then paid a big Irishman with a foot on him like a forge hammer, to kick him all the way down to a newspaper office, where he paid four years subscription in advance and made the editor sign an agreement to knock him down and rob him if he ever ordered his paper stopped again. Such is life without a newspaper.—Exchange

The governors of the several states receive salaries as follows: New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania $10,000 each; Ohio $8000; Illinois and California $6000 each; Colorado, Kentucky, Indiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, Virginia, Wisconsin $5000 each; Maryland $4500; Connecticut, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas and Washington $4000 each; Florida, South Carolina and Utah $3500 each; Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, North Carolina, North Dakota and Rhode Island $3000 each; West Virginia $2700; Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma $2500 each; Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming $2500 each; Delaware, Maine, Michigan and New Hampshire $2000 each; Vermont and Oregon $1500 each.

Cal Hale Positively Identified.

A telegram from Ellensburg, under date of Jan. 30th, says:

"Cal Hale one of the men arrested for robbing the Roslyn bank last September, was placed on trial here in the superior court this morning. The courtroom was crowded. The jury was selected with very little trouble, and the examination of witness began immediately after the noon recess. F. A. Abernethy, the cashier, positively identified Hale as the man who took the money from the vault. Dr. Lyons and Professor Jenkins also positively identified him as the robber who handled the money. The defense failed to tangle them up or shake their testimony in the least. About 50 witnesses have arrived from Oregon to testify for the defense, and it is understood a strong effort will be made to prove an alibi. Hale has local attorneys conducting his case, assisted by one attorney from Oregon. Prosecuting Attorney Wager is being assisted by H. J. Snively. The indications are the trial will last several days, possibly all the week. Great interest is being shown in the case, and some heavy legal fighting is expected as the trial progresses."

J. H. Downing gets a telegram every day from Sheriff Wilcox, who is in attendance at the trial. The dispatch Wednesday stated that the case had to be postponed, owing to the sickness of the Judge, and no one had any idea when the trial would commence again.

A Welcome Addition.

A correspondent writing from Wagner, Grant county, to the Long Creek Eagle, says:

"And still they come! Another petition is being circulated in this neighborhood asking that four townships be cut off Grant and annexed to Gilliam county. We understand it is being quite largely signed by citizens of the four townships, believing it would be to their benefit financially to be annexed to Gilliam county, thus making them much nearer to the county seat of Gilliam than they are at present to the county seat of Grant, which is quite a consideration, especially during winter months."

"What are you doing around here?" said the woman to the tramp who had got over the fence just in time to escape the bulldog. "Madam," he said with dignity, "I did intend to request something to eat, but all I ask now is that in the interests of humanity you'll feed that dog."—Washington Star.

Good House To Let.

The neat dwelling house of W. L. Barker in Condon can be rented after March 1st. For information apply to Mr. Barker or at this office.

The Chinook Wind.

It is a wind peculiar to this part of the world. It is only characteristic of this region in its greater prevalence and its more distinctly traceable and widespread effects. I might add that it also has a peculiar name here, but it is nothing more and nothing less than the west wind of the world—west wind that Virgil so often refers to, the wind that Homer describes in the Odyssey as blowing soft from the ocean upon those fabled islands where winter is not, nor any burning summer heat. It is also noticed by Longfellow as descending upon the coast of Norway, and he and other writers of poetry and prose have often noted it in descriptions of New England. I was familiar with it during my early life in the Connecticut valley, and when I first felt it on the Columbia I recognized it as an old acquaintance.

Whence it comes or whether it goes is to a certain extent mysterious, but it belongs to no one quarter of the globe. It is more distinctly of this region, I believe, than of any other. It is many times more abundant and prevalent here than on the Atlantic coast, or in the interior of this country. But I think I am not mistaken in saying that we are favored beyond many other parts only in having more of it. Sweeping in from the west in these latitudes, it gives Eastern Washington and Montana an earlier spring than Minnesota, and it is not exhausted entirely in crossing the continent, but touches the New England hills and valleys to unlock the rigors of winter still later there, says Governor Semple in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The San Francisco Examiner says they are due to the drawing in of the warm, moist air that hangs over the Japan current onto the cold region between the Pacific ocean and the Rocky mountains. Their effect is to moderate the climate.

Lone Rock Rumbblings.

Mrs. Meador went over to Fossil on Monday's stage.

Mr. Wm. Scott of Greewell came up last week and is visiting his sister here, Mrs. W. C. Brown.

This is rather out of season for lambing, but Tom Barton's sheep do not appear to think so. Out of a crop of about 160 lambs, fully 1/2 have "tongued it through" and seem to be doing well.

Tuesday night was the coldest of the winter, so far, being 10 deg. below zero. During the last week snow fell to the depth of about 10 inches, but owing to the terrific winds most of it was blown off the ridges into the low places, making frightful drifts. Stockmen are just rolling the hay out to their stock, feeling confident that the backbone of winter is at last broken. It has been an extra hard winter, but we have not heard of any loss of stock as yet.

The revival meetings closed Sunday evening. Considering the fact of this being a small community and as "tough as a boiled owl," these meetings were the grandest success on record. During the two weeks there were 23 conversions, among the most prominent and influential citizens of the community. Among those converted and who united with the church Sunday are: John M. Brown and wife, R. G. Robinson and wife, R. M. Johnson and wife, Geo. Perry and wife, M. O. Clarke and wife, and many others who are also among our most intelligent people. Our people extend sincere thanks to their Condon neighbors for their valuable assistance during the meetings. Rev. Rawlins, "the foker," as the hoodlums style him, is one of the few who can "dehorn" Satan without having him held down, in spite of his imps trying to kick him off. Cowboy.

"Woman's Rights."

BEECHER PLAT, Jan. 27th.

ED. GLOBE.—Through the columns of your paper I wish to say a few words to the public:

Some of the business men of Condon have spoken disrespectfully of me concerning a paper which I circulated in that town recently. I would inform these gentlemen that it was not a remonstrance I was circulating. I give myself credit for having better sense than to attempt anything of that kind—at the present time, at least. It is a true saying that "large bodies move slowly."

What I was doing then was simply getting the ladies of Condon, Mayville and Fossil and the surrounding country to sign a petition praying our governor to recommend that the laws of Oregon be so amended as to give ladies the right to sign petitions for liquor license, also remonstrances against the same.

Can any fair-minded parent or anyone else who have the best interests of themselves or homes at heart find any reasonable objection to such a worthy move as this? I sincerely hope not.

I fully realize the unjust law that limits "woman's rights" in such matters, but in common with millions of others who are trying to do what good they can while on this earth, I trust and hope to see this law righted, and ladies given the right to aid in such matters which really interests them more than it does the men. That I may live to see the day when women have these just rights, is the earnest hope of
