

There has been developed an imperfection in the election law that ought to be remedied. Formerly a ninety days residence in the county was required of every elector; but under the new law nothing but a precinct residence is required, and this residence may have been of only one day's duration. For instance, says the Corvallis Times, any man after living in Linn county all his life may move with his family into Benton county the day before election and thereupon he becomes a voter; or, any single man six months a resident of the state can vote in any county he pleases, provided he sees fit to claim it his residence and swear in his vote. Under this provision tramps, travelers or any other loose persons having the right to stop over night in a county and help its residents to decide who their county officers are to be. The law is an incentive to fraud, for it encourages the importation of foreign voters. It tends to corruption and sets at naught the ballot of good, bona fide citizens. The remedy for it is a county qualification of at least ninety days, and to render it perfectly effective our constitution should be so amended that we can have a registration provision. That places every voter on record, locates him definitely, and is a sure safeguard against fraud. Added to the Australian law it would give the state a healthy ballot system.

According to the latest election returns throughout the state the republicans will have 71 out of 90 members in the next legislature. They will be divided as follows: In the senate, 19 republicans, 8 democrats, 3 populists; in the house, 53 republicans, 0 democrat, 7 populists. Since the republicans have such an overwhelming majority in the legislature, the governor and all the other state officers, they must be responsible for the state government, and if anything goes wrong they can no longer blame Penoyer for it. It was a mistake about one democrat being elected to the legislature at the late election. The official returns headed him off and the repub. candidate won by a small majority.

Salem Democrat: The Oregonian has now eight machines which will be used to set type for that paper and the Telegram. They will probably be in full operation by the first of the week. This will throw at least 28 printers out of employment, which will come hard on them. Most of those who will lose their places are men who have grown old at the case, and it will be hard for them to find employment. The Oregonian will save from the workmen thus disposed $600 a week, and in a few months will have money enough to put another story or two on its building. The result of this movement on the part of the Oregonian will probably be the establishment of a big morning daily in Portland.

Will there be any advance in the price of wheat is a question that appeals to every citizen. The Toledo Blade says that the low price of wheat shows no feature of possible improvement. It is offered in Europe, by other countries than this, at prices which render competition impossible. On last Friday, Argentine wheat was offered in London, including cost, insurance and freight, at 54 cents. The world's stock of this cereal does not decrease enough to materially improve the outlook for holders. The new crop is near at hand, and there is nothing on which to base the hope of a rise. On the contrary, 50-cent wheat in Chicago is confidently predicted.

The present term of circuit court will be an inexpensive one to Lane county. Not an indictment was found. This speaks well for our people, considering the county has a population of at least 25,000 souls.—Engene Guard.

Crossing a field one day Abraham Lincoln, it is said, was pursued by an angry bull. He made for the fence, says Life's Calendar, but soap discovered that the bull was overtaking him. He then began to run around a haystack in the field and the bull pursued him, but in making the circles around the stack Lincoln was the faster and, instead of the bull catching him, he caught the bull and grabbed him by the tail. It was a firm grip and a controlling one. He began to kick the bull and the bull bellowed with agony and dashed across the field, Lincoln hanging to his tail and kicking him at every jump, and as they flew along Lincoln yelled at the bull: "Darn you, who began this fight?"

The strong facial resemblance which married couples often acquire after living together a long period of years, harmonious in thought and feeling, and subject to the same conditions in life, have often been commented upon. The photographic society of Geneva recently took the pictures of seventy-eight couples for an investigation of this subject. The result was that in twenty-four cases the resemblance in the personal appearance of the husband and wife was greater than that of brother and sister, in thirty cases it was equal as great, and in only twenty-four as there a total absence of resemblance.

A statement from the United States mint gives the amount of money in the world as follows: Gold $3,582,605,000 Silver 4,052,700,000 Uncovered paper 2,625,873,000 Total $10,271,178,000 The population of the world is from 1,400,000,000 to 1,600,000,000. Admitting that the population is not over 1,400,000,000, there is only a little over $7.30 per head of all kinds of money. This per capita is divided about as follows: Gold, $2.60; silver, $2.90; paper money, $1.90.

A lady in this city who is opposed to female suffrage has long been pestered to sign a petition circulated in favor of extending the suffrage to women. In despair she appealed to her husband what to do and received the following advice: "Tell the person when she calls again that you will sign her petition when you no longer have any confidence in your husband, your father, your brother or your son; then, and not until then, sign the petition."—Pittsburg Post.

A newspaper whose columns overflow with advertising of business men, has more influence in attracting attention to and building a town or city than any other agency that can be employed. People go where there is business. Capital and labor will locate where there is an enterprising community. No power is so strong to build up a town as a newspaper properly patronized. It always returns more than it receives.—Rev. De Witt Talmage.

The Living Issue, of John Day, has suspended publication, making its final appearance last Thursday. This we had predicted, but had not expected the event to happen quite so soon. There is more about getting out a newspaper than one has an idea, and just because one can dish up a racy article is no sign he is a newspaper man, or knows anything about making a success of that business.—Long Creek Eagle.

Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, has secured the passage of a bill providing for one additional judge for the ninth judicial circuit, which includes California, Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Washington, Idaho, Alaska and Arizona. This district, if this bill should become a law, will then have three circuit judges. The appointment is expected to go to some prominent California democrat.

There is a bullet-proof coat on the market. Now, if there were a ballot-proof coat on the market some office-seekers would make a good investment by buying one or more.—Exchange.

A contributor to the San Francisco Argonaut has drawn attention to the term nom de plum as being an erroneous one, and not conveying the true meaning. He states that it should be, nom de guerre, and that the former term is an example of London French, and originated with "cockney" journalists there, once upon a time—just how long ago is not stated—and has been persistently followed ever since.

A famous scientist, after careful experiments finds that when potatoes are cooked without removing the skins they lose only 3 per cent of nutritive quality through extraction of the juice. When the skins were removed before boiling, the loss was 14 per cent, which makes the process of cooking the potatoes without their jackets an exceedingly wasteful one.

The republicans and populists have fused in Tennessee. What do the republicans and populists of Oregon think of such a combination?

It is only one in a thousand who is worrying over the income tax. The trouble with the other 999 is to get the income.

"Many of the citizens of Rainville, Indiana, are never without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house," says Jacob Brown, the leading merchant of the place. The Best Medicine.

J. O. WILSON, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas, thus speaks of Ayer's Pills:

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever tried; and, in my judgment, no better general remedy could be devised. I have used them in my family and recommended them to my friends and employes for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge, many cases of the following complaints have been completely and by the use of Ayer's Pills alone: Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colic. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above."

"I have been selling medicine for eight years, and I can safely say that Ayer's Pills give better satisfaction than any other Pill I ever sold."—J. J. Perry, Spotsylvania C. H., Va.
