

The treasury department at Washington has furnished a table which has been quoted and accepted as correct by nearly all the members of congress who have spoken on the silver question, showing the money of the United States per capita to be $24.34. The per capita circulation in other countries is given in this table as follows: Great Britain $18.42, France $40.56, Germany $18.54, Belgium $25.53, Italy $9.91, Switzerland $14.67, Greece $9.09, Spain $16.55, Portugal $19.00, Austria-Hungary $9.75, Netherlands $28.88, Scandinavian Union $8.02, Russia $7.16, Turkey $2.88, Australia $26.75, Egypt $16.43, Mexico $4.91, Central America 84 cents, South America $19.14, Japan $4.90, India $3.64, China $1.75, Canada $13.56, Cuba $31.00. Of these the following recognize gold and silver in their monetary system, not under free coinage but by limitation: United States, France, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, Spain, Greece, Netherlands, Turkey and Japan. The following have gold as their standard: Great Britain, Germany, Portugal, Austria-Hungary, Scandinavian Union, Australia, Egypt, Canada and Cuba. The following use silver as their standard: Russia, Mexico and India.

A Tacoma paper says: The discouraging outcome of last year's wheat crop has done more to promote diversity in the agricultural districts of Eastern Washington than anything else could ever have accomplished. The peculiar qualities of the soil has made it possible for owners of immense tracts to crop their hundreds of acres year after year with wheat with the assurance of harvesting as large a yield after a acre of years as in the beginning, and the result has been that the wheat market has been a sure guage of the purchasing capacity of all classes. Every one knows what the wheat market has been for the season, and when early rains spoiled a large percentage of the great Palouse country's yield in addition to low values, there was a general movement in favor of other products than the one cereal. The result has been the setting out of thousands of acres of orchards and small fruits, while barley, flax, hops and products are receiving more attention. In the Walla Walla valley only is the acreage of wheat up to the average, such advices as are obtainable from the Palouse country indicating a falling off of nearly 50 per cent in fall wheat, and from 15 to 25 percent in spring wheat. The decrease in the Big Bend region is less pronounced, though considerable in the aggregate.

Thirty years hence there will be five times as many people in our Northwestern states as now, and constantly increasing degrees of activity and prosperity. These increased numbers—what people will they be? Those who have the spirit and purpose to lay hold of the opportunities which these vagrants and beggars refuse. Within thirty years there will be an addition of a million of prosperous people to Oregon's population. There is ample room. The capacity of her soil to produce food is beyond calculation. It is no exaggeration to say that it can be made to yield everything necessary for the support of ten millions of people. Where is a better climate? And where has nature, in all things, displayed her prodigality more?—Oregonian.

It may not be generally known to the people of this county who send money in the mail by postal note that the people of this county are out of pocket $600,000 on the postal note experiment. This is to say the difference between the postal notes sold by the government and those redeemed from holders amounts in ten years to this enormous sum. A postal note lost is as surely gone as coin dropped through a hole in the pocket. There is no such thing as going to the postoffice and getting a duplicate order.

A big steamship burns about 300 tons of coal daily, and the average expense of a voyage to Liverpool and return is $75,000 for a large vessel.

Did you ever stop to think of the size of Alaska? It is nine times as large as all the New England states put together; three times the size of California, or twice the size of Texas. It stretches more than 1,000 miles from north to south and has a coast line of nearly 20,000 miles. We bought this country from Russia in 1867 and got a bargain that ought to satisfy any human being; for, although we paid a lump sum of $7,000,000, that amount only represents about one half a cent an acre. It has an average of one inhabitant for every 18 square miles, so that one is not likely to be jostled about much.

There are five million six hundred and seventy thousand farms in France. Two million one hundred and sixty seven thousand of these are but two and a half acres in size. Only thirty thousand farms are larger than 247 acres. Only give a market and a place to stand on and some men will pay big rent and make a big living, while some men have all the land they want and don't make enough to live on.

Four Nevada hunters have gone to Alaska where they intend to raise black or silver-gray foxes. They propose to make a regular business of it. The skin of one of these animals is worth from $100 to $500 and there are not very many. In order to make it profitable they will have to keep those that are caught, for breeding. They have about $30,000 with which to try the scheme and expect to find it a paying business.

Governor Pennoyer has intimated that he will call a special session of the legislature this fall if a clear majority of the representatives elected are in favor of the initiative and referendum.

Lincoln county is being sued for $1150, a newspaper's bill for printing the delinquent tax list.

Towns Are Made.

Many have an idea that towns grow because a necessity for them exists. They think it makes no difference what steps are taken to boom a town, the place will grow if its natural advantages are sufficiently attractive and men can make something by living there. The fact is, most towns are made; they do not grow. They are built up through the energetic efforts of the people who desire to see a town push on. Take fifty small towns, and two or three of these will in time become large and important places, while the others move along in the same old rut. The town that goes ahead is driven forward by its citizens. The men of a town see that a line of road will benefit them, and the line is built; they mark that a bridge is needed to draw trade, and the bridge is constructed; they observe that a woolen mill, a flour mill or a cannery has proved a drawing card in some other town, and they subscribe money and have one of their own. A newspaper is a necessity and money is raised to start one. A church or a school house is needed or will draw more people, and the building is soon erected. In this manner the town is constantly forced onward. Look the state over, this portion at least, and see, if you had a few thousand, where you would place it. Would it be in towns where no money is spent in advertising, in booming, building up and driving forward? No, indeed, you would go to the locality where the business men are wide awake, alert, full of drive, push and energy. So we say a town is made. It does not grow on its own accord, but is built by the well directed efforts of its leading citizens.—East Oregonian.

Try The Experiment.

It is a fact not generally known, says Science, that if one holds his breath wasps, bees and hornets can be handled with impunity. The skin becomes a strong proof, and by holding the insect by the feet and giving her full liberty of action you can see her drive her weapon against the impenetrable surface with a force that lifts her body at every stroke; but let the smallest quantity of air escape from the lungs and the sting will penetrate at once. I have never seen an exception to this in twenty-five years' observation.

I have taught young ladies with very delicate hands to astonish their friends by the performance of this feat, and I saw one so severely stung as to require the services of a physician, through laughing at a witty remark of her sister, forgetting that laughing required breath. For a theory in explanation I am led to believe that holding the breath partially closes the pores of the skin. My experiments in that direction have not been exact enough to be of any scientific value, but I am satisfied that it very sensibly affects the amount of insensible perspiration.

"What little boy will tell why Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt?" asked the Sunday school teacher. Freddy Filkins hand went up, and the good lady nodded to him to give his answer. "Because she was too fresh."—Truth.

"Excuse me, sir," said the beggar, but did you ever hear it said that money talks?" "I have," said the wayfarer. "Well—would you mind letting me have a dime for a few minutes' chat? I'm awful lonesome."—Harper's Bazar.

"Your husband," said the caller, sympathizingly, "was a man of many excellent qualities." "Yes," sighed the widow. "He was a good man. Everybody says so. I wasn't much acquainted with him myself; he belonged to six lodges."—Chicago Tribune.

"Is this hot enough for you?" is a silly question; but if you meet a man who complains of suffering from the heat, ten to one you will find, on inquiry, that he does not use Ayer's Sarsaparilla to tone up his system and free his blood from irritating humors.

At the first indication of disorder, the deranged or enfeebled condition of the stomach, liver or bowels, should be promptly rectified by Ayer's Cathartic Pills. These Pills do not gripe, are perfectly safe to take, and remove all tendency to liver and bowel complaints.

I have two little grand children who are teething this hot summer weather and are troubled with bowel complaint. I give them Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel troubles. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my house work. Mrs. W. L. DUNAGAN, Bon-aqua, Hickman Co., Tenn. For sale by all druggists.

"Many of the citizens of Rainsville, Indiana, are never without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house," says Jacob Brown, the leading merchant of the place. This Remedy has proven of so much value for colds, croup and whooping cough in children that few mothers who know its worth are willing to be without it. For sale by all druggists.

Sometime ago I was troubled with an attack of rheumatism. I need Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was completely cured. I have since advised many of my friends and customers to try the remedy and all speak highly of it. SIMON GOLDBAUM, San Luis Rey, Cal. For sale by all druggists.

S. P. SMITH, of Towanda, Pa., whose constitution was completely broken down, is cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He writes:

"For eight years, I was, most of the time, a great sufferer from constipation, kidney trouble, and indigestion, so that my constitution seemed to be completely broken down. I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and took nearly seven bottles, with such excellent results that my stomach, bowels, and kidneys are in perfect condition, and, in all their functions, as regular as clock-work. At the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, my weight was only 129 pounds; I now can brag of 159 pounds, and was never in so good health. If you could see me before and after using, you would want me for a traveling advertisement. I believe this preparation of Sarsaparilla to be the best in the market to-day."
